We would like to extend our appreciation to Carolyn Mitchell for the cover design. It depicts the time that we spent reflecting on the events of the past school year.

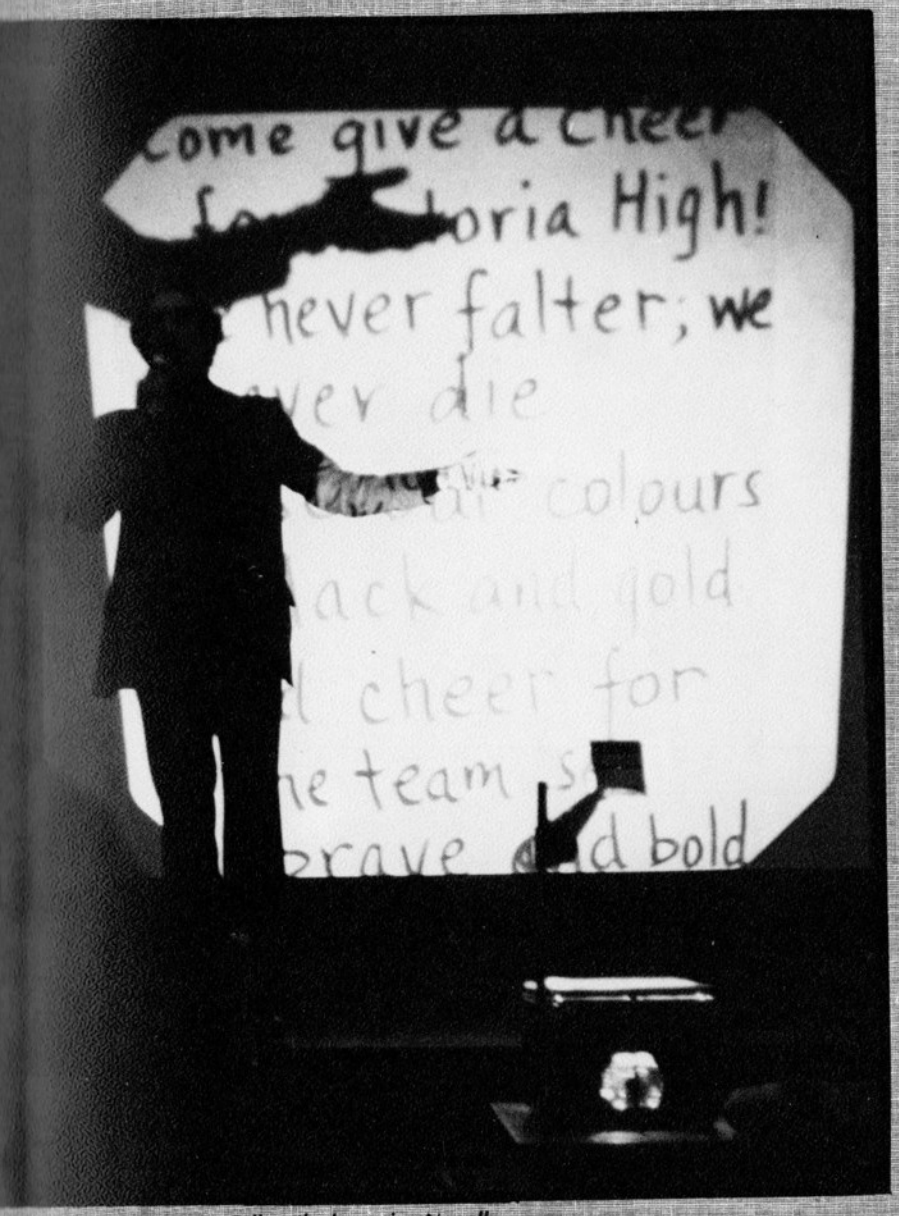
Time is but an indication of things that have passed and things that are yet to come.

'Dear 'Diary:
'This year school spirit has been a problem for some, but others have kept it up with their great enthusiasm, which they showed at every soccer game! 'For those who were not as hyped up, there were people who would attempt to boost their spirits by holding pep rallies and assemblies, where the band would play and we'd sing the school song. I'm glad there were so many ardent fans around, as they were vital to everyone's mental well-being.

School's looking up.

School Spirit.

Watch your manners behind the banner.



Follow the bouncing Newell.

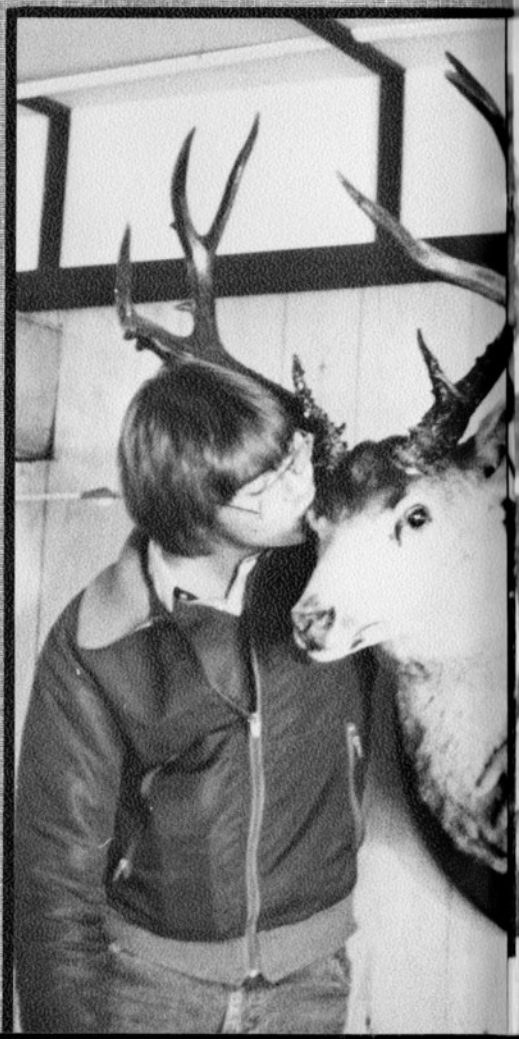
Rowdies in action.

Today's moments are tomorrow's memories.

"Is it pink and purple?" (No, it's black and white.)

Son of a . . . #¢#@!



The date's all wrong, but the spirit lives on.

Even though there are some who don't show it, Vic High has shown spirit in the past years. Not to be outdone this year, the rowdies gathered at the soccer games and made them some of the loudest in the city. Most school spirit seemed to center on the soccer team, but I guess that's better than no school spirit at all.

Reminiscing of good times. . .

Good friends and good times made the year so much better. Without them where would we be? It's great that people get along well, in whatever they're doing, wherever they are. Even though school seems long and boring, there are some days that are okay. Being with your friends makes everything better.

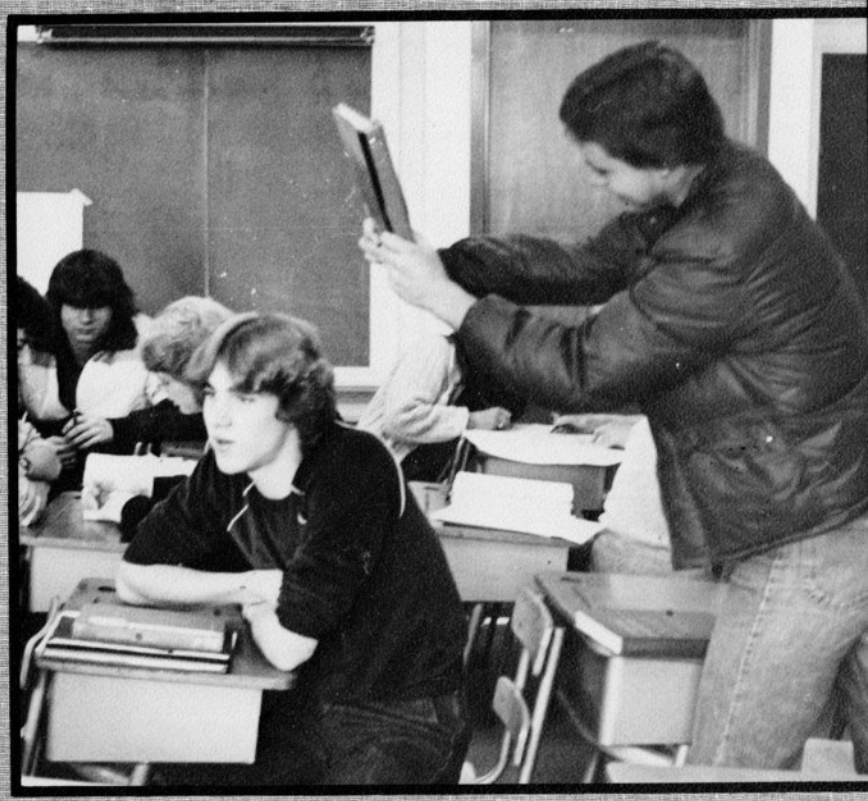
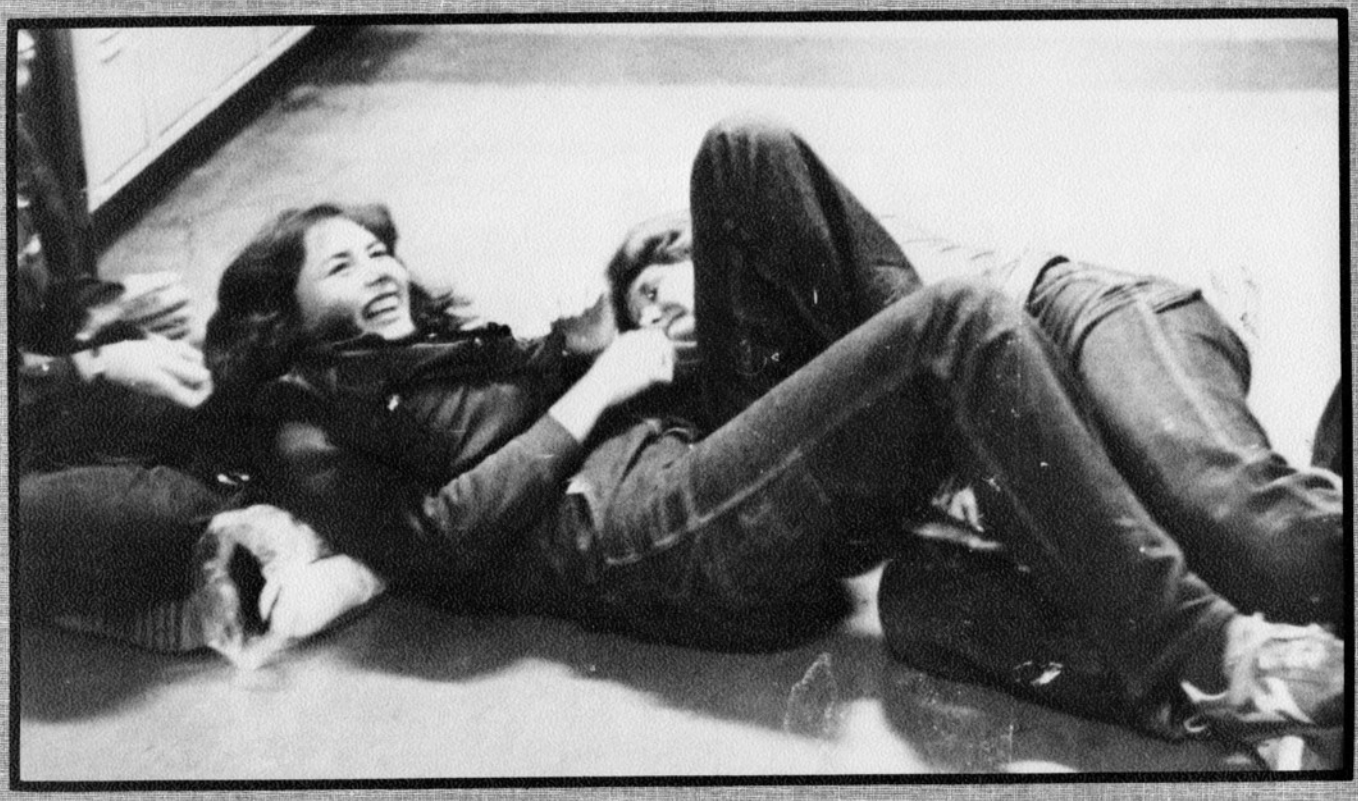
"NO, I never touch the stuff!"

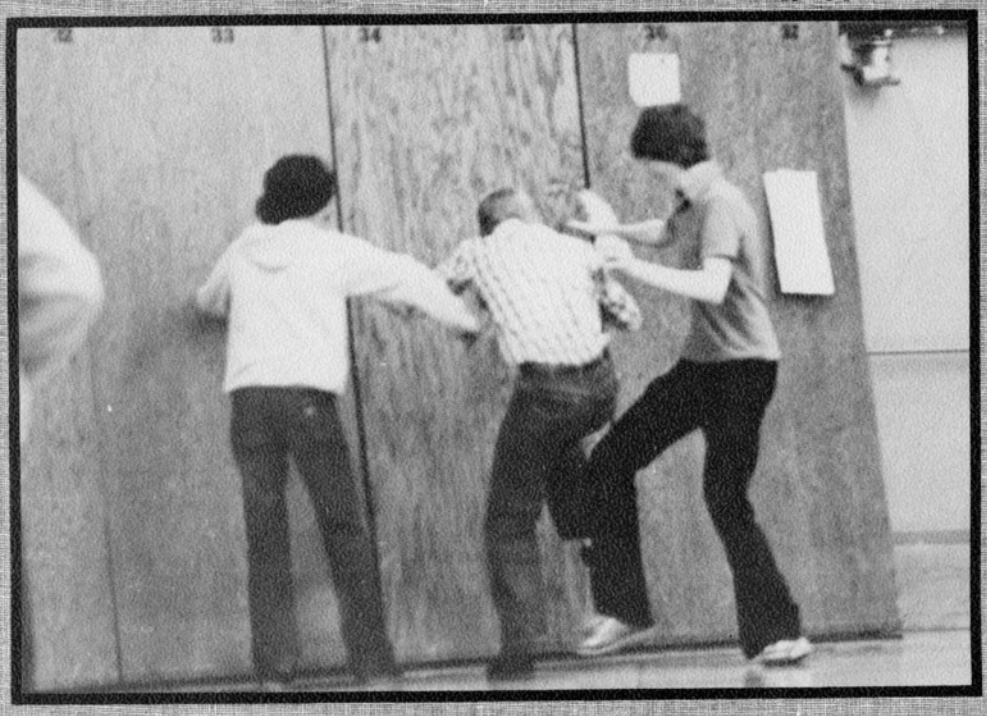


Putting school books to good use.

Some people will go out of their way just to help others who are less fortunate, as was shown at the Timmy's Telethon dance. Other times were spent laughing and just having fun.



Giggling girlies.



"Excuse me, can I cut in?"

Reminiscing of bad times too.

TIMES-COLONIST, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1980

Mice and mold

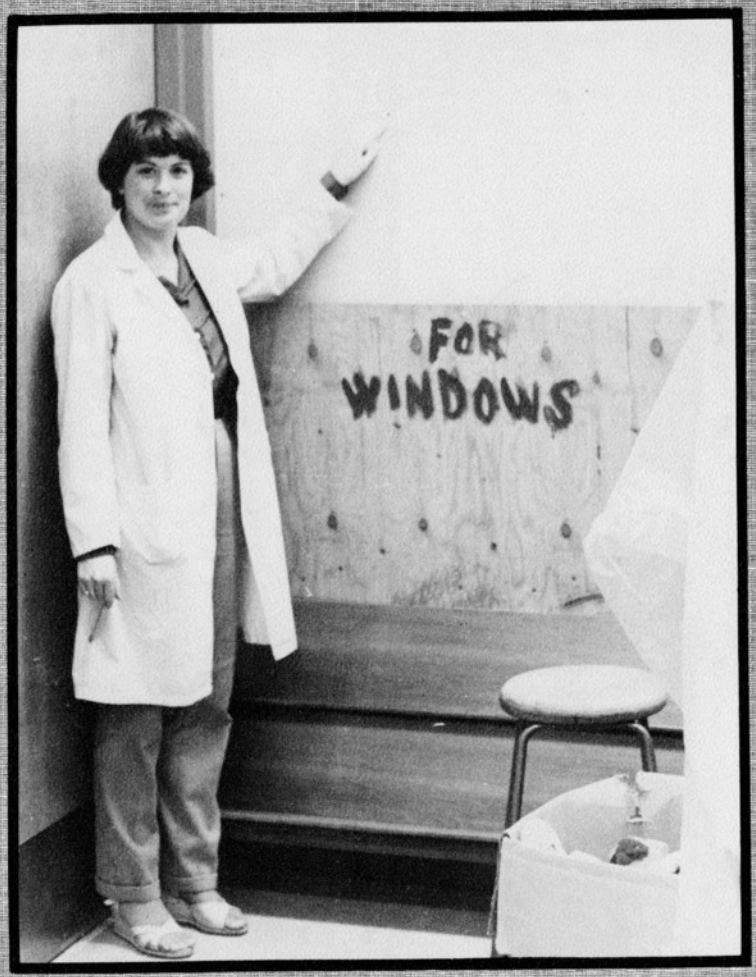
This letter is written with regard to the article in the Nov. 15 issue of the Times-Colonist, relating to Victoria High School and its present condition. We feel the only accurate statement in the article was that Vic High did have a $1.4 million facelift (and nothing more).

We are interested in knowing how Dr. Brian Allan can honestly say there is "no big problem" at Victoria High School when there is visible evidence contradicting his statement. For example, Al Scott, the district's supervisor of buildings, stated that germicidal detergent had been applied to the affected areas, alleviating the mold problem. However, due to poor ventilation and dampness, the mold has grown back not overtop of the paint, but through inadequate cover-up. Furthermore, staff members, as well as students, have reported seeing rats inside the school and there is a constant trace of rodents, in the form of rat holes. Also, mice tracks don't walk in by themselves. They come in with the mice!

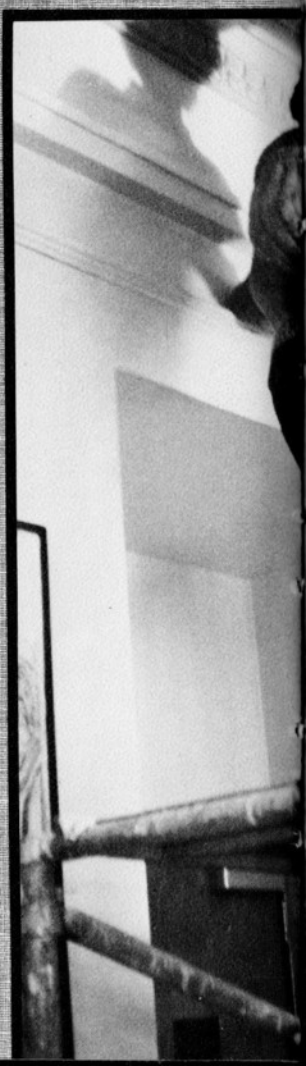
Another major factor which Mr. Scott failed to point out is the faulty fire alarm system. At 7:50 every morning the alarm sounds throughout the halls simply because the fans are turned on, not to mention the numerous "false alarms" during the school day which disrupt classes. These false alarms have become so frequent that the staff and students have proceeded to ignore them. What are we to do if there is a real fire and the alarms are ignored?

In closing, we would like to say that Allan Stables' last statement regarding the students "taking civic awareness seriously" was the gold star we did not need. Any person willing to thoroughly examine the building would see that there is a big problem and immediate action must be taken to solve it! — Janice Hepburn and Carol Jones, Students of Victoria High School

"OH RATS!"

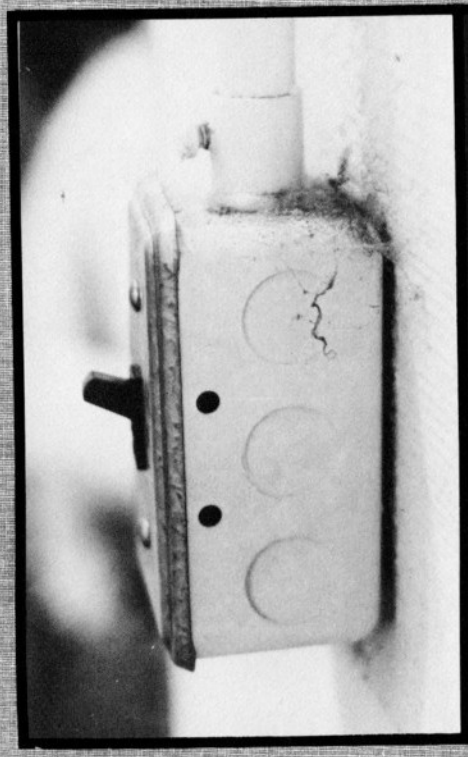


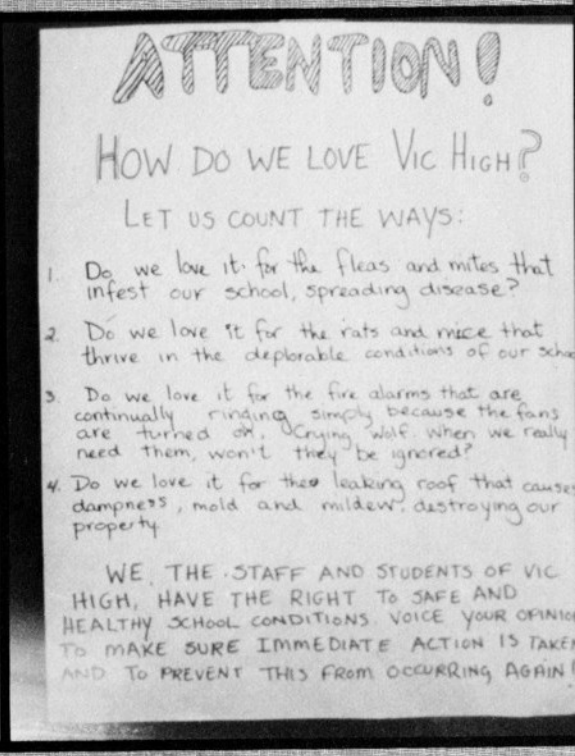
"I think they forgot."



"You're fired!"

Vic High's main problem this year concerned not only the renovations, but also, the deterioration of certain areas of the school. The conditions improved somewhat after a visit from school board and health officials.





ATTENTION!

HOW DO WE LOVE VIC HIGH?

LET US COUNT THE WAYS:

1. Do we love it for the fleas and mites that infest our school, spreading disease?
2. Do we love it for the rats and mice that thrive in the deplorable conditions of our scho
3. Do we love it for the fire alarms that are continually ringing simply because the fans are turned on. Crying wolf. When we really need them, won't they be ignored?
4. Do we love it for the leaking roof that causes dampness, mold and mildew, destroying our property

WE, THE STAFF AND STUDENTS OF VIC HIGH, HAVE THE RIGHT TO SAFE AND HEALTHY SCHOOL CONDITIONS. VOICE YOUR OPINIO TO MAKE SURE IMMEDIATE ACTION IS TAKE AND TO PREVENT THIS FROM OCCURRING AGAIN!

Blinded by the light.

Student Parliament tries hard to generate enthusiasm.

Throughout the course of the year, the Students' Council attempted to keep activities on the move. Our Parliament met about twice weekly to discuss and debate suggestions presented to them by the student body. We had several noon hour dances which were enjoyed by many. The Council brought us a variety of musical entertainment, as well as having special days when we could dress up differently, such as Hallowe'en, Button Day, and Report Card Day Blues. Some members of Parliament also played a part in the mice and mold investigations.

Parliament in session.

So we've made it through another year, thank goodness!

We certainly have had an interesting year, from the rats and mice to Flaming Mame.

How did you like the second floor?

Special thanks to Gina Henley and Laura Marwick and the rest of cabinet and Parliament for all the help they've given me. I would also like to thank Mr. Newell for his patience and understanding.

Words of advice to future Prime Ministers? Don't have a paint fight without cleaning up afterwards! The paint stains.

I really enjoyed my years here at Vic High and I hope you all have an exciting summer.

Maureen Wong	— Ministers of Athletics
Royce Kletke	— Minister of Clubs
Terry Mack	— Minister without Portfolio

Administration & Staff

I would like to thank and congratulate all those who have worked so diligently on this beautiful book of memories. It is my great hope that in looking at this annual over the years you will be able to say that Victoria High School was all that you had hoped it would be.

For me, personally, my first year as principal at Victoria High School has truly been a memorable one. To administer a school with such a fine history and record is a tremendous challenge. However, the warmth and cooperation I have received from students, teachers and parents has been far above my expectations. I thank you all.

Ah yes, what memories we have! The incessant malfunctioning of fire bells and the infinite number of heavy, brutal fire doors, which have left you with overdeveloped biceps and triceps, were a continual frustration. I congratulate you on your patience.

I trust you have many positive memories — the friendship with your classmates; the learning with caring, dedicated teachers; the interests developed in your courses; the outlets for your talents in art, music, drama, sports and clubs.

When you commit an unkindness against another Person,
You commit a greater unkindess against yourself:
You become less than you are capable of being"

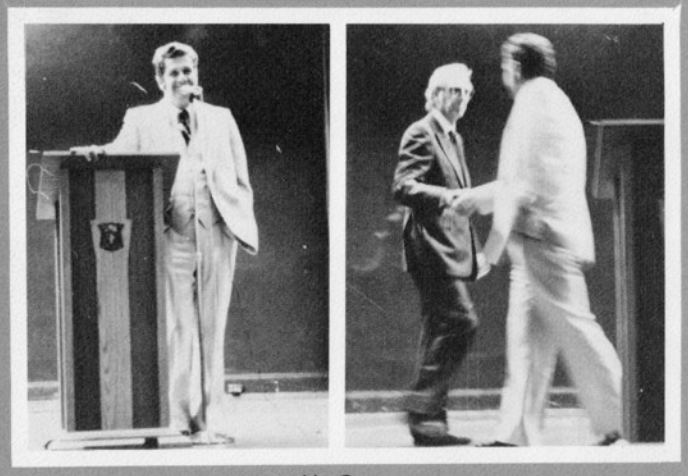
— J. J. Lowther

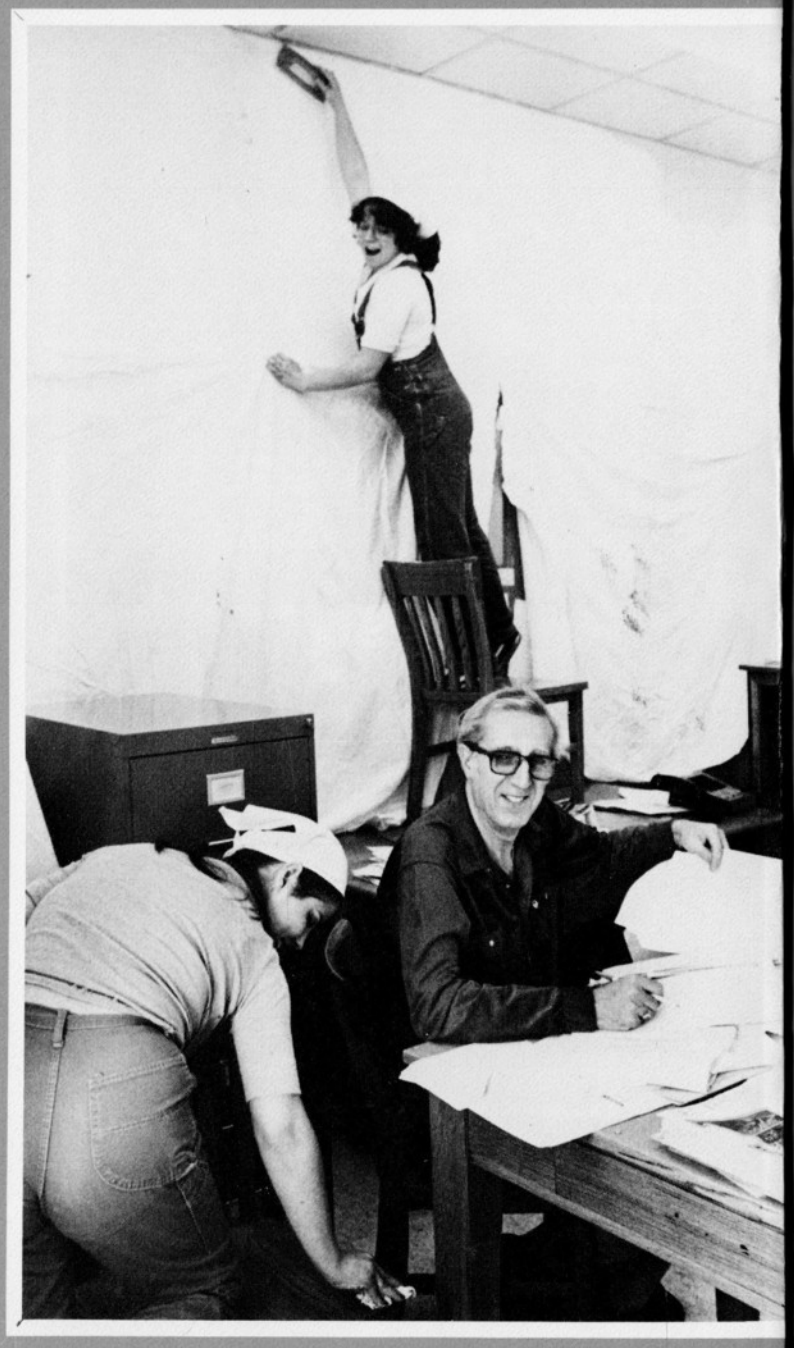
I have seen many of you believing this message. I trust it will remain with you.

John J. Lowther

Principal



Mr. Garner



"It's called working with the students."

As I recall past incidents and events at Vic High during 1980-81, the features which stand out in my mind are the people involved — The "winners" as well as The "losers". Everyone can be a "winner" — it's a case of developing suitable attitudes and action qualities. A person usually gets what he or she actually expects — personal optimism and enthusiasm are essential for winning. Winners in life have clearly-defined, frequently evaluated, realistic goals and purposes — objectives range all the way from lifetime goals to daily priorities. If you are not satisfied with your present achievements and personal development, you are quite capable of altering this trend — to focus on success. Sometimes you will need help to formulate and achieve your goals — this help is available, for the asking. Live every moment, enjoying as much, relating as much, doing as much, giving as much as you possibly can. I wish you all much success in the years that lie ahead.

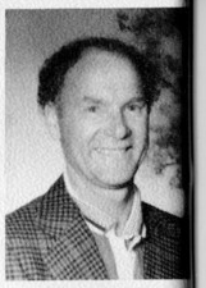
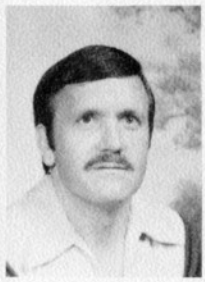
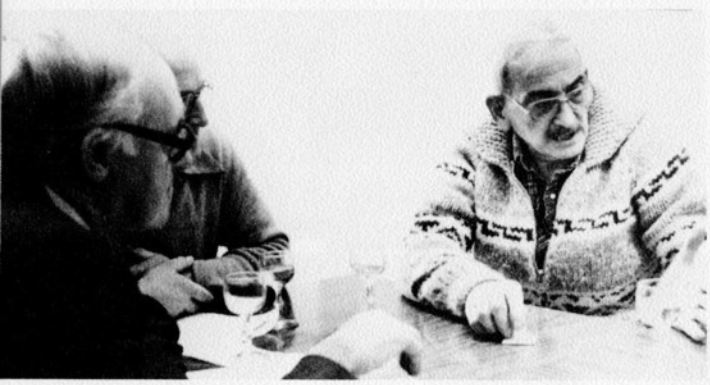
Mr. L. Owen: Teaches English and sponsors the S.K.Y. club. He is noted for his continual play "onwards."
Mr. P. Gammon: His classes learn more about Math than motorcycles, but they do know an awful lot about motorcycles.
Mr. R. Blasner: "Mr. B." teaches Physics and Chemistry and coaches volleyball. He seems to feel that Physics is easy.



Mr. E. Bryans: Teaches Guidance and Social Studies. He is often seen blowing his nose. (Perhaps he is allergic to students!)
Mr. B. Brice: Mr. Brice is the coach of the tennis club. He teaches machine shop, and played on the teachers basketball team.
Mrs. M. Coburn: Appreciated the enormous patience of most students and teaches Western Civilization. One of her sayings is "Let's be civilized."





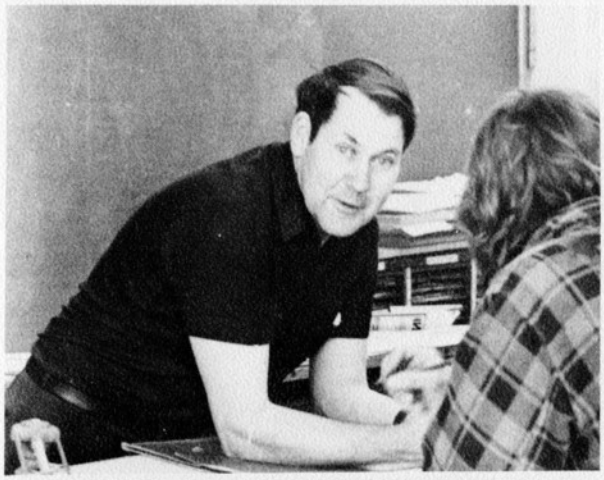
Wine and Cheese.

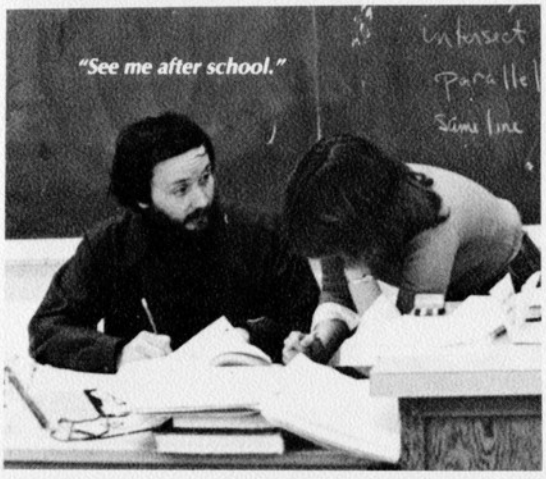
Mr. D. Unwin: Nicknamed Mr. Onion for no obvious reason, Mr. Onion, I mean Unwin, teaches drafting and mechanics.

Mrs. J. Donaldson: The most unusual event in her classes was the time she arrived late. . .

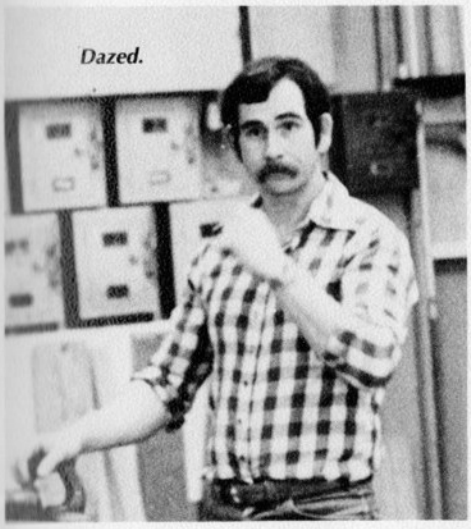
Mr. D. McIntyre: Famous inventor of "The Quizzy" and "El Quizzo," he has been seen smiling happily after a wine and cheese staff meeting.

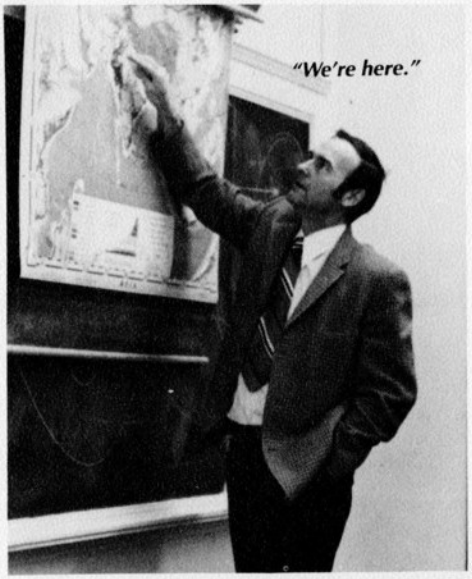
Mrs. V. Egan: Mrs. Egan had a disagreement with the off-set. She would enjoy throwing it out of a fourth floor window.





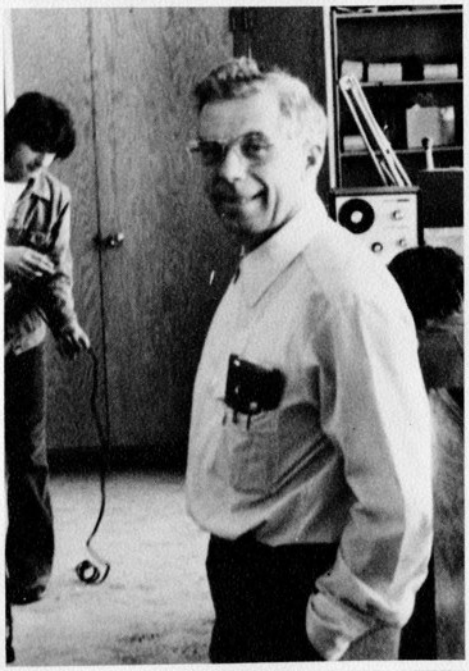
"Two for me . . . one for you."





Mr. B. Somers: Is loved by most of his students, and known for his line, "No, no, no, no, wrong!"

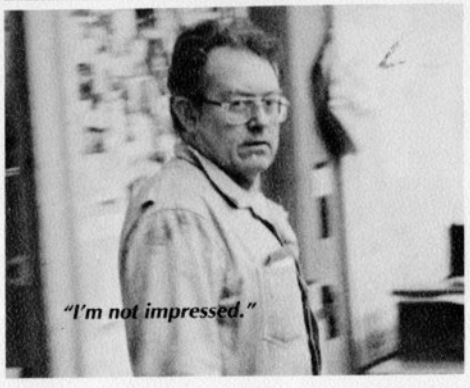
Mr. M. Lund: Teaches Social Studies and History. He's fond of pointing out that: "I never fail my students, they fail themselves."



Mr. B. McHugh: Ultimate user of the phrase, "Come on, let's get going now," he teaches English and feels that the majority of Vic High students are mature, down-to-earth people.

Mr. G. Sinclair: This Electronics teacher enjoys telling his classes about his travels.

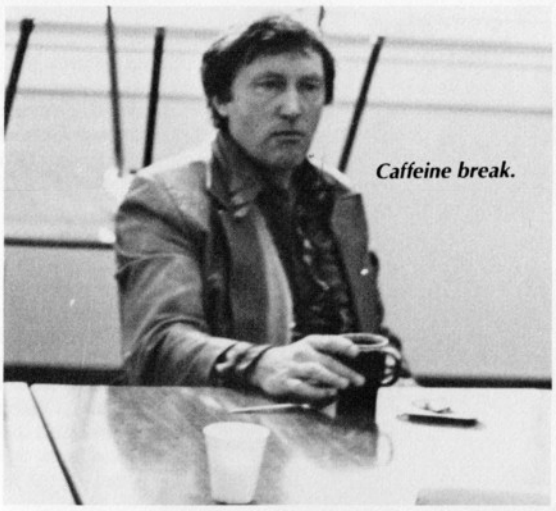
Mrs. D. Nancarrow: Says that she teaches "too many" subjects. With a cheerful "Hay Hoo!!!" she tried to explain the facts of life to Grade 12's, adding, "If you don't know how to do it, come and ask me."



Mr. F. Packford: Gets mad at students who are at school in place of those who are not.

Miss M. Law: Teaching French, Miss Law is fond of pointing out that, "Mediocrity is against the LAW!"
Miss B. Armstrong: Miss Armstrong is continually worrying about inflation and the cost of food. (but don't we all?)

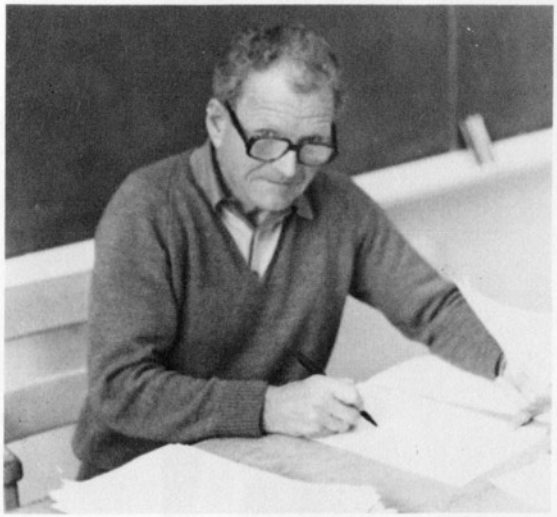
Mr. C. Brookman: This mild mannered teacher shocked his class one day, when he spoke in a loud voice. When stumped, he tells students' to ask Mr. Hemming.



Caffeine break.

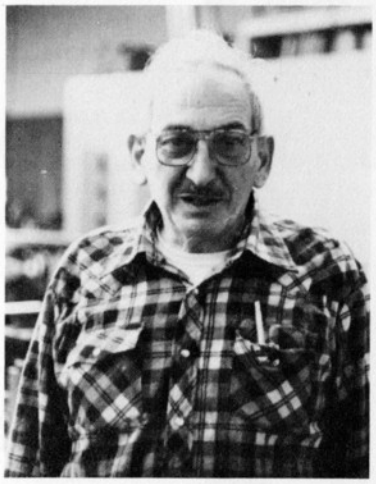
Mrs. M. Andrews: Gave out a survival guide that includes how to fail the course. She likes to pick shows for the class to watch on Friday nights.

Mr. A. Cullin: Spends his time teaching Sc. 10 and Consumer Math. One unreliable rumour is that he split his pants in class. . .

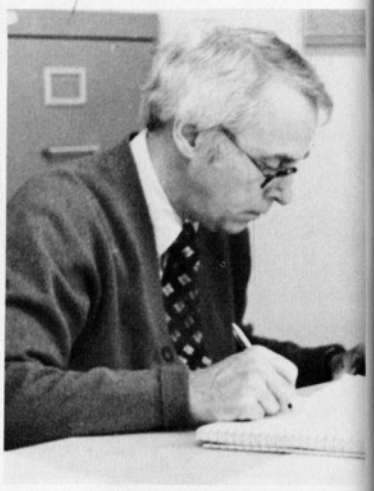


Mrs. B. Henderson: It seems the halls are always ringing with her cries of, "My keys! Where are my keys?"

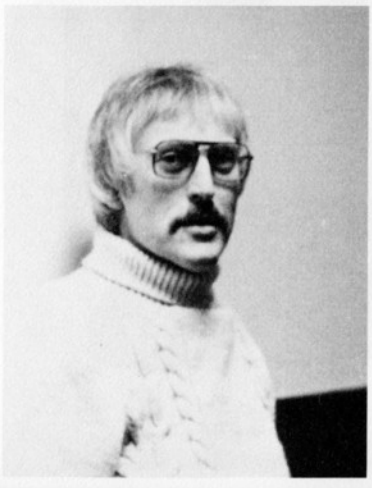
Mr. A. Paone: Is often found in the woodwork area yelling at his students. He occasionally throws a "wood-tantrum."
Mrs. L. Allison: Words of wisdom are, "If you're going to faint, remember to keep breathing."
Mr. B. McCarron: This English teacher once answered a question with a "yes". He's known as a quiet, calm, and collected person.

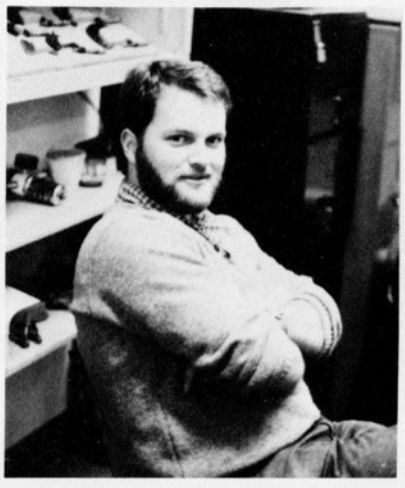


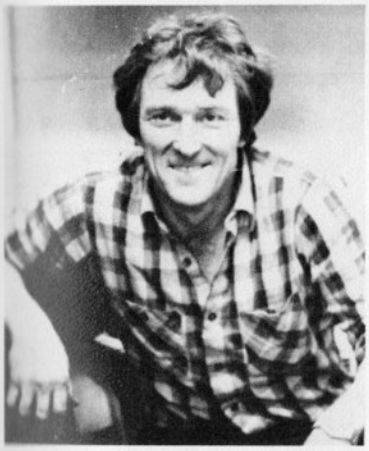
"Getting some shut eye".

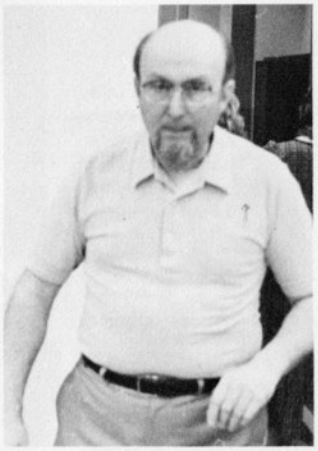


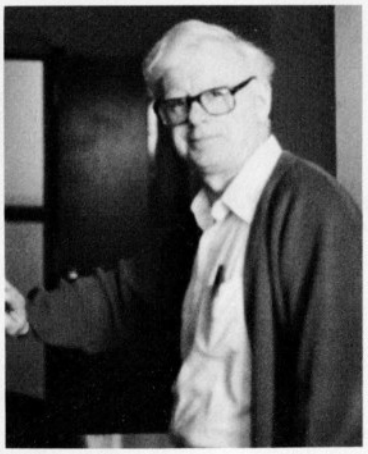
Mr. C. Nesmith: Don't come to this teachers class late or you'll get the third degree, but if you're on time, he tells excellent jokes to stop the class from being bored.
Mr. R. Kent: Laughs when trying to make a funny joke. He is known to use his eyes like a robot. (Does not move his neck.)
Mr. B. Brooks: Once talked through a whole period without inhaling, his pet peeve is people who skip out or are late.







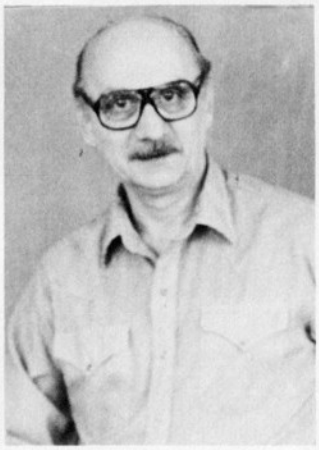


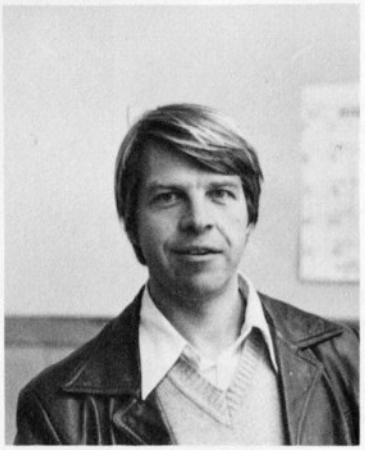


Mr. F. Sedgwick: Likes to laugh at the slower students who take a while figuring out his jokes.

Mr. B. Camp: Mr. Camp teaches Biology and Chemistry and has an enthusiastic fascination of bacteria.

Mr. J. Chell: Rumored to have trouble with doors, he comments that, "17-2xr³ fifth root of t."

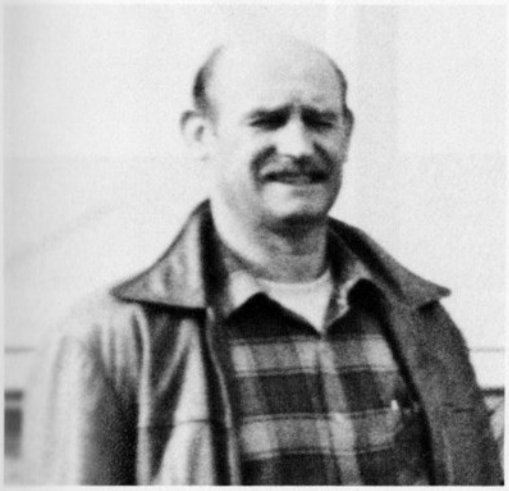




Mrs. M. Fishwick: Here's a teacher who is always smiling! She has been known to fall asleep after lunch, but near the end of school she reassures her class with, "It's not long now."

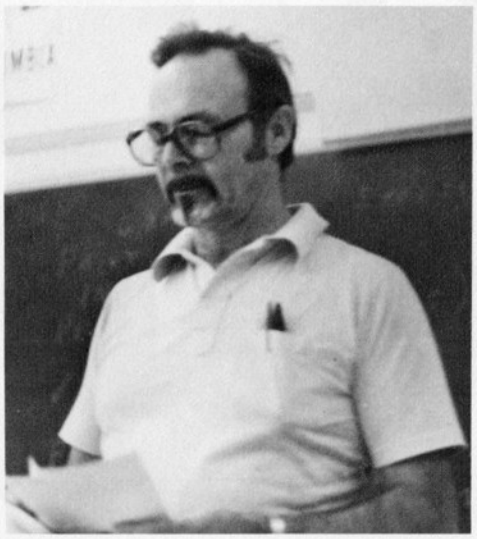
Mr. J. Baur: On Hallowe'en he dressed up in a long black gown with a white wig and swung a noise maker. He makes jokes throughout his class, and lets them have parties on special occasions.

Mr. J. Peramaki: This Social Studies teacher is usually late for his own class because he stands outside the door waiting for his late students.



Mr. T. Briggs: Says, "Don't look at the keyboard!" Rumour has it that he is a good teacher.

Mr. G. English: Likes to tell his class stories about his youth, and how it was like in "the good old days."

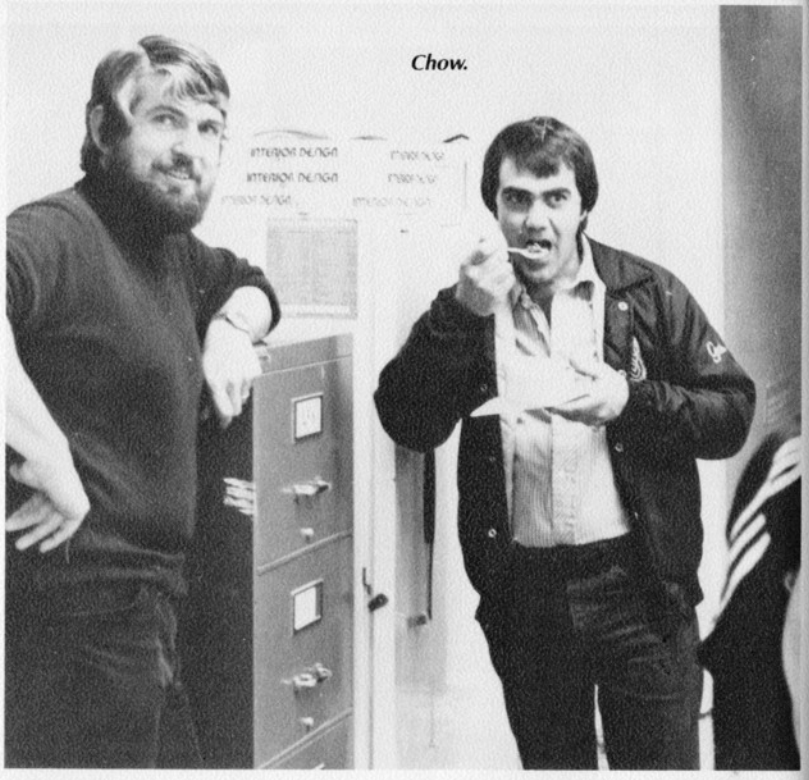


Mr. A. Valdal: Fondly nicknamed "Comrad," this P.E. teacher really knows his basketball.

Mr. T. Harris: Famous for his drawing of three flies walking abreast. Mr. Harris likes to say, "If you don't do it right; I'll break off your arm and beat it over your head with the wet end!"

Mr. P. Hutcheson: Listens patiently to what his students have to say, yet his favorite phrase is, "Stop talking."

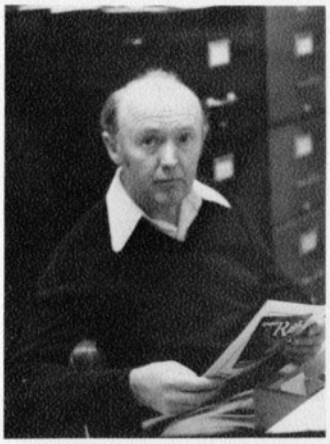
Mr. G. McTavish: "Stretch" is rumoured to have put a clutch plate in backwards.

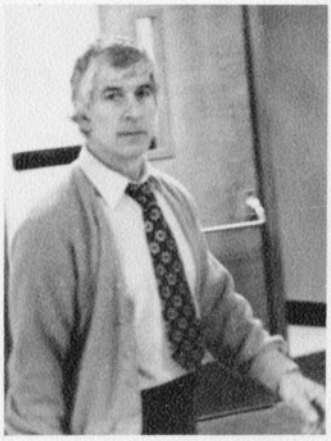


Mr. B. Ashwell: As a counsellor and sponsor of the Christian's Club, Mr. Ashwell has earned his reputation of having a listening ear.

Mr. J. Neale: Finds that students come in many varieties and refused to comment on them.

Mr. J. Hopper: " Q U I E T ! ! !

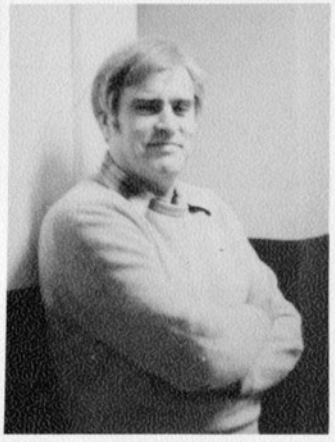




Mr. B. Chan: Teaching Biology 11 & 12, Mr. Chan also found time to supervise the Writing 11A class. He prefers to refer to his students as "kiddies."

Mr. J. Kreiser: Is a teacher who is always compromising. He hates absenteeism, and loves to communicate with his students. Then there's the day he told a funny joke. . .

Mrs. J. Burgis: Is unimpressed by people who find life funny.



Miss D. Reid: Soon to become Mrs. Higgins, she teaches in a windowless, fire-hazardous, green room. (P.S. Miss Reid is now Mrs. Higgins.)
Nancy Guilmette: She is remembered for taking her talking dog to the last Vic High Circus. She prefers not to be called "Miss, Mrs. or Ms."
Mr. R. Underwood

Ms. S. O'Reilly: She likes to teach high school students, claiming that if she didn't, she wouldn't be able to get up in the morning.
Mr. M. Hemming: Says on high school students, "The lowest common denominator is becoming the majority — but the best is still here at Vic High."

Mr. P. Denby: When asked how he felt about his students, he wrote "Amazed."

Miss B. Hanslip: A physed teacher, Miss Hanslip says, "Exercise, it's good for you!"

Miss J. Turner: Miss Turner teaches her students on a friend to friend basis. Her class is a break from the monotony of a school day.

Mr. R. Fell: Says that "Most of the students are just great. The others are unfortunate."

"Time to go."

Mr. R. Underwood: "Rick" teaches band and choir. He will be well remembered for his "charteuse coloured fur-lined, hand-knitted, snit."

Mrs. J. Yip: Helped many of our Asian students pull through the year.

Mrs. E. deVilliers: "Todays four thousand word essay will be on. . ."

Our time has come and we go our separate ways. . .

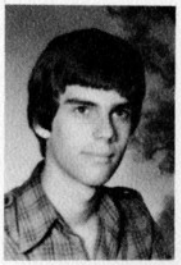
JAMES ABBOTT: James will be remembered for destroying half the Vic High chem. lab. He enjoyed the long weekends, holidays and having a spare in block G and leaves us saying, "If you take Mr. B. and don't feel like doing any work, just talk about skiing all period."

FRED ABRAHAM: Fred wants to "live it up" and get a Ph.D.

GRACE ALEXANDER: Conspicuous by their absence are the replies on this student's paper! As to clubs, Grace is active in jazz dance, sailing, and squash. Grace dislikes fire alarms! (Don't we all!) Future plans include Europe.



JEFF ALEXANDER: "Angus the Rocker" was a cabinet minister. Jeff expects to be remembered for being a radical in class and making his speech when he ran for P.M.

MARK ALEXANDER: "Beeda Mills' " most embarrassing moment at Vic High was not winning the Miss Camosun Pageant. Mark hates getting up in the mornings, but loves parties and grad. His words to the undergrads are: "Keep up partying."

MADELAINE ANDERSEN: Madelaine enjoyed having her close friends and her boy friend here (could his initials be R.G.?). She'll treasure the thought of graduating and leaves us saying "Good luck".

JOANNE ANDERSON: "Joe" didn't like coming to school on Mondays, but liked Fridays. Joanne played badminton and plans to become a godmother for the mob. Her words of wisdom were "keep your nose to the books".

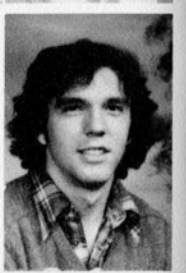
MARCIA ANDERSON: Another mystery at Vic High.

TONY ANDERSON: What "Tone" didn't like about the school was the fire alarms everyday. He was active in badminton and had tried to start a diving club. His future plans are to take Marine Biology at U.Vic.

DRENA ANDULAJEVIC: Drena was avid about school spirit, soccer games, and the Tyees' success, but would rather forget about walking into the wrong class. She says, "Let the good times roll," and plans to go to Europe for 6 months, then maybe college.

LORRAINE ANNAL: Lorraine is looking forward to graduating, so she can become a computer key puncher. She would like to save up her money and go back to Scotland.

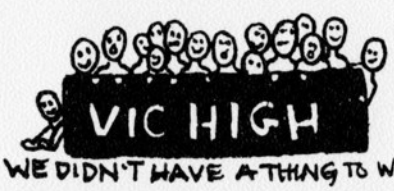
STEWART ARNOLD: "Stewfer" is involved in the Outdoors Club. He liked having Mr. Kreiser for English and says his most embarrassing moment was cutting the portable electrical circular saw cord in half.



LLOYD ASHTON: Because he's hot, Lloyd has earned the nickname "Cool." He will be remembered for coming to school with wet hair and leaves us saying, "Stay out of Packford's way."

PAUL ASKEW: Paul enjoyed watching the Miss Camosun Pageant this year at Vic High and really looked forward to the end of "big G". Paul hopes the months of October and November are full of magic things for you.

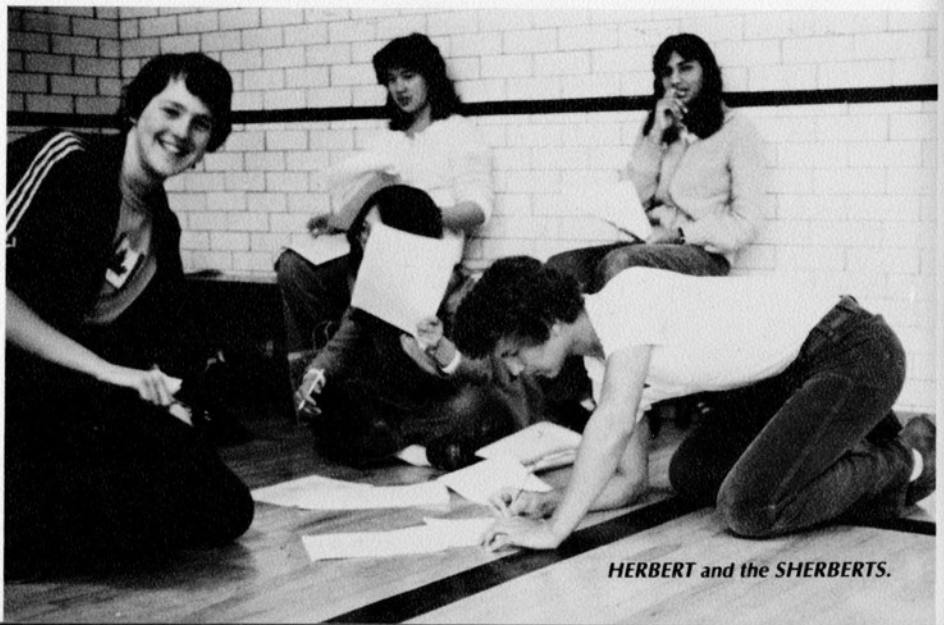
CLARK AUSTIN: "Darko" was a member of the Tyees and liked all the parties in the back parking lot. He's trying hard to forget missing a penalty shot in the B.C.'s. "Darko" was a "disturber" and leaves saying, "Vic High will always be No. 1."



TAMMY AKERS: Hope you have a successful future Tammy.

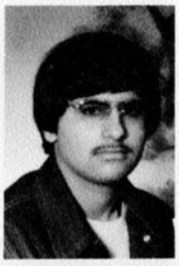
MURRAY BAKER: Known for dealing in carpentry and other trades. Murray is really looking forward to the end of the year. As of now, he has not decided on any future plans.

ALAN BANKY: Alan must have been at the "Banky" when questionnaires were handed out as there was no deposit of one from him.



HERBERT and the SHERBERTS.

Feeding time at the zoo.



SHELLY AVRAM: "Bunny" (not the playboy type) was involved in choir and drama. A highlight of Shelly's year was going to France. She will be remembered for being her busy self and selling food at lunch.

RICHARD BAHREY: Guess Richard couldn't be BAHthered to write a questionnaire.

JAGTAR BAINS: Jagtar will be remembered for slapping a guy who had a black belt. His most memorable moment was getting his car back on the road. "Me walk into the wrong class? Never."

RASHBINDER BAINS: Rahsbinder was another smiling face that wandered the halls of Vic High.

DUSTY BAKER: Dusty likes the auto shop at Vic High the best. He doesn't like getting up in the mornings, and hates the fire doors. His advice to undergrads. "Come to school and do your work, occasionally, and take auto.

CINDY BALLAGH: Cindy plans to own stock; O'Keefes breweries in the future. She disliked the doors this year. (Didn't we all?) To future grads she gives these words of advice, "Go for it all."

LIZ BAMFORD: "Dizzy Lizzy" liked the holidays and meeting Mr. Higgs. Her advice is "go all the way as it's worth it in the end." Future ambitions? "To take a few months off and then get a job with the government."

JANICE BARBER: "Jannie" believes she will be remembered for supporting the school. (She sure must have strong shoulders.) Janice leaves us saying; "Keep up the school spirit."

LISA BARRESI: Lisa's best memories were: her study block, decorating her locker and leaving Vic High. She disliked going to school and homework. Her words to the undergrads are: "See ya, it's my turn!"

FRANK BARRON: "Smokey" was kept busy by making cookies and lunches for other schools this year (Happy Homemaker?). He enjoyed his two spares but disliked getting up in the mornings (you have to get up to enjoy your spares). He warns the undergrads to "get off their butts and get working".

ROB BASI: "Raisin" doesn't like blue cheese but he did like throwing herring at Mr. Chan (even if he missed). Cross-country, band and kicking S.M. down the halls were Rob's activities this year. "Take studies in blocks G and F," Rob says, "you'll get to miss ½ the year."

NANCY BATES: "Nance" was the cheerleading captain. She liked her block E study and woodwork in the afternoon. Her worst moment was her line in the Camosun play: 'Howdy Stranger!'

KEITH BECKETT: This year when "Doorknob" wasn't sleeping he was involved in the swim team and the ski club. Keith believes he'll be remembered for helping to destroy Mr. B.'s Chem class.

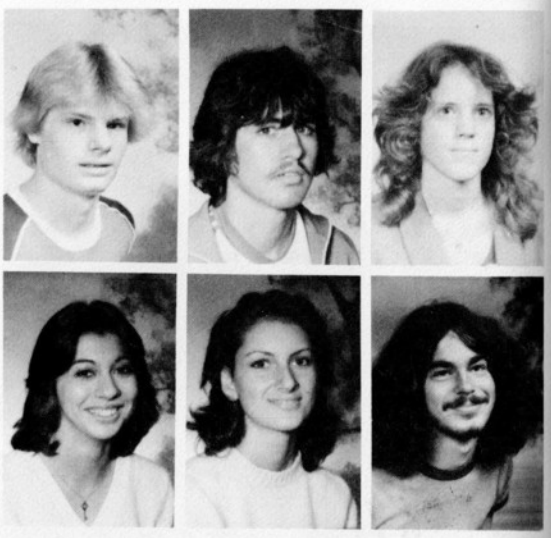
RANDY BELL: Everybody remembers "Ding Dong" during the Colonist Cup and B.C. Champion Soccer games. He hopes to be remembered for playing with the Tyees and says to get involved in clubs and sports.

ROBERTA BENNETT: Roberta was in cross-country and basketball. Some of her best times were spent with the cross-country gang at the Bayshore. We will remember her for wearing her shorts inside out. Her plans are to be a beatnik and travel around Europe.

LUCY BILHETE: Lucy was most embarrassed when she walked into the guys bathroom. She enjoyed the Miss Camosun contest and will be remembered for walking the halls and being caught.

DEPPY BILLIAS: This year Deppy was involved in cheerleading, ballet, tap, and keeping busy. Remembered for her smiling face and great personality she says that, "To live", will be her future plans.

BRIAN BISSETT: "Shrub", so called thanks to Tony Roche was involved in rugby, the outdoors club, and the Miss Camosun contest. Brian liked the parties, but hates the doors. His motto is "Sex & Drugs and Rock n' roll."



MAURICE BLAIS: Attending the drama conference '80 was one of Maurice's most memorable moments. Maurice wasn't too excited about using the 1st floor washroom when the scafolding was in it. To the undergrads, he says, "Always wear clean underwear in case you're in an accident."

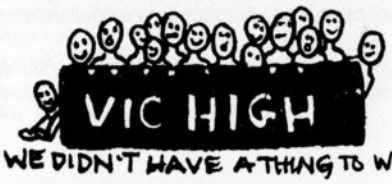
SHELLY BLASNER: Shelly is glad that the Vic High classes went by quickly as she is looking forward to graduation. She wants to be a receptionist after graduating. Shelly says, "Have fun!"

BARRY BLATCHFORD: "Heardford" wasn't involved in any activities but liked the parties. His best moment were the "good parking lot parties!"

DARKO BLAZEK: "Darko is not a nickname" we are told! A Chem. Lab. Asst. and a member of the FORUM Club, Darko foresees vacation time as the best of the school year! His future? U Vic in the fall.

GREG BLUNDELL" Greg played rugby and will be remembered for organizing a beer garden in the parking lot. His words of wisdom are, "Go for the gold, just don't get caught."

DOREEN BORG: Although Doreen doesn't have a nickname and wasn't involved in any sports or activities, she'll be remembered for looking bored in class or when she dropped her pizza face down.



DON BISSETT: Don says he will be remembered most for attending a full day of school. Partying, weekends and the last day of school in 1979 were all highlights for Don.

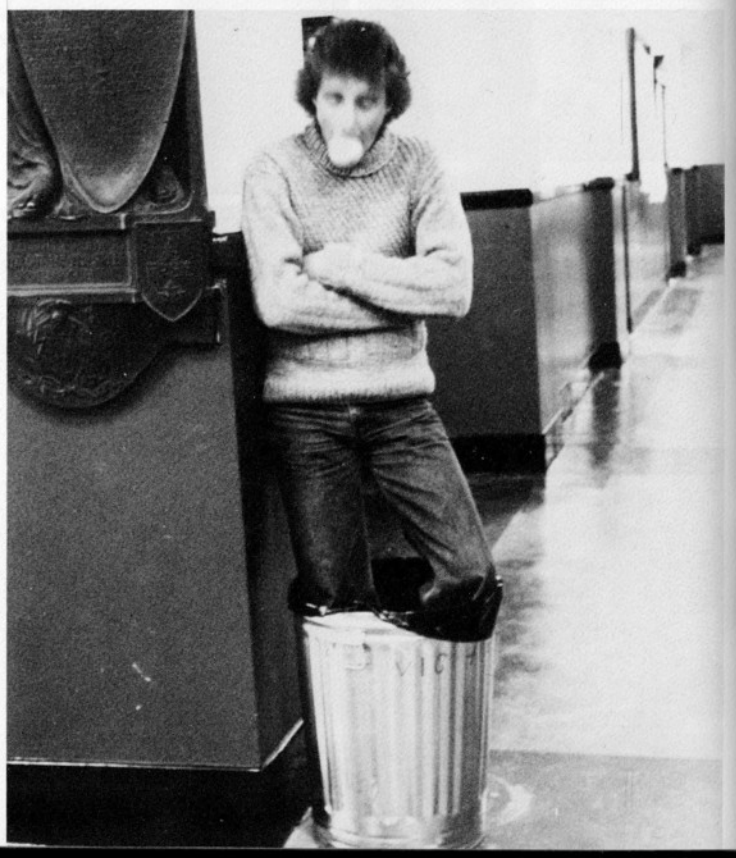
WILHELMNS BORSBOOM: Another one of Vic High's mystery people.

JOHN BRADFORD: "Cafeteria Hermit" chews food all day. He liked the cafeteria being open all day and worst moment was his first report card. "Don't eat the cafeteria donuts."

MIKE BRADSTOCK: Mike believes he'll be remembered for being away for 1½ months in the first term. However, we don't believe he spent all this time playing Jr. "B" hockey. Although he didn't like the school renovations, he did like the ½ days we had. "Good luck," Mike says to all of us.

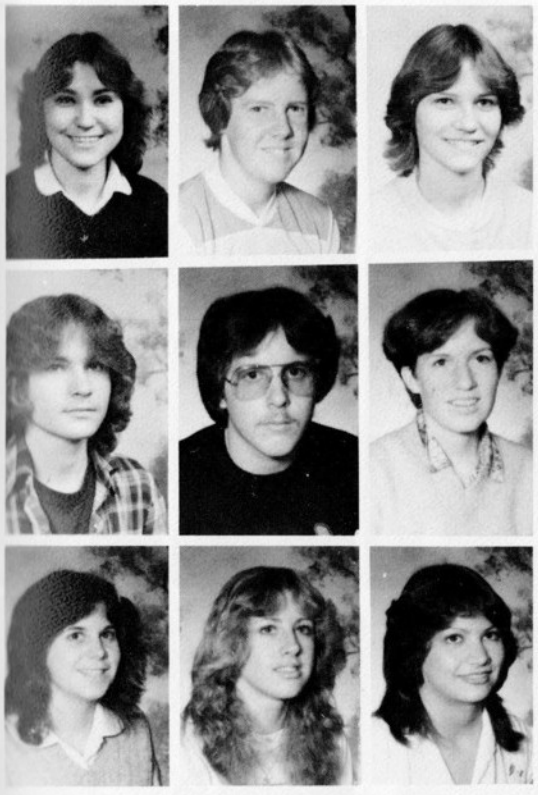
CURTIS BUSHELL: Was Curtis a member of the Vic High Hooters? We will never know.

DON BUTLER: "Spaze" commented on all the changes that occurred in the last two years and says he is embarrassed by all the writing on the walls. "Tuffy's" plans for the future are to go to work and go out with girls.



Athletes Feet.

Sheer Energy.



ANGELA BORGE: "Angelist" didn't like being called a "Bobsey twin" all the time. She tells us to "hang in there cause we're here for a good time not a long time."

PETER BOURNE: Peter figures he will be remembered for having a big brain and not a big head. . . Is this possible? His future plans are to go to university but he is still uncertain for what.

WENDY BRADLEY: Wendy was a member of the Vic High Girls' Soccer team. Her most memorable moments were spent with close friends. Her future plans include a full-time job and eventually getting married.

RALPH BRANDSTAETTER: What can we say?

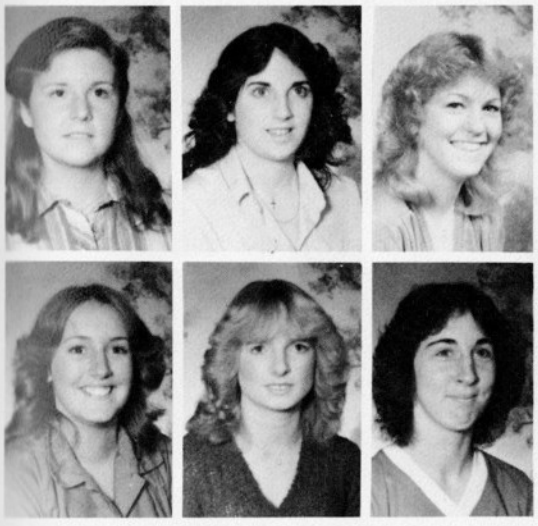
DAVID BRAUN: The "Procrastinator" was very active in the school newspaper, computer math and drama. David was known to never be wrong but he was also known for forgetting. David is one of hundreds who haven't yet decided what his future plans are. Good luck in the future, David.

JENNIFER BREWIN: Jennifer will be remembered for standing on a box to reach the "mike" during the P.M. speeches. (She won!) She leaves us with, "If you say I have milk on my face, I'll cry."

BEV BROOKBANK: "Smiley" and her $1300.00 smile will be remembered for her loud laugh. She hates the crowded hallways and fire bells. She wishes the undergrads "best of luck".

ROXANNE BROWN: This year "Peanuts" was involved in volleyball and soccer. Roxanne's plans are to take either a criminal justice or nursing course at Camosun. If she doesn't succeed in either of these she'll settle for being a millionaire.

PAULA BRUCKEL: Rumour has it that Paula was another partier.



MARCY BUCHYNS: "Mush" was very active this year, flying around taking pictures while shooting bow and arrows. Walking through the two buildings on a brisk morning was what she enjoyed about Vic High.

SUSAN BUDD: Susan was known as, "Fire Hydrant". She likes the students and teachers at Vic High. Her most memorable moment at Vic High was the "great" march back from Central. Her last words are: "Do your best."

LYNNE BUNCH: "Banana's" best moment was finding out she didn't have to share a locker. She will be remembered for leaving her locker open. Lynne says, "If you don't succeed the first time try, try again."

SANDI BURDON: "Tinkerbell" (so called because she ran around the golf course with white boots with bells on the laces) hates Monday mornings. Her worst time at Vic High was hobbling around on crutches, her best was the Grad Party.

SHELLEY BURGESS: "Little B" liked the 2 spares she had, but not attending the other 5 classes. She says, "A smile holds the key that unlocks many doors," and plans to go into teaching or nursing.

SYLVIA BUTLER: "Silver" played basketball and badminton. She was most embarrassed when she told her C.R. Class "to hold their balls", meaning the volleyball. Sylvia plans to become either a legal secretary or secretary.

Someone forgot to take out the garbage.

"Honest sir, I wasn't talking."

Stadium Stowaways.

YVONNE CABUCO: "Avon" enjoyed walking the hallways and everything else except the fire alarms and the four flights of stairs. Yvonne will be remembered for the many times she went to the washroom to comb her hair. Her advice is "make the best of your last year" and "go for it".

LEEA CALLANDER: This year Leea liked her study and her graduation most. Her future plans are to work for a couple of years then get married to Karl. Her last words are, "Good luck, (you'll need it)."

GARTH CAMERON: Garth was on the Vic High parking lot Racing Team this year and just loved to lay down rubber. With his "wheels of steel", Garth didn't believe he got his mini started. His plans for the future are to be a "super heavy duty mini mechanic".

JOHN CAMPBELL: "Zse Zse" was a member of the cross-country team and track team. He spent his leisure time in the hallways with Val.

ROHAN CANN: Rohan did you flush your questionnaire down the "cann"?

ROB CANOVA: Rob was a man of few words. He told us he liked the rats at Vic High and plans to look for more at U.B.C.

CINDY CARLOW: "Shorty" liked meeting new people this year at Vic High.

DAN CARLSON: Being a man of few words, Dan told us that his most memorable moment was graduating and that "it's easy", whatever "it" is.

TIM CARLSON: If you want to know about Tim you'll just have to ask Scott.

MIKE CAVIN: "Mikey" was a member of the basketball team and tells us that certain math classes are a joke. Mike plans to go to UVic.

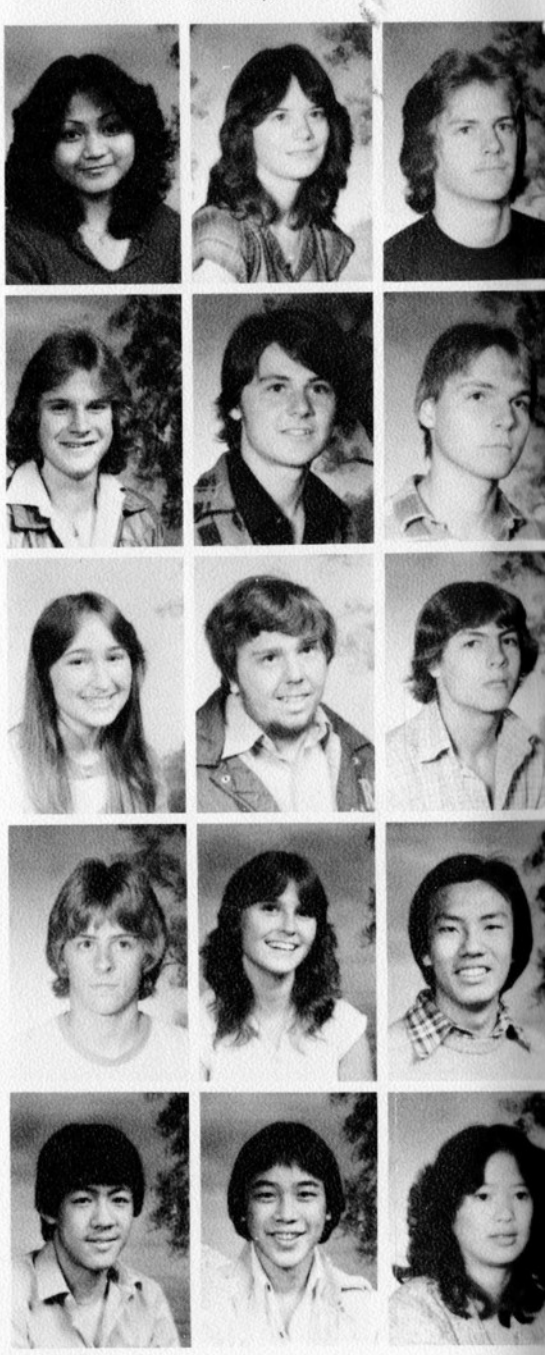
SONYA CHABASIEWICZ: "Kuba" got her nickname from her unpronounceable last name. Grad rep, pep club and partying were the activities she was involved in. Kuba enjoyed hooting at all the games, and tells all undergrads to "keep up the Vic High spirit and don't associate with Oak Bay."

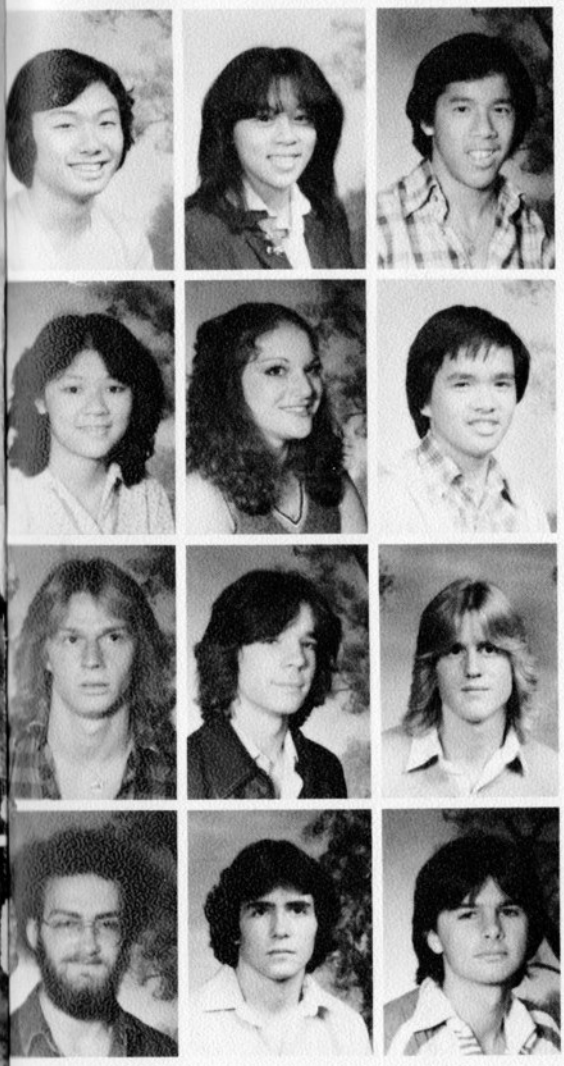
ARNOLD CHAN: "Leroy" disliked all the tests and exams given this year but enjoyed meeting all the people and making new friends. His best moment was when a friend brought him a birthday cake. Arnold's future plans include going to university.

GORDON CHAN: Gordon liked this school year because it was his last and will always remember his graduation. Seems as though the grad questionnaires were too skill testing for some.

HARVEY CHAN: Harvey wants to spend eternity with Yaweh and seeks his glory.

PAULA CHAN: "Polski" was involved in badminton and band. Paula was embarrassed when she walked into the wrong class. She believes she will be remembered for dropping her books and pencils in class. She plans to go to Camosun and be an accountant. She says, "Have fun opening all the doors."





KENNETH CHIANG: Kenneth was one of Vic High's quiet and studious students.

DOREEN CHOW: "Dor" enjoyed the Miss Camosun Contest but disliked all the doors. She was most embarrassed when she walked into the teachers' staff room. Doreen says, "Live it up."

WARREN CHOW: Completing the 6-minute mile was Warren's most memorable moment. It's hard to imagine him achieving his goal (U.B.C.) seeing that his preference at Vic High was "last period" and his dislike was "first period". His parting pearls of wisdom: "Let the rats take over the school."

WENDY CHOW: A future computer analyst "Wendell" tells us she was in the badminton club. She likes the concern shown for the school. Wendy tells us that R.G.'s dialogue in FR. 11 was her most memorable moment.

JANE CHRISTENSEN: "Playn Jayn" hopes to be remembered for being weird. She disliked being treated as an "elementary school kid" all year. She didn't enjoy failing shorthand, but we're sure she'll make up for it.

JAMES CHU: "Chu-Chu" didn't like certain classes this year but he did like some of the teachers and being with his friends. James' future plans include: "UVic business administration".

COLIN CLARK: This year, "Iron Lungs" was one of the many involved in parking lot parties. His most embarrassing moment was the first day of school, and his best moment was grad. Parting words? D.S.R.R.

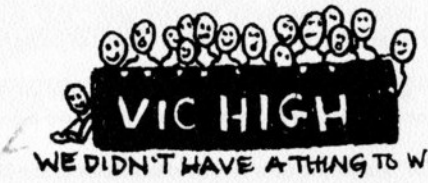
DAVE CLARK: We hope you had fun at Vic High Dave.

DEAN CLARKSON: Although "Dean-O" didn't like Jeff not becoming P.M. he tells us he liked spending the weekends around the school. Dean says he'll be remembered for "being quiet" at the soccer finals and that "Vic High will always be number one."

DAVE CLEIN: "Cleinschmitt" had many good times at Vic High but Dave didn't like the mice in the school. He was really embarrassed when he was lost in Vic High. A memorable moment for Dave was graduating and he believes he will be remembered for being Dave Clein.

DON CLELAND: Don enjoys water and snow skiing and says he will be remembered for eating lunch in his car. His future plans are to become an electrician! Good luck Don!

KERRY COATES: Kerry was a member of Vic High's basketball team.



RYAN CAMPBELL: "Roxy" figures he'll be remembered for his bathing suit. Was this the reason he won the Miss Camosun contest? Ryan, who is planning a New Year's party in 1999-2000 at his mansion in the Bahama's advises the undergrads to "keep it clean".

SCOTT CARLSON: One of Scott's most embarrassing moments was having to stand at the front of his S.S. class and tell them about commercial fishing.

BARRY CHAN: Barry is another one of Vic High's mystery students.

HOMER CHAN: "Jackie Chan" was an active member of the volleyball and track and field teams. Homer thinks he'll be remembered for being such a great all around guy. (What else?)

LAURIE CHRISTIANSEN: An active member of the Skip Out Club, Laurie plans to spend the future with R.T. and says, "When the going gets tough the tough don't always get going, so quit while you're ahead."

It's lonely at the bottom.

ROBERT CODD: "B.C." was in drama club productions and enjoyed meeting people. He will be remembered for his stupid comments in class. Robert plans to be a lawyer and says "Palma Non Sine Pulvere."

GARDE COLINS: Garde didn't like the way a certain teacher babbled on about nonsense. He's glad he got all his courses this year. Future plans? To become an electronic engineer like his favorite teacher.

TRUDY COLLIER: Trudy was seen in Mr. Lund's History class but only now and again.

LORRAINE COMEAU: "Rainy" will be remembered for her crazy laugh and her constant happy face. She says, "Don't stop thinking about tomorrow."

JANET COOK: Janet only came for classes in the morning this year and found rats and fungus quite undesirable, but liked the idea of finally finishing school. She plans to attend UVic in September '81.

SUZANNE CÔTÉ: Suzanne was involved in T-Jazz and the French club this year and was disenchanted with the renovations. To the undergrads, Suzanne advises, "Take a study in Block C." Her future plans are to go to Quebec and parle francais.

LESLIE CRAMPTON: Leslie was another who liked graduating to get away from the sound of firebells. Her future plans are to travel and she says "Have Fun."

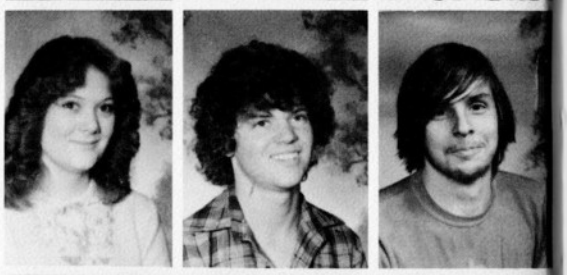
MEL CRAVEN: Mel was the manager of our cheerleaders and disliked "The Boys". She won't forget helping C.A. during mechanics (he didn't know what to do) and leaves us saying "Shine on you crazy diamonds!"

SCOTT CRAVEN: Scotty was involved in the parties! His most embarrassing moment was falling down a set of stairs in front of a P.E. class. His advice to the undergrads is party hardy. Scott hopes to become a mechanic.

BRENDA CURTIS: Brenda was another one of us who disliked the firedoors (she needed both hands to operate them). Walking into the boys' changeroom caused some embarrassment for her (but not as much as for the guys in it).

PAUL CURTIS: Paul didn't like the fire alarms and grad questionnaire. He was involved in working in the weight room and tells us his future plans include catching the world's biggest coho.

GEOFF CUTCHEY: Geoff was involved in music and belonged to the T-Jazz club. He remembers the Remembrance Day ceremony with embarrassment. He claims that if you stick something out to the end, it will be the best thing you have ever done.



DORIS DARDENGO: Who are the lucky "certain guys" that made the school year for her? Mechanics make good wages, so she may realize her hopes of going to Europe and "blowing all she makes".

SUE DAVIES: "Rowdy" was embarrassed when she dropped her prizza face down on the floor. She will be remembered for being crazy at school. Sue says, "Have a great grad and good luck in the future."

PAT DAVISON: "Muffin" seemed to be a very avid boy hater as she liked the student radical group and hating "the boys". Band, choir, and badminton were what she was involved in during the school year.

PAUL COBB: "Lips" was involved in Parliament and says he will be remembered for being a Vic High grad. Paul leaves saying, "Do your best and you will succeed in the future."

CAL COULTER: The "Youngster" liked the fast sport of baseball. Passing History in Mr. L.'s class was his most memorable moment at Vic High.

GLENN DAVIDSON: Glenn spent a lot of time sailing, partying and playing hockey. When asked what he disliked he said "R.H."

KEVIN DAVIS: Kevin left Vic High early this year.

STEVE DIETRICH: Steve was the goalie for the Tyees, and says that winning the Colonist Cup was a highlight for him.

"Look Dear, I brought home the bacon."

. . . and this little piggy stayed home.

DICK DEGOEDE: Cross-country, rugby, swimming and choir were a major part of "de Goofy's" year. Dick found it a drag having to stay around school waiting for practices when he had a study last block. Dick liked the people and the soccer games. He says, "Make the best of your last year."

NICK DeMOOY: Nick just keeps "MOOYing" right along.

MIKE DEVRIES: "Lumpy" was too busy working to be concerned with school but he did like the school system. Mike's words of advice are, "Work hard and get out as fast as you can."

SHAWN DHEENSAW: Shawn was a member of the Totems and an official at many volleyball and soccer games. "Miss Totem" liked getting "Scuze" in sh-t in every class and disliked grad questionnaires. He thinks he'll be remembered for being shy and plans to be an oil-rich sheik in the Far East.

SITA DHILLON: "Dill" liked the weekends, all the parties, and skipping out. She dislikes most of her classes. Sita says we'll always remember her for being one of the partiers. Her parting words are: "Stay happy, healthy, and high!"

DARRYL DICKENS: Darryl enjoyed study blocks and the friendly people at Vic High. His future plans include university and then. . .?

TRACEY DICKINSON: Tracey was a member of the Vic High pep club and Hooters. Although she didn't like the yellow and brown halls she believes she'll be remembered for her red face. She tells us that "life's only as good as you make it."

ZINA DIECIULAI: We believe Zina will be remembered for her name.

MANDY DOBBS: "Mandola" was on the girls' soccer team. She said her most memorable moment was meeting Bob and graduating. Mandy plans to become a rich and successful interior decorator. Her words of wisdom are short and to the point, "Keep Vic High, high!"

PAUL DOBSON: Paul's most embarrassing moment was getting caught by Mr. Newell and his most memorable moment was getting away with it. He hopes to be remembered for his charming personality? (Just what was it you did in the stands . . . Larry Holmes?)

SIMON DOCKERILL: Just call him "Silent Simon".

SANDRA DOHERTY: Sandra's future plans are to be an R.N. She was involved in band and liked the 2:15 bell on Fridays but nothing else during the week days. She doesn't think she'll be remembered for anything in particular, but we'll remember her for her clarinet playing.

"He got an 'A'?"

VAL DONALD: Val D. alias "Kitty" disliked homework and classes because they interfered with her meetings in the hall with J.C. "Kitty" plans to marry a millionaire and be a rich model in Hawaii.

CELESTE DOSOUTO: "Shorty" liked the fire alarms, Friday afternoons and getting picked up by D.B., but walking into the boys' change room caused her some embarrassment. She leaves saying, "It's a long way to the end but hold on."

ALLEN DROVER: All that "Grover" has to say is that he liked all the parties. Good luck Allen.

DALE DROVER: We didn't know that Dale was a linquist! His parting words to the Undergrads are hard to translate! "If you bazzle them with billenge, bazzle them with b.s."

KEN DRYBURGH: "Shaky's" best moment was a certain weekend! According to him, "Sex, drugs, rock and roll will get you through the year." Walking into the Boat building a day early was most embarrassing.

DARREN DUNAWAY: We believe that Darren has "Dunaway" with his questionnaire.

TIM EDMONDS: Tim has only two things to say this year and that's, "Don't let the teachers push you around and have fun." Good luck in the future Tim!

PAUL ELL: Paul is looking forward to graduation. Future plans include travelling through Canada and going to college.

VAL ERICK: "Hammy" was another person who liked the "parking lot parties" and disliked school work. She will be remembered for falling all over the place on her birthday. (Val found other interests and decided to fly the coop early.) Good luck.

BOB FECHTER: "Uncle Bob" played soccer for awhile and did weight-lifting. He liked meeting all the different people at Vic High. Bob plans to become rich and move to Hawaii; he says, "Have fun while you're still in school."

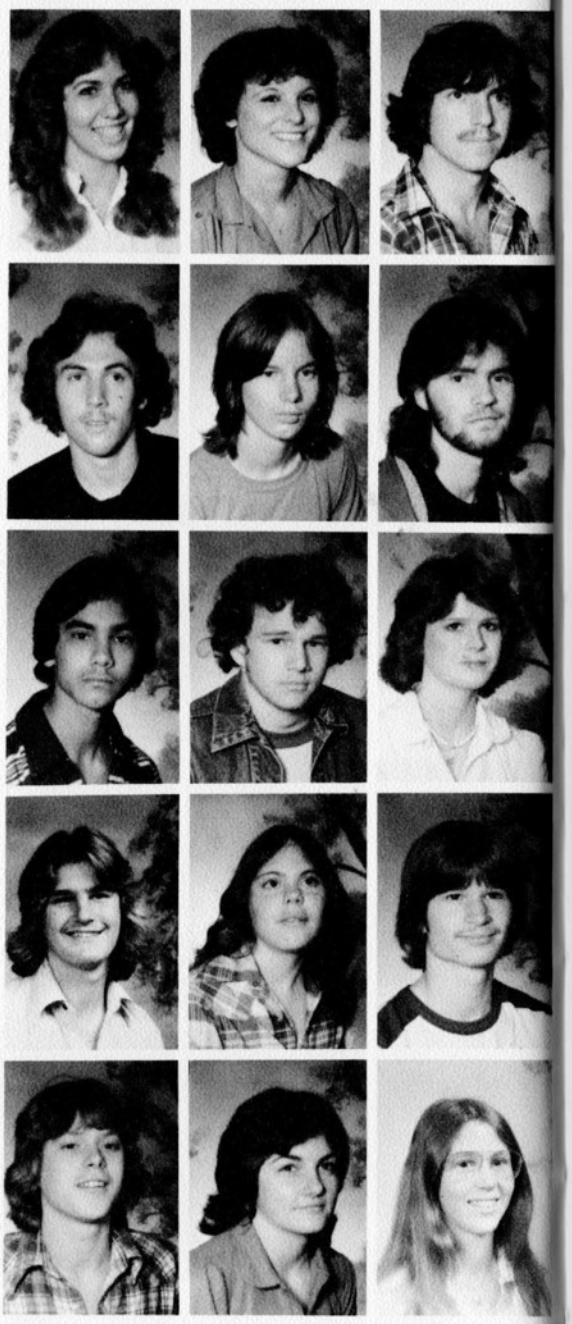
GINA FERRARD: "Space Woman" has her head high in the clouds while singing an acute tune. She liked her first day of school and believes she will be remembered for being "the midget from Montreal". Gina's future plans are to be an actress or a singer.

BRUCE FIORITTI: "Chemical Man" would rather not tell us his activities. His words to the undergrads are, "Keep trying no matter how lousy it gets." His plans for the future are to obtain a large amount of money and spend a few years in Europe.

JAMES FOFONOFF: Jim who plans to open a scuba shop tells us that his best moment at Vic High was finding out 98% of his Lit. class were girls. "Say what you feel and be yourself," are Jim's advice to the undergrads.

DAWN FORSTER: In explaining her nickname, "Bino" says, "ask Shelly why." Not involved in sports or clubs, she says, "And I tried very hard at it." Encouraged by an "A" in writing, Bino plans to be a writer and travel. To undergrads she says: "If you've gotten this far keep going."

LURA FOSTER: Lura was a member of the Bowling Club. She tells us, "Give it your best shot, no one can condemn you for trying."



DAVE GARRETT: Dave was another student who wished to remain unknown.

SHANE GAUTHIER: We can't say much about Shane as he didn't tell us anything.

KELLY GLOVER: Guess Kelly was too busy playing with a ball and glove to fill out a questionnaire.

PAUL GOODMAN: If you had been a "Goodman" you would have handed in your questionnaire.

BRUCE FRASER: Bruce had a good year meeting new friends and partying on the weekends. He believes he'll be remembered for being a short grad. He plans to get an apprenticeship as a machinist after learning more of the trade.

JAMES FRASER: "Jim" liked his year at Vic High best when he wasn't here. Although Jim didn't like being called a "Chowderhead" he did enjoy the aftergrad. James' future plans are to "ride high".

JOEL FRASER: Joel was another of the strong silent type.

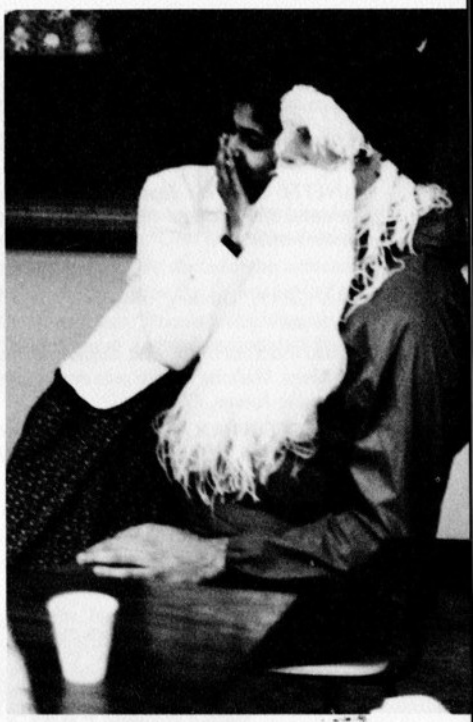
MIKE FRIEBE: Mike left school early this year.

STEVE GAMBLE: Steve's most embarrassing moment at Vic High was when he got stuck in the back parking lot. He says he'll be remembered for his truck and his words of advice to the undergrads; "Watch out for Mrs. A."

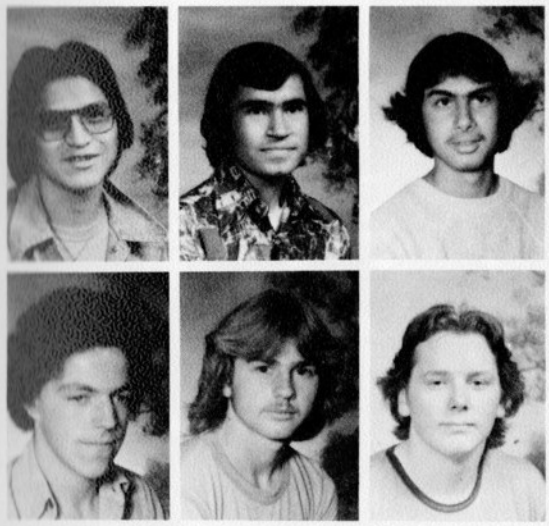
PAUL GAUDET: "Gaud" was active in the Swim club, Outdoors club and being manager of the Tyees. Paul said school was a riot and he loved it. He hopes that the undergrads will "stay as rowdy as possible."

"Hey, this is what I used to clean my floor with!"

"Now that's what I call a beer gut!"



"See that guy in the front row? . . ."



RICHARD GEORGE: May your future be very successful.

OMKAR GILL: Omkar will be remembered for very rarely talking.

STEVE GILL: Steve plans to work for the provincial government for two years and then go for his C.G.A.

ALEX GILLIES: Alex, better known as "Felix" plans to go to Mexico. "Felix" leaves behind his words of wisdom: "Don't be a high school dropout."

WARREN GILLIS: Known either as Hack, Penguin, or Pigeon, Warren was involved in soccer, parties and the parking lot, which was what he liked most about his school year at Vic High. He hopes to take a year off after school and go into counselling. Sounds like fun Warren, good luck!

BRIAN GILMORE: Brian was a busy guy this year with listening to music, playing guitar, working, partying and sleeping. He disliked Vic High's rats, mice, mold, and mildew. He hopes to have a rewarding career in the future.

This year's C.R. Santa sat silently serving sweets.

ROSS GIRVIN: Ross was involved in the first United Club of Hooting this year. Hmmmm . . . He liked the grad '80 parking lot party. Future plans are to become machinist and his last word is "Ya Hooooo!"

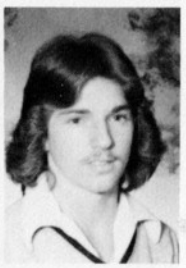
LOU-ANN GLENDALE: Lou-Anne was a part-time student this year. She was involved in soccer and enjoyed taking Native Indian classes.

CHERIE GOKEY: Cherie was embarrassed everytime she fell on the stairs or in the hall. She will be remembered for being crazy at the worst possible moments. Her plans are to be a great actress and be filthy rich.

KAREN GOLDSMITH: "Stretch" wasn't involved in too much this year except for the making of the yearbook and weight-lifting (probably likes to pick on the poor guys). Her most memorable moment at Vic High was finding out she was related to Mr. Higgs. Her future plans are to live for a long time.

MIKE GORMAN: "Mouse" was very embarrassed when he accidently dropped a bottle of wine out of his locker and smashed it on the floor. Mike will be remembered for his smiles.

CARLOS GRACIA: Carlos and his beautiful hair will be remembered here at Vic High. We hope he wasn't too embarrassed when he cracked up his VW Bug last year. "Calite" reminds us to "Keep Victoria high".



BILL GRANT: Bill's most memorable moment was when the new principal arrived! We've no complaints either, Bill! We all share your "dislike" of rats, but as to teachers(?). Bill's plans are still undercover, likewise his words of wisdom!

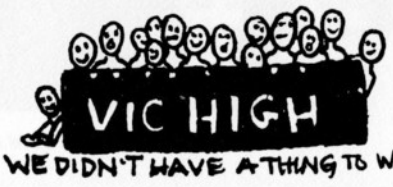
KELLY GRATTON: Kelly liked the lunch hours and the smoking area in the back but disliked some Algebra teachers. She won't forget her graduation and her future plans include getting rich and travelling.

JEANETTE GRAVES: Jeanette didn't like much about school except knowing that she would graduate. She disliked the short lunch hours and getting in trouble with Lorea Reagan in Mr. Garner's office.

BRAD GRAY: "Donkey" didn't say anything, but that he plans to become rich any way he can. Good luck Brad!

CHRISTINE GREENCORN: Known for laughing all the time, Chris liked the nice way her teacher put things. Walking in late was embarrassing, but she still enjoyed her last year at Vic High. Good luck in the future, Chris.

ANNA GREENWOOD: Anna is known to everyone as "Anna Banana". This year she was in the Outdoors club. She hopes to be remembered for "never being decided on anything", and says: "Don't tease the teachers."



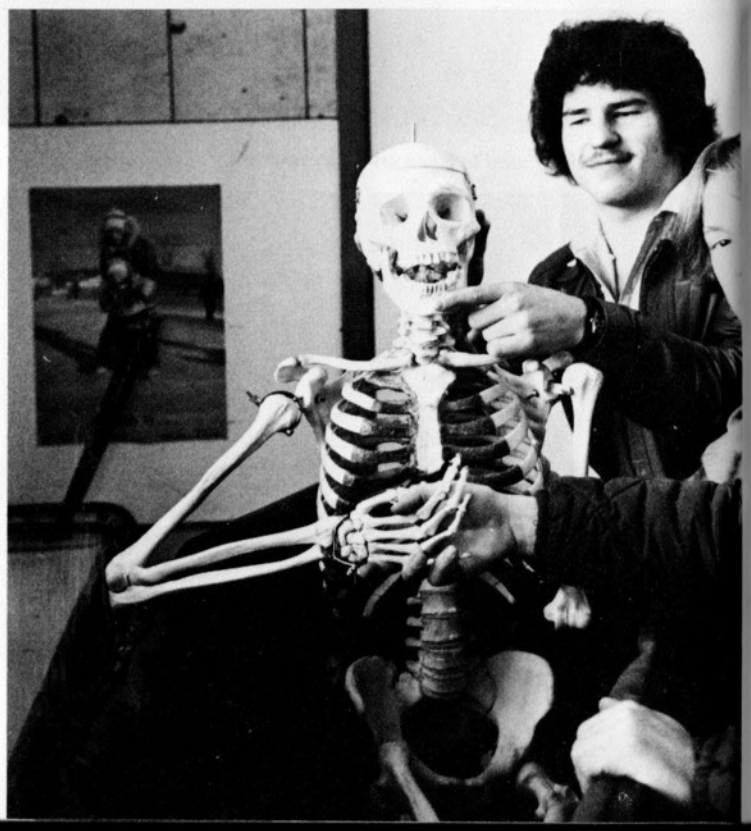
KELLY GOSSEN: To find out about Kelly you will have to ask her in person.

TRACY GRANTON: Sorry but we couldn't "grant" you any more time to fill out your questionnaire.

MIKE HALL: We believe Mike was making a "deal" with Monty instead of filling out his questionnaire.

RICHARD HALSALL: Known to friends as Rich, "Smiley" was almost one of the WBBB's. Rich doesn't think he'll be remembered, but we'll know it's him when we see his motorcycle. Parting words? "Keep it up, kids."

RICHARD HARTLEY: Richard didn't have the "Hart" to fill out his questionnaire.



"I smoke, I drink, and I'm still healthy."

"Eat this and you're a dead duck."

Double or Nothing.

RAYMOND GREENWOOD: "Bees" is a honey of a guy! Cross-country, Basketball, Track and Field, Chess, Table Tennis and Badminton must leave a scanty portion of his day for study! Winning the final race of the Cross-country season was his highlight.

NANDLALL GURPRASAD: "Gurr" participated in cross-country, rugby, table tennis, track and field, tennis and badminton. "Gurr" liked watching the girls and will be remembered for being born in Guyana.

CAROLYN GUY: "Doodles" disliked early mornings but enjoyed 2:15 dismissals and meeting people. Famous for her smiling nature, Carolyn leaves saying, "Don't quit while you're ahead and have a great grad."

ERIC HAFENRICHTER: Eric didn't like much about this year and didn't like smacking up his car. He thinks he'll be remembered for his '57 Chevy and tells the undergrads, "Don't drink and drive."

JEFF HAISELL: Jeff was involved in badminton, band and volleyball. He thought the amount of school spirit improved as the year went on. His best moment was the Circus Rock Concert last year.

STUART HALL: After getting his pantleg caught in the automated doors, "Ruodo" sought revenge by filing and winning a lawsuit against them. He advises, "Watch those damned automated doors!" Stuart plans to manufacture automated doors.

KEN HANNA: Ken claims his nickname is exactly that. He enjoyed his spares but dreaded his classes. Ken hopes the undergrads do better than he did!

TRICIA HANSEN: "Tricky" liked the parties, soccer games, leg auction, and Miss Camosun pageant. Rats, mildew, and fire drill were a menace, but Tricia leaves saying, "Come to school everyday, the year will go by faster."

JOHN HANSON: Great wealth is what the future holds for John. He liked Vic High because it has the best looking girls this side of Toronto. (Does this include Sue?)

NOLAN HARBAR: Although Nolan is a hard Rocker on the outside, he really is a mellowed out person. He writes poems and is involved with the Parliament.

PAT HARTMAN: Pat will be remembered for going to the cafeteria in A block and buying coffee and hot chocolate for her friends.

SUSAN HATCH: What does the future hold for "Red?" Attending UBC to major in archaeology. Susan says she'll be remembered for being friendly and advises, "Don't write on the walls, they will paint the school again."

ROB HATHAWAY: What will Rob be remembered for? Not filling out his Grad questionnaire.

VALERIE HAY: This year Valerie worked on the yearbook and looks forward to the last day of school. Stairs, doors and being a block early are things Valerie would rather forget. One of the lunch bunch, she advises, "Keep your shirt on!"

PETER HAYLETT: "Leonardo" likes art, and being left alone. He dislikes the teachers. His best moment was finding a quarter in the boys' washroom. His words of wisdom are: "Don't make waves!"

MIKE HAYNEE: This year "Pongo" was involved in bowling and band and got his nickname from being in the military. Taking a course with Mr. P. and being yelled at is what he thinks he will be remembered for.

COLIN HEATH: Colin will be remembered for his great acting and musical talent. His most memorable moment was during the play "Eat Your Heart Out" (Scene 4). Watch out for the "Shadow Maker" Colin.

DAVID HEEMSKERK: David was embarrassed when he ran out of reason and excuses for coming late to class. He plans to move to Jamaica and listen to AC/DC in the sun with his wife or mistress.

DOUG HENDERSON: "Dougie" enjoyed having a study last period and a certain J.H. Finishing exams was Doug's best moment. (Wasn't it for all of us?) Doug's advice is, "work hard but have a good time doing it."

GINA HENLEY: "Gean in balls" was involved in badminton, gymnastics, Student Parliament, and the S.K.Y. club. Gina wants to be remembered for her graffiti sheets. (She hates photographers.)

LISETTE HENRICH: Lisette was deeply involved in the Drama club. We will remember her for her role as "Nanny" in this year's Vic High production. Her future plans include becoming intimate with Gene Wilder.

JANICE HEPBURN: "Tork" plans for the future are to be a revolutionary bop mommy. (That's very commendable, Janice?!) She disliked "The Boys" and her best moment was when she walked out of the bathroom with a trail of toilet paper on her shoe?!

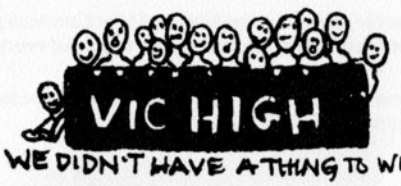
JOHN HERBERT: Known for his sense of humour "Kawalski" was involved in Drama. John's future plans are to simply to be happy. (Living in Spuzzum?)

KATHRYN HEWSON: Kathryn, known as "Kit-Kat" liked doing volunteer work in the library. She believes she will be remembered as being a quiet student creeping through the cracks in the halls. "Kit-Kat's" future plans are to study teaching and then fly high in the blue skies of South China.

ANN HEYNSBROEK: We believe that Ann is living by the rule that silence is golden.

JANE HEYNSBROEK: Where Jane's future lies we do not know.

PAUL HODGKINSON: "Hodge" was active this year in the Victoria Fire Fighters Senior baseball and also lifting "weights" in the Swim Club. Having a good time in Mr. K's English class was exciting for "Hodge" this year. His plans are to make a big hit into the majors.



JOAN HEMINGWAY: Is Joan any relation to Ernest?

DAVE HIGGINS: Dave liked the parties this year. Homework is one of his pet peeves. He wishes to be remembered for his 2407. His plans for the summer is to work, and then sail to Hawaii on his family's boat for the winter.

TOD HUGHES: "Deago" didn't have too much to say except that he only liked Vic High because this was his last year here.

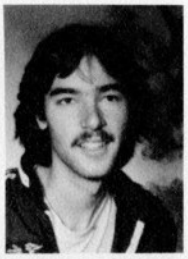
SHERRY HUNT: Sherry didn't say much except that she was involved in soccer this year.

SHELINA HUSELIN: "Kermit the Frog" enjoyed her spare but didn't enjoy when she got chased by a rat in the (boys!) girls' change room! Her words of wisdom are, "Don't do everything today, leave some mistakes for tomorrow" and adds, "thanks for the memories Vic High!"

Hard daze work.

"Hey, what's that noise? . . ."

. . . "Oh, just another fire drill."



KATHLEEN HOGG: "Grandma" was into drama, photography and choir. Her best moment was getting a good mark in Algebra. Kath's words of wisdom are, "Enjoy life, but don't blow it."

RICK HORNER: Inspired by his automotives class, Rick plans on becoming rich as a mechanic. Although he got caught for cheating on garbage duty, Rick believes he'll be remembered for doing burn-outs in the back lot in his '65 Pontiac.

JOHN HORVATH: "Fritz's" activities include dopesmoking and diving. John says the first day of school was very embarrassing? Why? "Fritz's" farewell words are: "Let God and hell help you."

KORAL HOULAHAN: Koral was involved in drama and parliament. She liked the fire alarms(?). Her worst moment was being caught dancing to elevator music on the 3rd floor. Koral's future plans are to study interior decorating.

KEN HOVGAARD: Most everyone has seen this twin carrying video equipment up and down the stairs. His interests are drama and Vic High media.

MIKE HOVGAARD: Mike left school in January but said, "I'll see you all again next year."

ALLISYN HOWARD: Allisyn was involved in T-Jazz and will be remembered for all the sweaters she has made. She plans to become a secretary, get married, have children and be a farmer.

CATHRYN HOYDAL: Cathryn was a "vocal" member of the choir and won't forget all the people she met along with her graduation. She plans to go to Europe and later take to the air as a flight attendant and says, "If you want anything bad enough, work for it."

CURTIS HRAPPSTEAD: Curtis played rugby, badminton, and floor hockey this year. This is his last year at Vic High, which makes him happy. His words of advice are, "Have a good grad and do something you'll remember it by."

CARL HUCKIN: Carl was another member of the Parking Lot Racing Team. Carl dorve around in a "pink" 56 Ford which he thinks he will be remembered for. Getting pockets full of money and becoming a heavy duty mechanic are his future plans.

EVERETT HUDLIN: Everett was an active member of the badminton club. He disliked getting up in the morning but liked getting out of school at lunch time (you have to take the good with bad, Everett).

ANDREW HUGHES: An active member of the outdoors club, the rugby and cross-country teams, Andrew liked learning things. "Watch out for short people who drink," is Andrew's advice.

NIKI HUGHES: Niki's most memorable moment at Vic High was when she was involved with the Miss Camosun Pageant. She likes the school spirit, but dislikes vandalism. Her future plans are to go to Camosun College.

SHARLENE HUGHES: "Shar" believes she will be remembered for collecting questionnaires and money for the hampers. She was embarrassed when she found she wasn't singing is empty halls and leaves us saying, Smile".

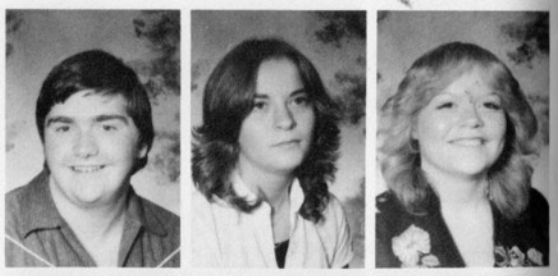
DAVE HULFORD: The "Master" has the ability to cheat while playing cards. Rat-hunting was his favorite sport, while the holidays were just as good. He plans to travel across Canada this summer and to become rich.

. . . and I told two friends and so on and so on . . .

DAVID HUME: David will be remembered as the "Humesoft Ltd"? His words of wisdom are: "Be youself, the best group is made up of total individuals."

DEANE HUMEN: "Deane the Beane" tells us the only club she participated in was the "Hooters". She tells us she disliked the bathrooms with no doors. The future? Unpredictable.

JAYNE HUNTINGTON: Jayne was blessed with no nickname. The only interest she mentioned was art. She hopes to be remembered for her English accent and wishes everyone luck.



TRIEN HUYNH: Trien liked many things at V.H. including English and the people. Trien's future plans include either going to training school or college.

JON ILNYTZKY: Jon Ilnytzky was so excited when writing the grad questionnaire. He wrote, "liked getting out at 2:15 and disliked having to arrive at 8:30." Hope your holidays arrive soon. Good Luck!

DELLA JABLONSKI: "Dillweed" was a cheerleader and in choir. She will be remembered for being late or on the absentee list. Della says, "Never miss classes because most of your marks are based on attendance, not your brain!"

DEBBIE JARVIE: Debbie is yet another among the many who did not hand in her questionnaire.

DONA JAY: Dona's future plans include becoming a computer technician and putting Radio Shack out of business with her own line of computers. She liked getting out at 2:15, but didn't enjoy being on the fourth floor when the fire alarm went.

GARY JOHANSEN: Gary's goal is mechanical engineering. A member of the Outdoors Club, the best part of school for this grad was "holiday and weekends."

SHIRLEY JOHNSON: "Squirly" liked the parties, automotives and R.A. this year. She advises, "Go for it." Shirley's future plans are to get a Sunbeam Alpine Sports Car.

DAMON JONES: "Bones" was a member of the boys' volleyball and track teams. Bones liked his two studies but disliked his five courses. He won't forget his graduation and says, "Get out while you have the chance (if you can open the doors!)."

SUE JONES: Sue played soccer and her most memorable moment was graduation. She has her whole future laid out: travel throughout Europe, go to college, then university, get married and have 2 children, but she hasn't decided on a career. Her words of wisdom are, "Keep Vic High #1."

VICKI KELLETT: Vicki was seen in Mr. McHugh's English class but other than that we haven't seen her.

WAYNE KELLY: "Zig" was involved in the swimming club and enjoyed the wild parties. In the future he hopes to swim in the 1984 Olympics and complete a four-year term of university studying injuries — ouch!

CONNIE KING: Connie is a member of the outdoors club. She liked the Camosun Beauty Contest, and getting out at 2:15. Her most memorable moments were meeting new friends and graduation. She wishes the undergrads "good luck"!

DEBBIE KING: "Deb" didn't have much to say except that the people at Vic High were nice and they cared. Debbie will always remember the awards day. Good luck Debbie.

MARY KINGCOTT: Mary was involved in band and being assistant coach for the boys' minor hockey. Mary disliked getting so many detentions for being late and was embarrassed about falling down the stairs. Her words of wisdom are, "These are your best years — live them up, don't waste them."

ALLEN KIPP: "Al", the "Burnout", liked all the parties this year. He says his most memorable day was his last. "Al" lives by the rules: D.S.R.R.

KRISHNA KLEAR: Krishna, who plans to go to university, liked this year because it was her last. Her words of wisdom to the undergrads are: "If I can do it, so can you."

PETER KO: We hope Ko's "embarrassing moment" was not in the rush hour; shorts on backwards could be a problem! At Press time, he's "Still looking" for his memorable moment! He styles himself as "A quiet person." His advice to undergrads: "Finish grade 12 and have a good time — Party!"

SHAUN KOK: Another unsolved mystery.

STACY KYCA: An active protester for uncleanliness in the school, Stacy enjoys rescuing ladies in distress! Semi-active member of the Outdoors Club (his rating), Stacy advises undergrads to let their lights shine! He expects to be remembered as an auto enthusiast.

MIKE LaFAVE: Seen but not heard from.

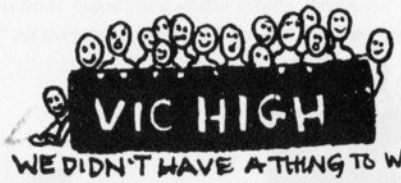
JAY LAIRD: "Jaybird" doesn't know why she's named that. (Probably because of her first name.) She will be remembered for being absent. She says to the undergrads, "Keep trying, you'll graduate sometime."

HEIDI LAMBETH: Known as "Moose" because of the ones on her sweater. Heidi was involved in the Outdoors club, Christian club and the school newspaper. Heidi hopes to work for one or two years and then attend a theological college.

KELLY LARGE: "Kell" enjoyed study period but disliked one of her teachers. She'll always be remembered for being late for classes and won't forget falling down stairs between blocks (grade 10).

CINDY LAROCQUE: Cindy enjoyed being with her friends, but walking into a door didn't help matters much. In leaving she says, "Finish grade 12 no matter how much you want to quit." She plans to become a secretary and then travel.

"I can't do a thing with my hair."



TOM IRVINE: The redeeming feature of Tom's questionnaire is his parting words: "Stick it out, it's worth it." He expects to be remembered for absolutely nothing. He plays grass hockey, dislikes "the boring lunch hour" and can hardly wait for school closing!

CORY JOHNSON: Take it easy Cory.

DENNIS JOHNSON: Big, tough and hard to scuff, "Moose" was on the soccer team and says they should have won at the B.C.'s. Among his best moments were looking at "beautiful chicks" and scoring the winning goal in the '79 Colonist Cup. The future? Dennis will look for a job.

CAROL JONES: Carol came back this year to "toot" her horn in the band.

DAVID KENNEDY: Dave was a member of the outdoors club and didn't take a liking to doing the cha-cha in C.R. 12. He liked the idea of this being his last year and will always remember his graduation. He hasn't any future plans so . . . good luck Dave!

SANDRA KILLIP: "Sandy" came to Vic High from Arizona and soon found herself right at home. Her future plans include working for a year and then attending U.B.C. to become a nurse.

CRAIG LATCHAM: Questionnaire's whereabouts unknown.

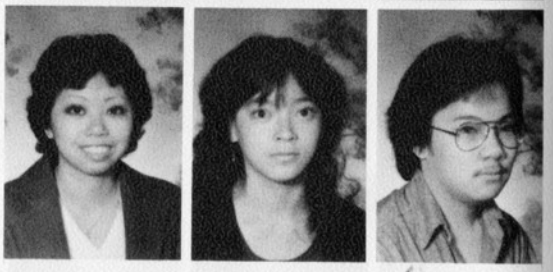
CORINNE LAUDER: "Animal" was involved in soccer and parking lot parties. her worst moment was putting her shorts on backwards in C.R. Cor's best moment was the Colonist Cup and the Camosun Pageant. Her words of wisdom are: "Grin and bear it!"

PAM LAVIGNE: "Dolly P's" memorable moment was becoming President of the Outdoor's club. She will be remembered for her smile, laugh and hiccups and of course, her long red hair! She plans to study physiotherapy, have children with her knight in shining armour and says, "Smile!"

ELLEN LEE: "The Stump" didn't like school sports yet she liked the rats on the first floor. Her most embarrassing moment at Vic High was when she fell down the stairs in the shop building. Ellen thinks she will be remembered for her outstanding lack of height.

GAIL LEE: "G" Lee was another one of those who forgot to hand in her questionnaire.

HOWARD LEE: "Howie" was in band and feels his most memorable moment was leaving. He will be remembered for roaming the halls and playing his flute in the band room during lunch. Good luck Howard.



LAUREN LEE: Winning $100.00 for an egg recipe was Lauren's most memorable moment. Might help in achieving her goals:"Go to U.B.C. and become a Home Ec. teacher." Chemistry classes, exams in particular, are anathema to Lauren. A pan of uncooked buns left her with a red face!

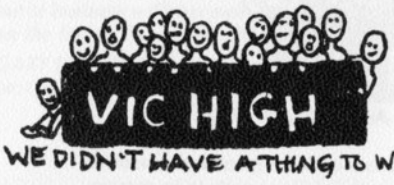
LYNN LEE: Lynn liked this year because it was her last. She offers wise advice to undergrads: "Don't quit on your last year." Her future plans include "Moving out." Good luck, Lynn.

NORMAN LEE: "Storman" figures it's not wise to trust teachers, yet spends many hours listening to Mr. Blasner's ski stories. Norman dislikes 12-minute runs and the stairs. He plans to go to university and persue a career as a doctor or dentist.

JACK LEES: Jack was involved in a few sports and a lot of "group activities." He liked Vic High because it had few pressures and advises "rock on and go for it!"

SUSAN LEONG: Susan's questionnaire is a mystery, just as she is.

JASON LEUNG: Jason was a member of the boys' volleyball and basketball teams and we know he will get a good "jump" in life.



WING-YU KOK: Have you and your questionnaire flown the coop?

AL LALANI: "Big Al" enjoyed playing on the badminton and the tennis club. His most embarrassing moment was finding out over the radio that the school was infested with rats, mites and mice.

NORM LECHELT: Norm left Vic High early this year. Hope you find success in whatever you do Norm.

KEIKO L'IDA: Keiko was another student who sailed quickly through Vic High and into another harbour.

The Kissing Bandits.

"Kiss me you fool."

GEOFF LEWIS: The most Geoff liked about his school year at Vic High was the view (that's it?). He thinks he will be remembered for his charm, wit, and total disregard for reality (that's what he thinks!). He doesn't have any words of wisdom or advice so we'll just say, "Good luck, Geoff."

DARRELL LIM: Darrell liked lunch breaks and holidays. His most memorable moment was graduating! He will be remembered for being late for first class (especially Chem. 12). Darrell plans to go to university to be a professional student.

HENRIQUE LIMA: Henrique was too busy planting "Lima" beans to fill out his questionnaire.

PAT LOHNER: Pat liked Mr. Gammon's math classes, but disliked her locker partner's egg sandwiches!?! Her best moment was passing Socials II. Her advice to undergrads: "Keep up Vic High spirit!"

KAL LOOF: Kal liked the parties this year. He found it embarrassing when he fell on his face in Socials (too much partying). His plans for the future are to become a lawyer. Words of wisdom? "Drink hearty and have a good time!"

LORETTA LORA: Is her true identity Loretta Lynn?

WENDY LOW: Wendy was into volleyball and feels she'll be remembered for being late to classes. She plans to become a key punch operator and says, "Time goes on, but memories live on forever."

ROBIN LOWE: Robin predicts he'll be remembered for his '64 Cutlass. he says there was "nothing much" that he liked about school. Good luck in the future, Robin.

DAVID LUCAS: We "lucas" all over for your questionnaire but we couldn't find it.

BETTY LUI: Highlight for Betty was the Choir and Band trip to California in February, 1980.

KAREN LUI: Karen took part in badminton this year. She says she'll always remember her first "A" in S.S. during her last year. Karen's parting words are: "When the moon is fullest it begins to wane; when it is darkest it begins to grow. Good luck!"

SHERWIN LUI: Sherwin was involved in bowling this year but didn't enjoy getting a detention from Mrs. "A" in grade 11. Sherwin enjoyed the last month of school but not the first alarms. Best of luck in the future, Sherwin.

CAROL LUM: Although Carol signed up for badminton and the camera club, she believes that she'll be remembered for not showing up to the meetings. Her best moment was looking at her report card. Carol's future plans are to become manager at the "Big M".

HOLLY LYONS: "Stit" was involved in band, CAGA, SIC and the Revolutionary Bops Society, and enjoyed the Yugoslavian lessons in the Band Room. Getting caught sleeping in class was most embarrassing. Holly plans to treat chronic neurotics, and advises, "Descendu, homme."

DOROTHY MacDONALD: "Dotty" was involved in several activities this year such as student parliament and the talent show. One of Dorothy's best moments was the choir trip of '80. Keep on singing Dorothy!

"Who needs a costume?"

TERESA MACK: "Terry" was an active member in drama, parliament, S.K.Y., sailing, and gymnastics. Her pet peeve — fire alarms! "Who me, trip up stairs?" Her interests include France and university.

KEN MacLEAN: "Dribbles" was a Grad Rep and an MSP. He liked lunch, drama, and 2:15. His most memorable moment was moose-kissing and breaking away from the moose. His advice to the undergrads is, "Keep your hands on your wallet."

ANNE MacNEIL: "Annie" will be remembered for her partying. She enjoys her leisure time, especially when parties are involved. Anne's advice is keep on partying and don't let school get you down.

ELLEN MAHAN: "Elroy" will be remembered for being Greg's girlfriend. She plans to be a hairdresser and says, "Good luck."

AMELITA MANDAP: "Shrimp" was active in swimming, badminton and the outdoors club. She says she will be remembered for being the shortest person among her many friends. Amelita will be attending university, then hopes to live in the Philippines. She says, "Good luck, grads."

NOEL MANN: Noel was another one of Vic High's partiers.

Oh Canada?

DON MARSHALL: Don conspicuously ignores the scholastic aspect of Vic High life. He expects to be remembered for his "FIREBIRD" and rates the Miss Camosun contest as his best moment! We wish him luck, he'll need it!

RICK MARSHMAN: He may be "Rick" to some but we guess the reason he didn't fill out his questionnaire is that he couldn't afford a pen.

LAURA MARWICK: Laura claims that she has the sexiest body in town, but if you wanted to see it you had to be present at the '81 talent show.

JOE MAURER: Joe, who doesn't have a nickname, wasn't involved in any clubs or sports. He thought that this year at Vic High was "easy", but he didn't like the rats and fleas (who does?).

MICHAEL McALEESE: We saw Michael wandering the halls this year but besides doing this we have no idea.

BEV McCLUSKY: Bev enjoyed meeting a certain someone in her S.S. II class (could his initials be C.G.?) and disliked coming here at 8:30 a.m. (don't we all?). She plans to get rich and marry someone special. She hopes "good luck" will accompany the undergrads in the years to come.

PHIL McCRORY: Can he "Phil" out a questionnaire? Your guess is as good as ours.

JESSIE McDOUGALL: Volleyball, basketball, parliament, and cabinet were pastimes for Jessie. She disliked going to block A, 100's of doors, and the many pets. Jessie leaves with the idea of marrying a millionaire and to have servants wait on her hand and foot.

RENAY McNEICE: Known as "Queen Charlottes", Renay says she'll be remembered for her knowledge of the Q.C. Islands. Renay was embarrassed when Mr. G. asked the class if she should be allowed in. A T.C.G. rep, her plans include B.F. and university.

GAIL MECREDY: A member of the Outdoors and Swim Club, Gail tells us she was embarrassed when she tripped up the stairs.

GEOFF MERNER: Geoff hopes to become filthy rich and to enjoy whatever he does. Geoff enjoyed constructing and painting his guitar, drawing and graduating.

SUE MILES: "Boo" was in basketball and cross-country. Her most memorable moment was running a cross-country practice in the rain with an umbrella. She will be remembered for her bad jokes and "pun"ishments. Sue says, "Keep up that Vic High spirit!" Her future palns are to marry a basketball player, travel and go to UVic to study law.

DAN MILLER: Mr. Miller was another strong silent type.

LORRAINE MINCKLER: "Minky" was involved in the outdoors club and swimming. What she liked most about the school was having a rowdy time in GP class with K.L. Lorraine's most embarrassing moment was tripping on front staircase. She says she would like a job as a daycare teacher and have fun with B.T.

EDITH MINNIS: "Silent Sam" found it very embarrassing walking into the wrong class and staying for ten minutes. She will always be remembered for arriving late and hopes in the future to become a receptionist that comes in contact with very amusing people.

DALLAS MOEN: As his memorable moment, "Sticks" claimed it to be the Colonist Cup. Active in Soccer, Ski Club, and being on the Tyees. Better throw that mirror away, Dallas, life will be easier!

BRENDA MOLLARD: The only thing we know about Brenda is that she doesn't believe in filling out grad questionnaires.

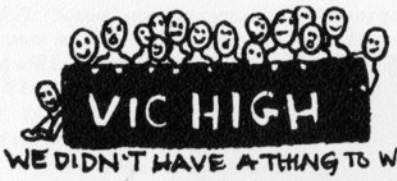
ANGELA MONTEIRO: Angela liked the people at school but found school boring at times. She wishes "good luck" to everyone and informs us her future plans are discreet.

TERESA MOODY: Teresa's great singing ability and playing the role of Dorothy in the Wizard of Oz is what we will remember her by.

ALLISON MOORE: "Flowertop", a future psychologist, best moment at V.H.S. was seeing Bunny Bissett wiggle his tail in the Miss Camosun contest. She considered this priceless but found it embarrassing not being able to find her classes on the first day of school.

ANGELA MORGAN: Shorty was involved in girls' soccer and liked the parties in the parking lot most of all at Vic High. In the future, she hopes to become one of Canada's top ten equestrian riders. What a neat way to make a living, Angela. Good luck!

"Someone told me this was the John."



KELLY LEESON: Kelly disliked the poor ability to straighten up and get rid of the mice, bugs, and rats. She'll always remember the Camosun Pageant as the most memorable moment of her year. Her words of wisdom are to "Stick with school and get a good education."

ROMY LOOF: Romy left school early this year in hopes of better things.

TRACY LOWERY: "H.R.S.B." says her worst moment was enrolling here and looks forward to grad. She hopes she is remembered for nothing bad and wishes next year's grads good luck. The future? Tracy plans to move away from Victoria.

ROSS MACKIE: Ross lost his "key" to his locker, where he kept his questionnaire.

SUSIE MAJOR: Susie was a very active member in the drama department at Vic High. Highlights for Susie were playing "Mama" in Marigolds and directing a play for this year's drama festival.

ROD MAR: Rod came for extra credits.

BARB MASSICK: Realizing this was her last year and only attending half days highlighted Barb's year. She didn't appreciate teachers nagging about the smoking area and leaves saying, "Don't quit now, you're almost finished."

TERRY MINNIE: Terry will be best remembered for his short stay in carpentry. He disliked a certain Mr. L. but liked skipping out and coming to class late. Terry's plans are to take up golf and become a car salesman. His words of wisdom are, "See ya next year."

ROSA MORNEAU: Another one of Vic High's partiers, Rosa will be remembered for her smile and laugh. She plans to work with retarded children in the future.

KEITH MORRIS: Well, Keith doesn't have a nickname, and wasn't involved in any sports or activities. He liked this year because it's his last year. Good luck in life, Keith.

SUSAN MOSLIN: Sue belongs to the Christian, newspaper and French clubs. She enjoys her friends and eating in the French club. Remember her cat Mr. Chan? She plans to be a good pianist and singer.

DAVE MOUNTAN: Another member of the "bar association," "Mountan Man" disliked 8:30 a.m. but liked automotives. Dave's future plans are to become "some kind of mechanic."

JOEY MURAI: Joey enjoyed himself at the Colonist Cup game in 79/80 and liked having a study in Block G. He would like to warn all undergrads not to take Mr. C. for Biology 12. (which Mr. C.?)

GURMIT NAHAL: "Stud" didn't have much to say this year. Grasshockey and automotives were his favourite things. Gurmit's future plans are to become a businessman.

KAREN NASH: Karen will always remember her friends and her first day at school and she'll best be remembered as "one of the lunchbunch in 204". She plans to become a seamstress and leaves saying, "Don't worry, the teachers won't be too hard on ya."

JOAN NELSON: Joan was yet another parking lot partier but she also enjoyed school games. She says, "Stick it out, Vic High is the best school of all." The future? Joan plans to have a big party and go around the world.

LYLE NESBITT: "Drillbit" was involved in rugby, outdoors club, and was a grad rep. He enjoyed the parking lot parties and disliked the physical character or changes of the school?! His best moment being a contestant in the Miss Camosun Pageant.

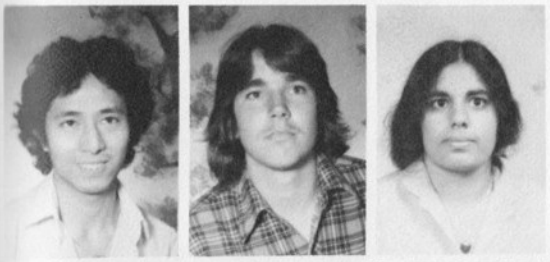
BILL NG: "Ho Yuen" got his nickname from being in China. (That makes sense.) The most he liked about his year at Vic High was that it was his last year. Good luck, Bill!

DON NG: Among "Beast's" dislikes were school conditions, washrooms, vandalism and a certain Mr. C., but he did like the girls. He plans to become a millionaire and own a Porsche.

WILLIAM NG: William was a member of the volleyball team. His future plans are to quit his job after he wins the Super Loto and to go travelling.

"I'd rather have an 'A' than a 'D'."

"Were you talking behind my back?"



WILSON NGAN: We got tired of "Ngan" him about his questionnaire so this is all he gets.

GEOFF NIELSON: Geoff disliked the fire alarms and going to school at 8:30, but he says he enjoyed the short school time. His worst moment was ballroom dancing in C.R., and his most memorable was the parking lot party last year.

BALDISH NIJJAR: Baldish will be remembered for her great laugh and smiling face.

BILL NIXON: Bill didn't shed any light on why he is nicknamed "the Shadow". It's hard to believe he has no dislikes when he says his most embarrassing moment was getting to school on time. He figures he will be remembered best for his partying.

MARGO NOBLE: In her graduating year Margo was involved in Drama. She tells us she likes all aspect of theatre but not ringing fire bells. Margo leaves us saying, "if you think Vic High is the best it will be."

MARC NOEL: "Sparky" liked the females at school but not their boyfriends! Marc was a member of the weightlifting club this year and hopes to either open his own health club or become an auto mechanic. To the undergrads Marc says: "remember only the strong survive."

ANTONIO NOGUEIRA: "Stud" was involved in soccer, grass hockey. Antonio says he won't forget playing grass hockey with a bandaged hand. Antonio says, "If you want to work hard all year, take sheet metal."

SANDY NYGAARD: Sandy was involved in drama and was the Editor of the Camosun yearbook. Her best moment was emceeing the Miss Camosun Pageant. She liked the school spirit but disliked the vandalism of our school. Sandy's future plan is to study art.

MIKE O'BRIEN: Mike liked the drawing at Vic High, but plans on becoming a journalist after graduation. His words of wisdom are: "Be nice to the mice."

KELLY OWENS: "Acest" liked working on his mini in the auto shop. While he wasn't working on his car, he would be practicing his weight-lifting."Acest", also known as "Red" says, "Take it easy, do lots of partying, and don't get busted!"

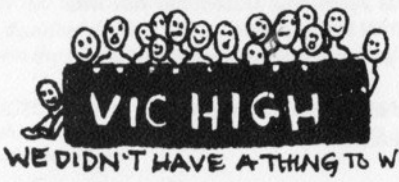
BALRAJ PALLAN: Balraj was embarrassed when he was mistaken as a large rat. He plans in the future to become the star center for the Los Angeles Lakers. Good luck Balraj!

SUSAN PARKER: Suzy wants to be remembered for her pinball power at Pat's Place. She likes Monday morning updates and was most embarrassed when she fell down in the hall. Famous last words: "Don't get mad, just laugh."

ALBERT PASCUZZI: "Scuze" was the captain of the Tyees but didn't get to play in the Colonist Cup or the B.C.'s because he wrecked his knee. He won't forget breaking an Oak Bay player's leg in a soccer game and will be remembered for his loud yelling in the hallways. He tells the undergrads to "stay in, 'cause it beats working".

DOUG PEARCE: The Vic High bar association was part of Doug's school year. Getting his '69 Mustang started was a great time but he wouldn't want to get caught cheating on garbage detail again. His plans include being a hot rod builder.

NADINE PEPPER: We would have added some spice to Nadine's questionnaire but she didn't hand one in.



WAYNE McARTHUR: Our guess is that Wayne was to busy trying to be a general to fill out his grad questionnaire.

TRACY McDONNEL: Tracy left Vic High this year to search for a brighter future.

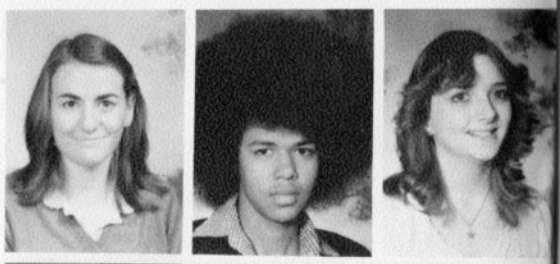
ROBERT OVERBECK: We believe that Robert is another who overlooked his questionnaire.

"Just taking out the empties."

PAOLA PERUSI: "Peruz" believes she will be remembered for dancing with music stands. A highlight for her was the '80 Choir trip and doing props for "Marigolds".

TONY PHEIFFER: The Pep Club and the parking lot parties kept "Fly" busy this year. Tony wishes to be remembered for being rowdy at soccer games, his "Affro", and for making bets with D.C. at dances. His most embarrassing moment was getting turned down by "Big eyes".

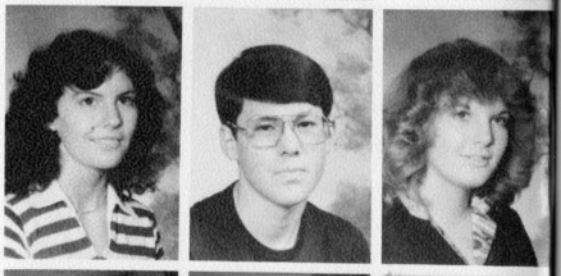
SUE PHILLIPS: Sue will be remembered for being a candidate in the Prime Minister election. Sue enjoyed her grad year and hopes to become the Manager of the Capitol 6.



CAROL PICTON: "Picky" was a member of the Student Parliament and was on the Cabinet. She will be remembered for skipping out and plans to go to Hawaii with R.O. Carol says, "keep planning for the future."

TODD POLINSKY: If you are out there Todd, have a happy future.

TRICIA POLLARD: "Baby Huey" was a Grad. Rep, and in the ABC club. She will be remembered for walking the halls in all blocks. Tricia plans to teach figure skating and says, "Enjoy and make the most of your last year of school."



DAVE POLLOCK: Dave, who was involved in track, finds VHS fantastic but thinks it needs a smoking room. Having the power go out during the Storm show was his worst moment. Being radical is what Dave is known for. "Gor for it," Dave advises the undergrads.

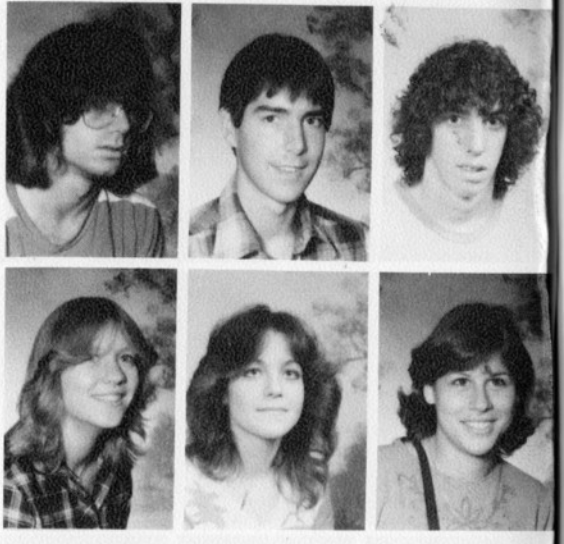
PETER PRICE: "Pistol Pete" enjoyed sleeping during English and was a member of the basketball team but found other interests (Who was she?). He found the water fountains and fire doors a pain and leaves saying, "It's finally over."

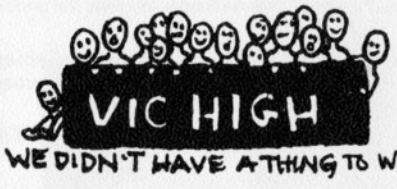
MIKE PUNGENTE: "Mego" was an active member in the Outdoors Club. He liked weekend parties and disliked 8:30 classes. He says to the undergrads "don't drink the water." Mego's plans for the future are to relax and hope someday to become an engineer.

THERESA QUILLÉVÉRÉ: Was her "Quill" to dry to write?

MARIA RAMA: Maria was another one of Vic High's quieter students.

BRUNA RAMPON: "Brutal" describes herself as "an outdoors person". What she liked about Vic High was meeting "some great people". Her dislikes . . . "vandalism and firebells". Her future plans include "Travel to Europe and study fashion design in Milan."





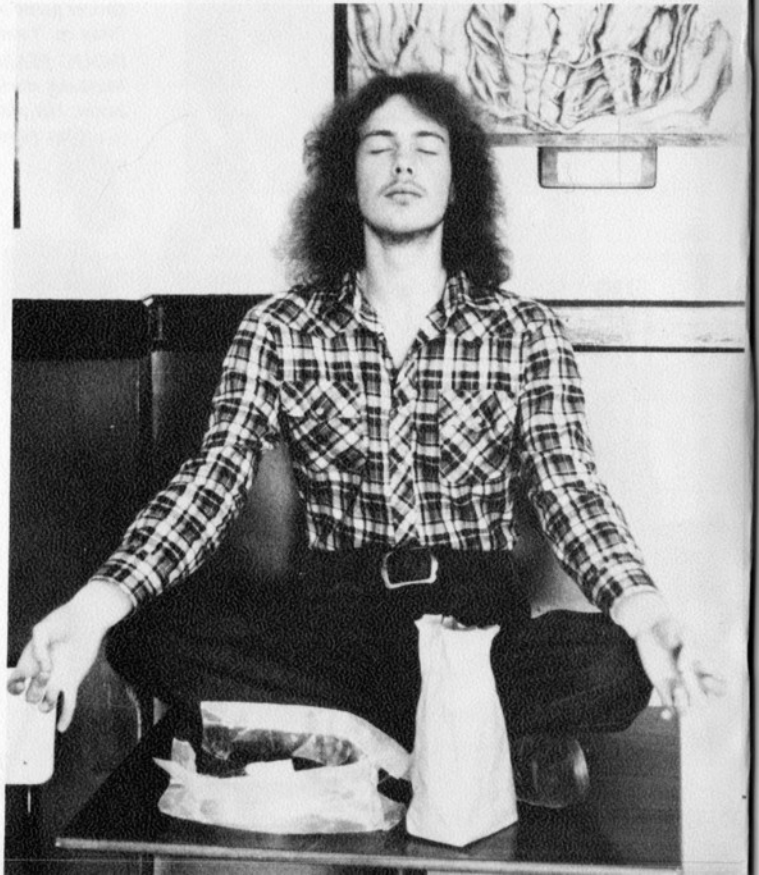
RICK PACKIEWICZ: Rick didn't have much to say except his best moments were spent out of school.

DANIELA PERUSI: Daniela was a part-time student this year who will be remembered for her great vocal cords.

EMILY PINESE: If you want to know about Emily you'll have to ask her yourself.

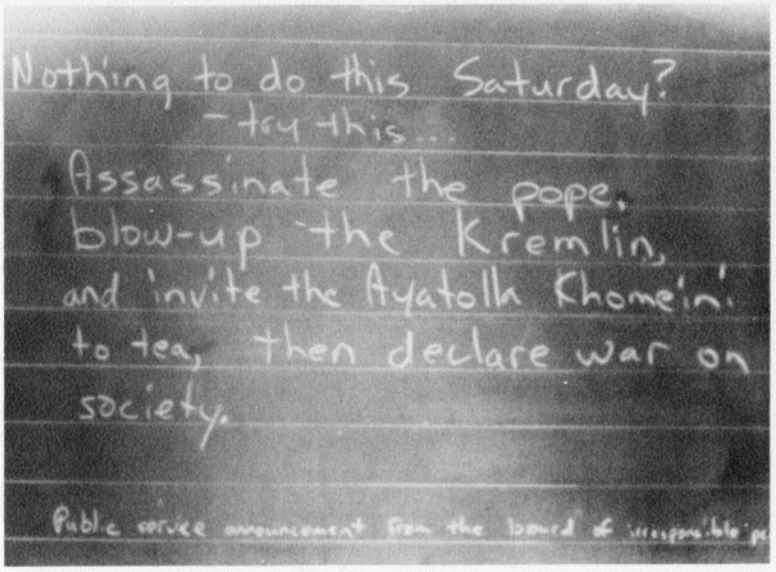
CAROL RAND: Carol skipped school early this year.

MURRAY REDFORD: We believe Murray and his questionnaire are visiting Robert in California.



"It helps my digestive system."

Self portrait.



Nothing to do this Saturday?
- try this...
Assassinate the pope,
blow-up the Kremlin, and invite the Ayatolla Khomein'i to tea, then declare war on society.
Public service announcement from the board of

This weekend's assignment.

JAGDISH RANDHAWA: Keep on smiling.

STEVE REBITT: "Rebit" was most embarrassed when he got yelled at by Mr. R. He plans to get into politics by voting when he is 18. Steve says, "Let the good times roll in grad 12."

LOREA REGAN: In surprising contrast to the things for which she hopes to be remembered, Lorea's future plans are commendable. We're glad she doesn't like "garbage", neither do we! Her advice to undergraduates is to "Graduate to prove to yourself you could do it."

JAMES REID: We will all remember James for his sexy gumboots in the Miss Camosun Pageant.

DONNA REITER: Hear say has it that a highlight for Donna was the Choir trip of '80.

TRACEY RENYARD: Tracey's nickname is "Duck" because she used to waddle. She enjoyed being in the sailing club and all school activities that took place this year. Tracey's future plans are to enter the Indy 500 and win!

ISABEL RIBEIRO: "Isy" found having a spare in block G exciting but found her lunch hours boring. She plans to attend university in the future and her words of wisdom to the undergrads are, "Hang in there."

LOUISE RIZZO: Louise was in curling, badminton and was a grad rep. She plans to attend university or go to Camosun College. Her words of wisdom are, "Make the most of your grad year."

GAYLE ROBINSON: Gayle enjoys her studies but dislikes her classes. Gayle advises that you stay in school because it's worth it in the end. She plans to go to Norway and travel around Europe with a friend.

TONY ROCHE: Was Tony too busy looking for his clip to fill out his questionnaire? We think so.

RICK ROODBOL: While Roodbol disliked some of the people at Vic High, he did like playing on the Tyees and helping them win the Colonist Cup 2 years in a row. In the future, Rick plans "to enjoy life and be successful."

GWYNNE ROSEBOROUGH: Gwynne who was on the volleyball team found it embarrassing when she fell asleep in English, and woke up to twenty pairs of eyes staring at her. She warns the undergrads to "beware of graduates."

GORDON RUFH: "Scruffy", who figures he'll be spending his future in an unemployment line liked this year because it was his last. Gordon wishes the undergrads "good luck". Good luck to you, Gordon.

PAUL RUSSELL: "Waylow" spent the majority of his year being involved in soccer, basketball and partying. Paul believes he will be remembered for his height. His advice is "keep up the reputation."

DAN SALMON: "Fish" participated in cross-country and swim team. He liked going to Van. for cross-country and disliked the mornings of a half mile walk to school. His last words are "do it right or don't bother at all!"

DAVID SANGARA: Getting good marks in school while having his liquid lunches was what "Tubby" liked. He'll be remembered for wearing an Indian head dress while smoking a peace pipe. Collecting U.I.C. and staying in the drinking club are his future plans.

TIM SANGHA: "Studly" took part in several pleasurable activities this year and, like many others, liked weekends and the swim meet. Best remembered for his "stud abilities", Tim tells us to "eat, drink and get merry."

TIM SANSOME: "Goofy" was embarrassed when he fell down the stairs, (is this his excuse for being late?). He advises the undergrads to "do it today, it may be illegal tomorrow."

ROB SANTAROSSA: Rob will be remembered for socializing in Algebra. He plans to purchase a '69 Boss Mustang and says, "Strive for best and beat the rest."

TOM SAXBY: Tom reports that he is a member of the "Vic High Bar Association". We hope that means "law"! To undergrads Tom says: "Take it easy." His goal is "to own my own shop". Watch out, Tom, your staff may "take it easy" too!

JUDY SCHUTTE: "Jud" likes VHS people but the boring lunch time really bugs her. Her best time was partying and Grad. Jud plans to take it easy for awhile, then travel and maybe go to UVic. Her words of wisdom: "Stay in school, but stay away from Mr. C."

DAVID SEGINOWICH: We believe that David will be remembered for his last name.

RANDY SEMPH: Another smiling face at Vic High that frequently had chats with Mr. Higgs every morning.

ELIZABETH SETO: This year "Liz" was in badminton and on the grad committee. She liked making new friends but not with the many doors. Her advice to the undergrads: "Know where you're going, because you can't afford to make too many mistakes in life."

BARB SHANDLEY: "N/A" found being on time for block A was a real drag, but liked discretionary days and holidays. Barb was on the grad committee which was enough overtime for her. Although she found it embarrassing not being able to find her locker, she considered it a highlight when she did find it. "Get a spare in block A is her advice to the undergrads."

DONN SHIPLEY: Looks like another mystery lady amongst us.

NANCY SHUCK: Nancy was in the pep club. She liked meeting new people, disliked snobby people and will be remembered for hanging around the cafeteria. Her plans for the future are to graduate. Nancy says to the undergrads, "Have fun, I'm glad I'm finished."

RICHARD SHUCK: Richard was in band and chorus, maybe that's the reason he thinks he'll be remembered for blowing his lungs and brains out. He also feels Victoria has had him long enough and wants to move to Vancouver.

SHELLY SIMONS: "Suds", by her own admission, dislikes "the boys" but loves the Band Room! No boys there? We wonder! High heels almost caused her downfall! Memories? She prefers to forget the past. Her future plans sound intriguing . . . A little house on the Prairie?

CHERYL SIMPSON: Cheryl's nickname is "shorty." Her most memorable moment was getting on the cheerleading team, and quitting two weeks later! Have a great future Cheryl.

MICHAEL ROBINSON: Michael was another student who was seen but not heard from.

MARK SAMUEL: Hope you enjoyed your year at Vic High Mark.

ALANA SEWID: Alana left Vic High early this year to seek greener pastures.

Static Electricity.

GEORGE SINCLAIR: What was one of George's pastimes this year? Kissing a certain lady in the stairwell.

ANDREW SKINNER: Andrew hopes to travel after graduating (if he can make it through the days he doesn't have studies). His best moment at Vic High was the grad party of '80, he also figures he'll be remembered for driving a different car everyday.

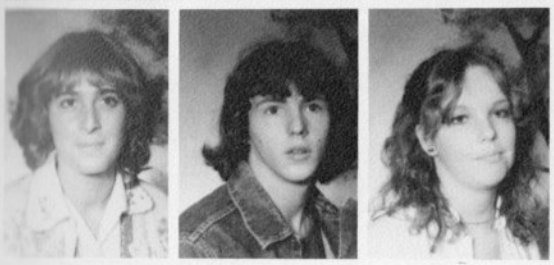
GREG SMART: Greg was on the Vic High Bar Association this year. He liked the 2:15 bell but disliked the 8:30 bell. Being rowdy in the back parking lot was his favourite activity. Greg's future plans are to be a heavy duty mechanic.

PETE SMITH: Pete didn't have much to say except he liked the parties. He wishes the undergrads "good luck" and says, "too bad, you have one more year."

TRACEY SMITH: Trace's plans for the future are to become a flight attendant for Air Canada and hopes that her grad will be her most memorable moment. Being involved in the yearbook and outdoors club, she says that just being remembered is good enough for her.

WENDY SO: Wendy enjoyed the learning experience at Vic High, but cannot recall any memorable moments except being in the badminton club.

The Last Waltz.



PENNY SPENCE: Penny was another one of us who disliked the firebells. She won't forget the day she first walked into this "huge" school. Penny plans to go to college and get a high paying job afterwards and says, "You're here for a good time, not a long time."

ROB SPINELLI: Because he looks like one, Rob has earned the nickname "Pizza." He liked getting high at lunch and, like many other students, disliked attending. As for the future, Rob plans to look for a job.

KIM SPOUSE: Kim, better known as "toothpick" or "bones", remembers her most embarrassing moment; falling down the stairs. Maybe that is why she plans to become a flight attendant. Kim says, "Hang loose and good luck."

KATHY STACCHI: "Purple Grape" dislikes getting up in the morning and will be remembered for her frequent visits to the cafeteria. Her advice to the undergrads is, "Don't skip out."

DARRIN STARCK: Darrin tells us that he liked this year because it's his last. He also says that his best moment was when he got "B's" on his report (a first). His words of advice are "stick it out."

CHERYL STEBBINGS: Cheryl was another of Vic High's partiers.

IVANO STEFANI: Ivano was invovled in noon ¾-hour parking lot parties. He says he's still hot over his embarrassment and that there's no memorable moments.

BETH STEWART: Beth likes the way this year went by so fast, but disliked the way the holidays went. She says she'll be remembered for hanging around the fourth floor at lunch time.

KEVIN STEWART: Like many others, Kevin hates the fire doors. To him, Life is so insignificant.

DOUG STINSON: Doug was another one of the "few" students in Vic High who liked to party in the parking lot. He hopes to make it big in the music business and have millions before 30 (no sweat, everybody does it). His words of wisdom are, "Hoot!" Same to you, Doug.

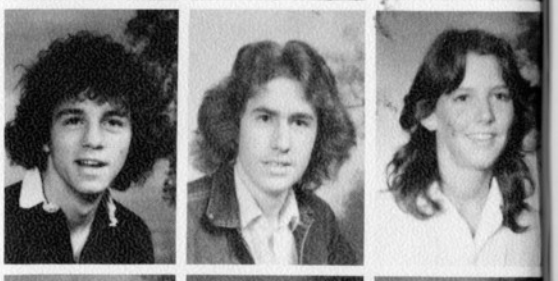
TREVOR STRANDLUND: Trevor's most memorable moment was winning the "MVP" award in badminton. His future plans are to become an architect. Good luck Trevor!

KELLY SUTTER: Kelly will be remembered for keeping the Vic High spirit flying. Among her many activities Kelly says Vic High parties and meeting new people were her favourites. Her plans are to go to California for the summer.

JIM TANNER: "J.T." was one of those fellows who liked watching all the "beautiful ladies" walk through the halls and telling off 6' guys. Remembered for bringing his dog Enzo to his classes Jim warns, "Stay away from ALL my girls or I'll be back."

GREG TANNOCK: Greg's main activity this year was partying. However, his most memorable moment was "getting out!" Greg hopes to become an electrician in the future.

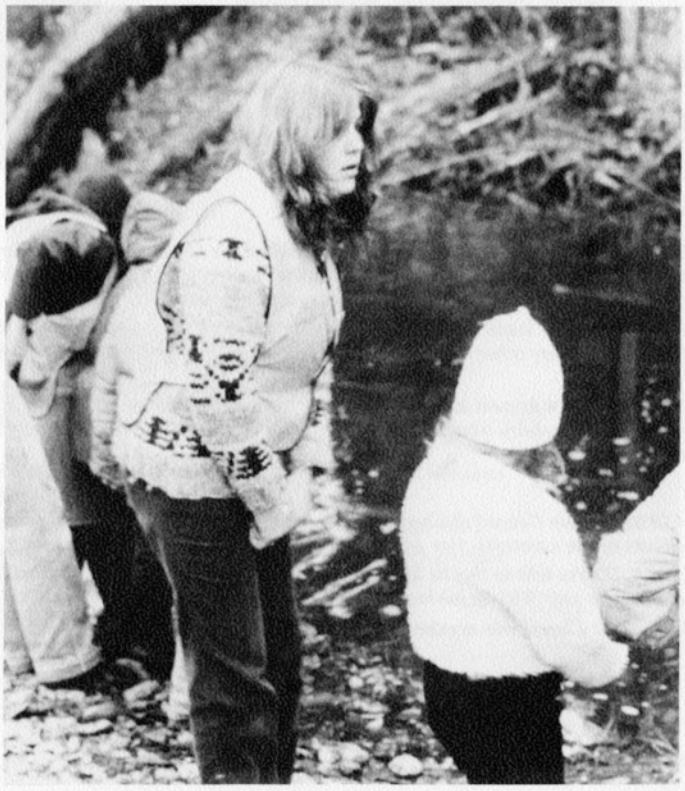
CAROLYN TAYLOR: Carolyn was an active member in cross-country and basketball. She disliked climbing the 72 stairs up to the 4th floor (all a part of training, Carolyn!), but liked getting rides home from R.B. Her future plans include travelling to distant places (like Sidney?!).



SANDRA THERA: "Sam" was a part the school chorus. Sandra plans to become a cruise director after going to college for French. Her words of advice are, "Try your hardest to make it all the way."

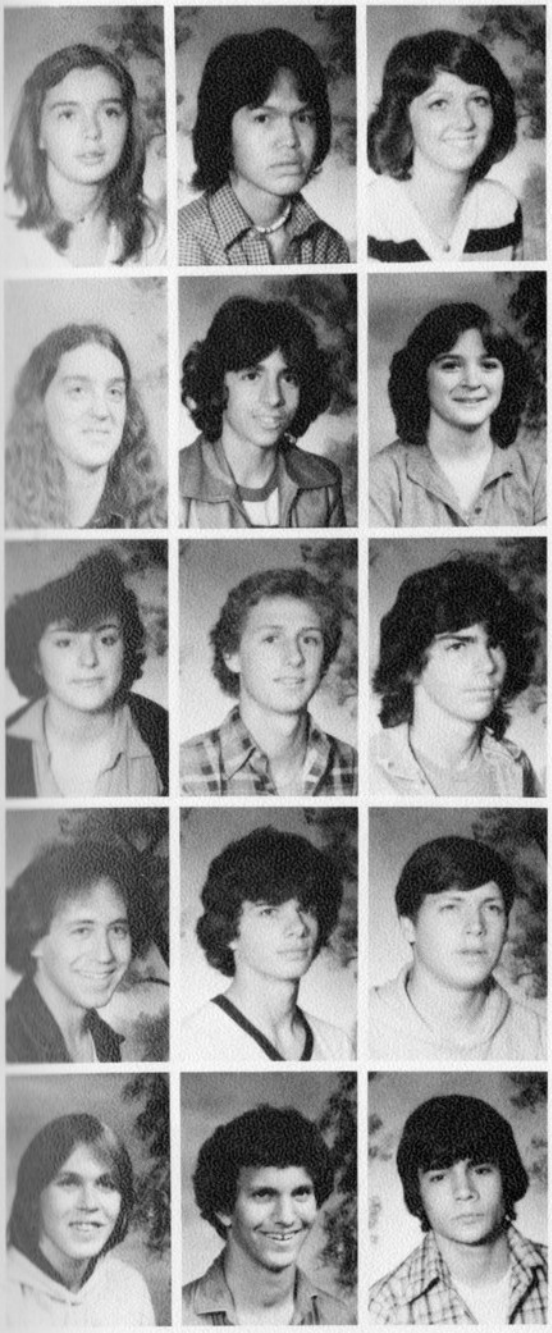
LISA THOMLINSON: Lisa figures she will be remembered for being "one of the four crows on a fence"?! Her future plans are to go to university and become trilingual.

LEILANI THOMPSON: "Lonnie" was T.C.G. Rep for her contact group. Involved with choir and Christian club, she plans "to become a youth pastor and special counsellor to teenagers."



Nature calls.

Follow the leader.



LOUISE THOMPSON: "Weezie, Smiles, and Chuckles" was a member of the folded grasshockey team. She enjoyed the good times and was "chilled" by the lack of heat on the 1st floor. The "kid with a mouthful of wires" plans to go to Sprott Shaw Business College and get married. She tells the undergrads to "Go for it" and enjoy grade 12.

DESMOND TOM: Desmond would like to be remembered for the frequency of his visits to the office on Monday mornings to check in late. He likes the longer lunch breaks this year. He plans to go to Tofino for awhile, then return to Camosun for a Careers Course.

CHRISTINE TOWNSEND: Christine did you 'send' your questionnaire to 'town'.

LESLIE TOWNSEND: Leslie didn't tell us much, only that she liked meeting new people and teachers. She leaves us saying, "Watch out for the teachers in the hallways."

JOE TROZZO: "JoJo liked "the group" but disliked the classes including Electronics II. Joe's plans for the future are to become rich.

CAROLYN TRUMBLE: "Bert & Ernie" plans to travel across the continent with the Vic High partiers, and leaves us say, "Vic High is what you make it."

MARIA TUBIO: Another quiet person at Vic High.

TONY TUCKER: "Toby" played soccer and basketball and enjoyed seeing the faces of the soccer team when they lost their first game in the B.C.'s. He says, "Undergrads are what makes the next school year."

MIKE TURNBULL: Mike was involved in "the being late for school club" and it wasn't unusual to see him in the office occasionally. He leaves us saying "Goodbye". Good luck Mike!

MIKE ULLERY: Spike likes going for a special "High" at lunch and dislikes geography in B block. He will be remembered for having the fastest car. His advice to the undergrads are not to take biology or geography.

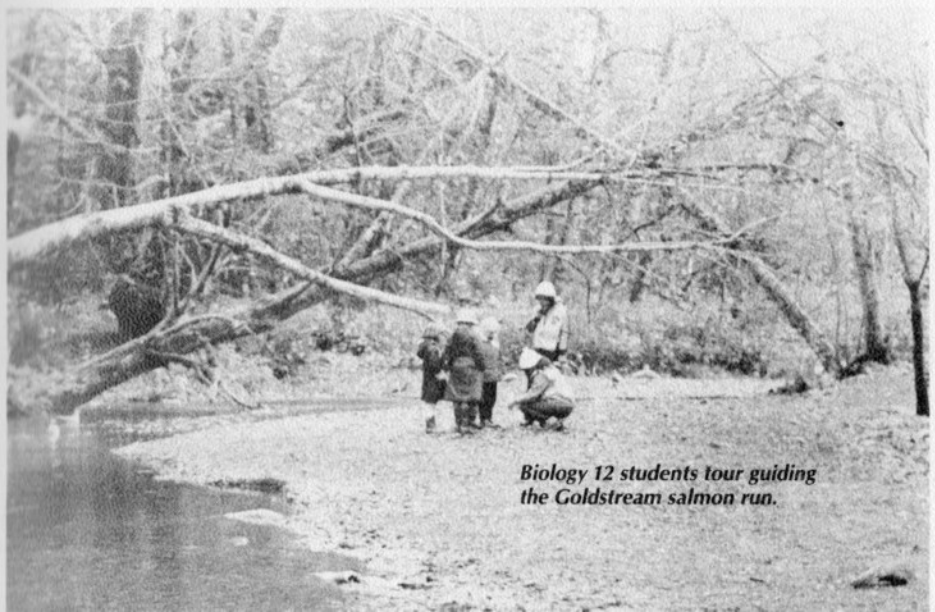
WAYNE UNGER: "Slits" was a member of the Victoria Judo Club and says he liked meeting more friends at Vic High. Wayne advises, "don't take electronics."

MARK URBANIAK: "Urb" is another person with an extreme dislike for rats and teachers. Mark thinks he will be remembered for sitting at the side of the office. (For what we couldn't guess.)

MIKE VAISANEN: Mike was another one of Vic High's partiers. He liked this year because it was his last and his best moment was graduation.

RUDI VANDENBROEK: "Dolphie" liked the cute birdies in the school. He took photography, badminton and scuba. Sitting in Mr. C.'s room at lunch is what Rudi thinks he will be remembered for. His plans for the future are to go to U. Vic. and study science while telling "fish stories".

LARRY VAN DER ROS: Larry's nickname is "Mundello" after Larry in "Leave it to Beaver." Besides his nickname, Larry didn't tell us much about himself. Best of luck in the future Larry!



Biology 12 students tour guiding the Goldstream salmon run.

REBECCA SHARE: Rebecca why don't you "Share" your questionnaire with us.

TED SPINELLI: Ted's nickname is "Ted Theodore Nugent!" He didn't have much to say except that he enjoyed partying and to "watch where you smoke."

KIM TAYLOR: She left early this year.

JOHN TURNBULL: This year, John liked meeting new people and looking forward to the good times ahead. John says, "Make the best of your last year."

CHRIS VARGA: It seems Chris praises lunchtime and holidays. He feels embarrassed because he couldn't start his Firebird. Chris advises the undergrads to "enjoy school while you can."

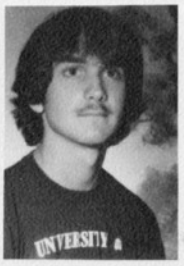
CONNIE VESSEY: Connie liked her two studies and her "fantastic" English class, but was not too hot on Mrs. N. or the time her hair changed colour. Known for talking without breathing, she says, "Grade 12 is the best year."

BEVERLEY WAIDACHER: Bev didn't like her test marks, but she enjoyed graduating and Fridays. She thinks she will be remembered for her unpronounceable last name and leaves us saying, "Party, party, and then party more."

SCOTT WARDELL: We're glad Scott finally got a "B" despite his parking lot parties and cruising in the halls! His parting words: "Those who skip out will not learn, those who are smart will not return."

ROB WATTS: California Boy likes partying with VHS people at Mount Doug beach. Remember his car? Rob plans to go to UVic next year then to UBC. "Keep up the party spirit!"

CATHY WEBERG: This year "Worm" really liked the teachers who helped her make it through her business courses. She didn't like the "cool" people who walked around "struttin their stuff". To the undergrads she leaves the words of a song . . . On a clear day, rise and look around you . . .



CHRIS WEBSTER: Chris is active in basketball and soccer. Her best moments are when she passes a test! Chris dislikes homework; can hardly wait for 2:15 which may have brought about her embarrassing moment, "When my ankle twisted!"

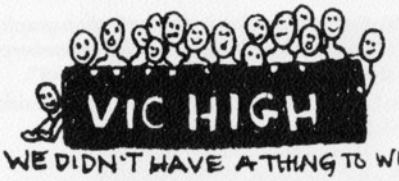
RONALD WELCH: "Cid" has a fetish for the B.C. apples. Ron's activities included reading graffiti in the washroom.

ROD WEST: "Zoomer" was another one on Vic High's Parking Lot Racing Team. His pastimes are pulling cars out of gutters with his V.W. He plans to pass grade twelve and become a "heavy duty" mechanic.

VERNE WESTNEDGE: Verne likes "getting out early" and dislikes "going in early". Take it easy, Verne.

NORMAN WHITE: This year, Norman was very busy as he was involved in Drama, Band, Photography and Student Parliament. He says he will be remembered for putting up with John Herbert's jokes (he's not the only one). He hopes to be a travel agent in the future. Bon Voyage, Norman!

GORDON WICKETT: "Wicky" liked carpentry and the teacher. He warns us "not to get to school on time". Gordon advises us to indulge as much as possible.



DAVE WINTERS: "Big Red", so called because of his size and hair color, liked to think back and reminisce on high times in the parking lot. His parting words are, "Go for what you know, and let the good times roll!"

TED YELOVATZ: Ted hopes to be remembered at Vic High for his car. (even though he lost his keys) He liked his spares, and graduating was his most memorable moment.

Everything's nice when you share it with a friend.

BILL WILLIAMS: Bill was involved in soccer this year and partying in the parking lot. "Vic High is No. 1," says Bill. "Keep it that way!"

PETER WILLIAMS: "Pete's" future plans include "making a million." He liked this year because it's his last and tells us to remember "Vic High Rules."

CINDY WONG: "Chinababy" has been seen playing "doubles" in volleyball. She likes meeting people and getting to know them. She's glad she made it through school, and advises that we keep up the spirit.

MAUREEN WONG: "Moe" was involved in a lot this year: parliament, volleyball and badminton. She will be remembered for being too short to spike or block the volleyball. Her plans are to attend college, travel, and marry a volleyball player.

SALLY WONG: "Chilli" was a member of the badminton team this year. She said she enjoyed meeting a certain guy from Spectrum. Sally hopes to graduate, but has no future plans.

WENDY WONG: "Wing Wong" was embarrassed when her high heels tripped her on the stairs! She will be remembered for not coming to school in the morning and having coffee at Pat's Place.

JESSICA WRIGLEY: Night rehearsals for Marigolds and Oz is what Jessica liked about her year. Jessica liked her Lit and Civ. classes and tells us she plans to be very successful in the arts.

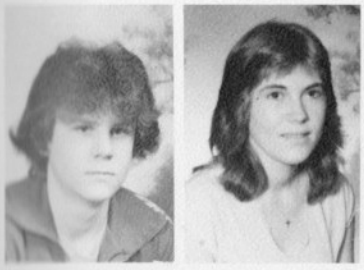
JANE WU: Jane liked meeting people and sharing good times with her friends. Her words of wisdom are: "Make your last year nothing but the best!" Jane's future plans are to succeed in fashion designing. Good luck, Jane!

RUSSELL YAN: Although we saw Russell hanging around the gym we saw no sign of his questionnaire.

DAVE YEE: Can he ride a bike? Who knows! He loved long lunch hours and his spare in Block C. He leaves us saying, "A car is a person's castle."

ANNA YONG: Anna who was involved in badminton this year didn't like all the stairs, firebells or classes without heat. She did like the 2:15 bell though. In the future Anna plans to travel around the world.

DAVID YOUNG: David was another student who didn't fill out his grad questionnaire. (Maybe he couldn't find a pen.)



PHIL YOUNG: Phil's nickname is "Felix" and when asked why, he said "from Phil!" Felix was active in basketball, soccer and swimming. His future plans are to drink, eat, and be married!

SHERRY YOUNG: Sherry was another who left Vic High early this year.

"There's a fly in my soup."

Reminiscing of teachers . . . and classes . . . and friends.

Besides the basic academic courses, students participated in many activities in and out of the building. Activities such as these help to prepare the students for life in general.

Yule humbug from teachers

Provincial Secretary Evan Wolfe expects to get around 30,000 more Christmas cards than anyone else in government this year.

None will be from friends of the family and the greetings will not be warm.

The B.C. Teachers' Federation has had 30,000 of the cards printed, has shipped one to each school teacher in the province and suggested all 30,000 be mailed in to Wolfe.

He received the first 100 Monday, most of them unsigned.

The front of the card shows a group of three, hat in hand and representing the teachers' pension committee. The trio is standing in front of a wolf snarling "Humbug."

Inside the card the message reads: "I am the ghost of Christmas past."

The Christmas card protest is part of the teachers' fight to get open indexing restored to their pensions.

The government has placed an estimated eight-per-cent ceiling on cost-of-living increases in teachers' pesnions. The teachers want a return to full indexing.

LIVING FIRE

Whispering winds sweep through the empty hallways
Tossing about lost memories of things that used to be . . .
The house, once warm and full of love, now stands alone
A victim of the autumn winds — this house was once our home.
The carpets of ash lead me through the rooms — to times
When we were all here. Who would have known
Through those happy times — that sad times were so near?
Ghosts haunt the living-room. On a cold winter's night we'd sit
The smell of pine emitted when the fireplace was lit —
And sent a glow of fantasy that warmed the winter chill.
A heavy cloud of panic still lingers in that room.
As I recall how quickly that one small spark escaped
And killed every living memory because of one mistake.
Who was it that forgot to keep the screen where it should be?
A haunting guilty conscience tells my mind that it was me.
The walls that we all painted white are black with ash and soot,
And the cedar floors mom washed each week lie rotten underfoot.
A screaming wind runs through my head
A painful memory of the dead
As voices echo through the halls
And laughter sounds through cracks in walls.
Terror chases me back in time
To the night I lost all that was mine.
That cold winter night so long ago
When my childhood melted into the snow.

Sue Miles

Your troubles seem quite small to me
While mine, you say it's plain to see
Against your beach are grains of sand.
But you, of course, don't understand
The frightful burdens that I bear,
While you glide by without a care.
I wonder if we'd feel this way
If we'd trade places for a day.

Sue Miles

NIGHT RIDE

To be in love with the morning is more than enough reason to stay up all night.
Galloping through the fields with the moon shining above me and the gentle breeze that surrounded me.
I felt the muscles strain and move with every step the black stallion took;
Rippling like the smooth running water of a clear brook.
The darkness that surrounded me slowly disappeared to nothingness, and
The golden rays of sunshine took its place.
Looking out over the valley I saw the multi-coloured trees of autumn give off a shimmering appearance,
As the cool dew evaporated until the ground looked dry and barren once more.
The sun rose above the mountains,
And I knew that my night ride was over.

Janice Hepburn

She rides in the night
Stars illuminate her power.
Translucent waves envelope her plight.
Alas, nothing she does can go wrong;
only right.
Though within her she holds a little doubt,
To the mortal world she has already conquered.
Her presence will always remain about,
even when existence is unavoidably faultered.

WHAT HAPPENED?

Whatever happened to Grandma?
She goes to school, that's what.
For she doesn't want to stagnate
With a brain that goes to pot!

She studied French and Yearbook,
What's more she passed the test,
For her there'll be no settling
Like a broody hen on nest!

She's not out to make great records,
Or to show off any knowledge,
She plans to stay at Vic High School,
Does not aspire to College.

But while she keeps on learning,
She says that life is fun,
And sends a great big "thank you"
To the students, every one.

To the Staff and patient teachers
Who with seniors learn to cope,
May the Good Lord bless and keep you,
That is Grandma's earnest hope!

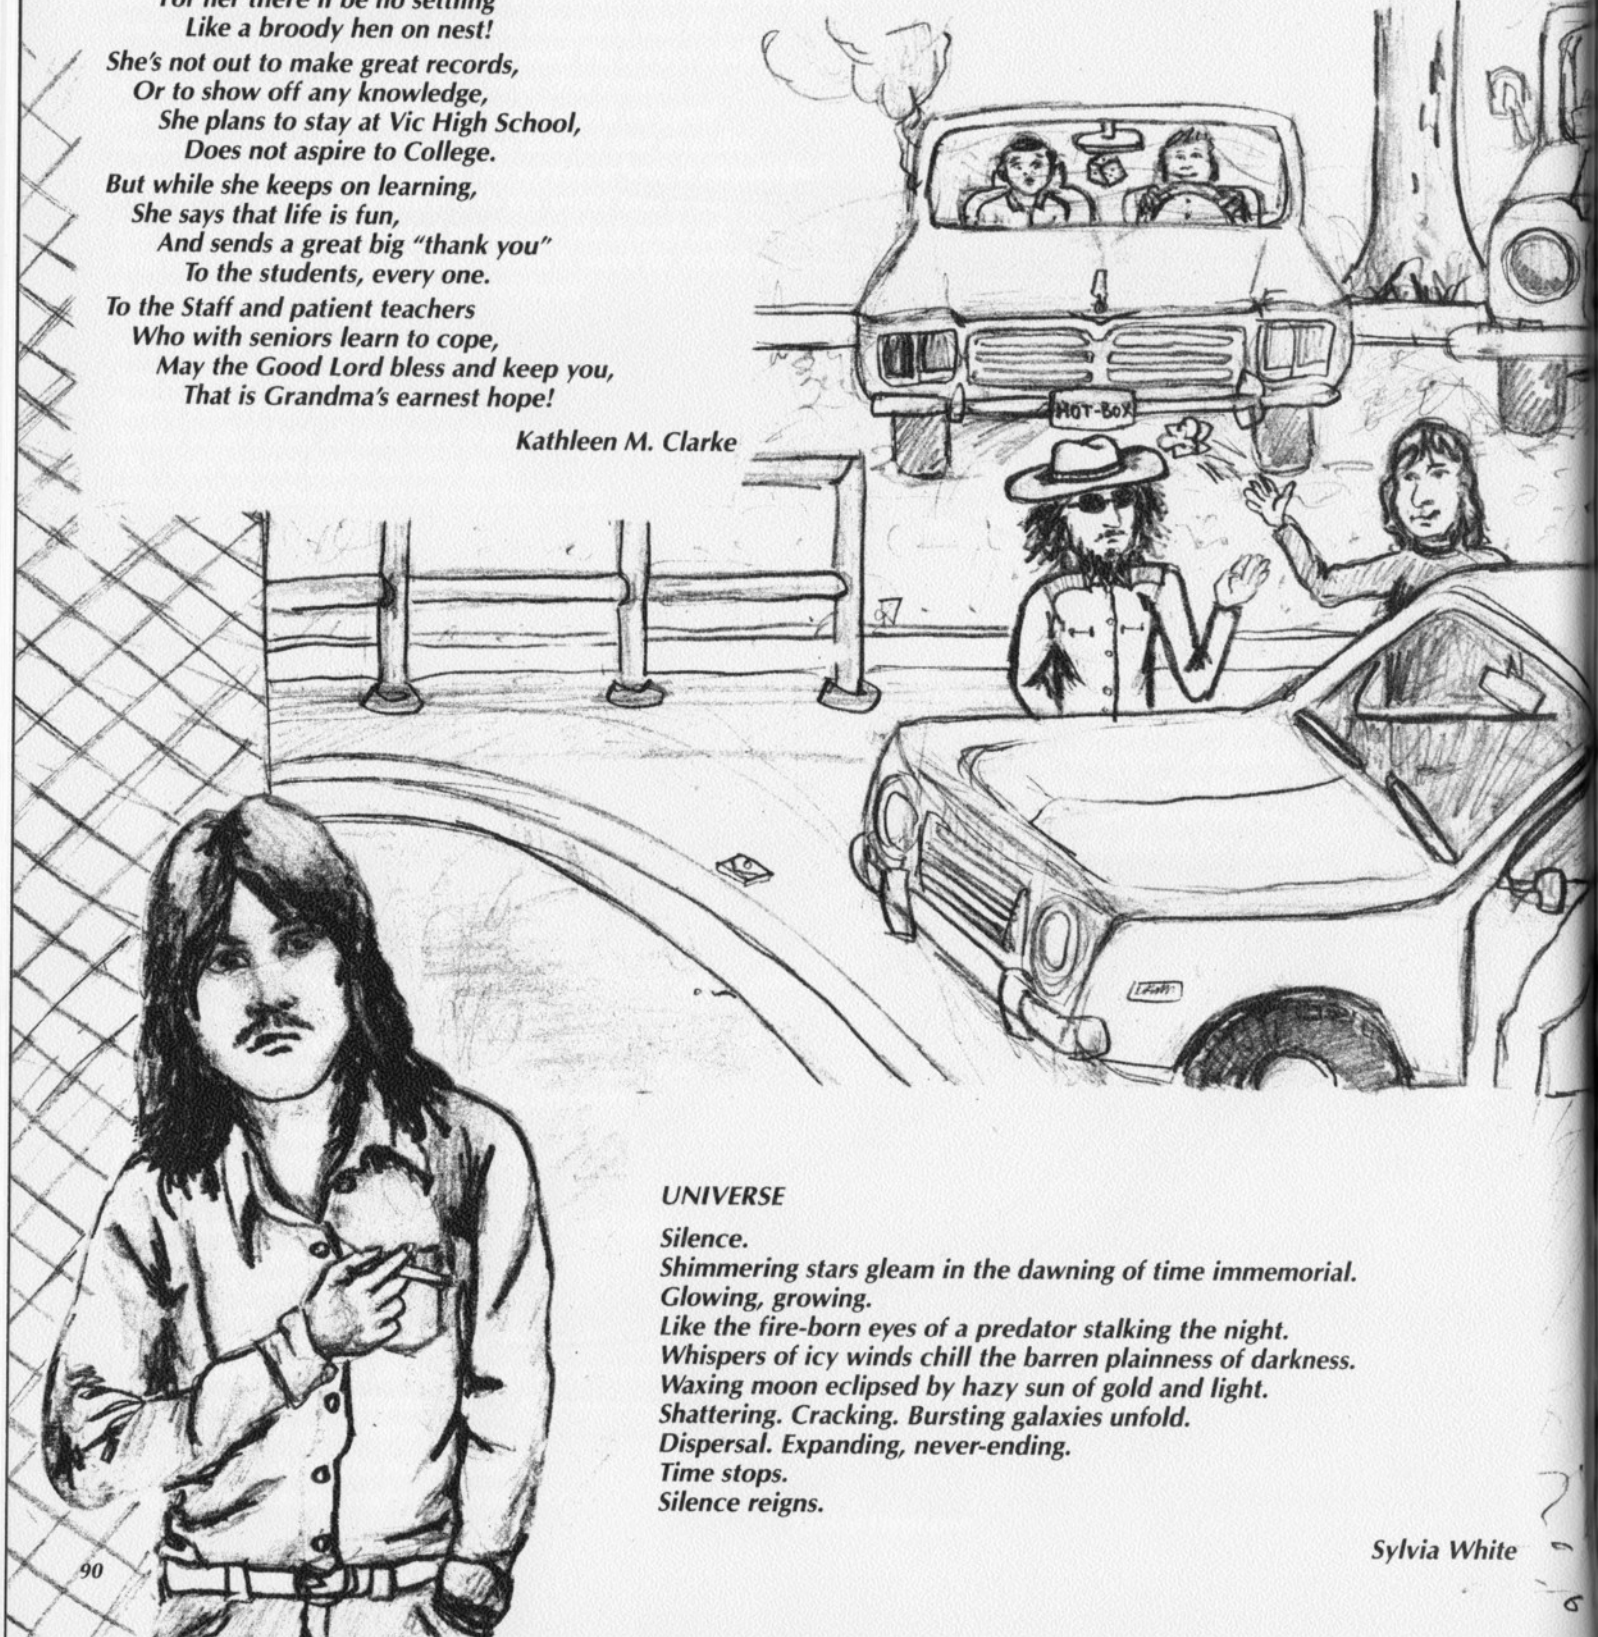
BATHROOM ROCK

It's on the second floor, off the hall,
Where music is written, on the bathroom wall.
It is here where you'll find musical opinions,
From A.C./D.C. to LED ZEPPELIN.
Though others try, they cannot win,
For it is written, that rock is in.

Nolan Harbar



UNIVERSE

Silence.
Shimmering stars gleam in the dawning of time immemorial.
Glowing, growing.
Like the fire-born eyes of a predator stalking the night.
Whispers of icy winds chill the barren plainness of darkness.
Waxing moon eclipsed by hazy sun of gold and light.
Shattering. Cracking. Bursting galaxies unfold.
Dispersal. Expanding, never-ending.
Time stops.
Silence reigns.

Sylvia White

THE SOCCER GAMES

You need not look hard, for they're all in the stands
They sit and they smile, with bottles in hand.
They'll laugh and they'll cheer, they'll boo and they'll hiss,
And it won't take you long to realize they're pissed.
They're wrecked and so happy, rowdier than most,
But one thing for certain, they're a different kind of host.
"Vic High's the best," and it's true what they said,
For like them, the rest of the students, consist mainly of heads.

Nolan Harbar

THE STUDENT

Everyone turns as he enters the class,
They stare at his eyes, for they're strangely like glass.
There's a pleasant aroma, smelt in the air,
The teacher remarks, but he does not care,
For in true reality, he is not there.
He sits, and he dreams, on his face is a smile,
He's free from conflicts, at least for awhile.
He is so wicked, the Holy ones say,
But obtaining peace in his own little way,
He'll try at life, some other day.

Nolan Harbar

The candle flame flickered with an orange glow, while sending silhouettes of myself on the wall
Watching the light with a feeling of comfort
Like a gypsy and her great crystal ball.
The silence was golden, the air very still
There I was, open minded,
as I sat
First came the purring, distinct and cool
Then I saw Libby, our black magic cat.
I enjoy to be alone at times
Though her presence I did not object
My feline friend just did her own thing
She was sleepy, I could easily detect
For seconds she stared, after her yawn stared with eyes of amber in the light
This I say would just take you away
On that starry bright moon-light night

Jim Fofonoff

IT'S YOUR TURN TO REMEMBER

All of my life I felt that you were listening. In all of my dreams, you were there as the reflections of my visions of living.

But now you are gone and I must live the days twice, with your smile, your laughter and your beautiful face.

You won't be forgotten, I can assure you of that, for good people remember the great times we had.

Your words still haunt me by that fire, so warm, and I'd like you to know that it's your turn to remember. I still love you like before, now — AND FOREVER.

REST IN PEACE

J.J.

FRIENDSHIP

In the years before we met,
The friends I had were few,
I always wished that I would get,
A friend as dear as you.

I remember that stormy argument,
And I was on your side,
I understood your problems,
And in you I could confide.

I had a beautiful thought,
So far up in my mind,
That you were the one to be my friend,
Because you were so kind.

I knew I had to find a way,
To show you that I cared,
So I thanked you on that special day,
For the friendship that we shared.

I was glad that you were here,
To help pass the time of day,
And I never had a fear,
That you would go away.

And now I look upon the days,
Of the friendship that we shared,
And everything you said to me,
Showed me that you cared.

Della Jablonski

GRADS

Good bye my friends
I really did enjoy you so
Many I met through a
Simple smile or a shy hello
Dear friends you mean a lot to me
Good bye my friends
I'll miss the times we shared
Before a test, happy or scared
These feelings will always stay with me
Good bye my friends
Remember our cafeteria room
Where we sat and talked
But the hour seemed to pass too soon
Our smiles were sent all around
No better friends could I have found
Good bye my friends
Now we are sent in the world to mix with others
Finding new ways of life
Finding new friends
Believing in different things
Oh dear friends
All I can say is Good bye, good luck
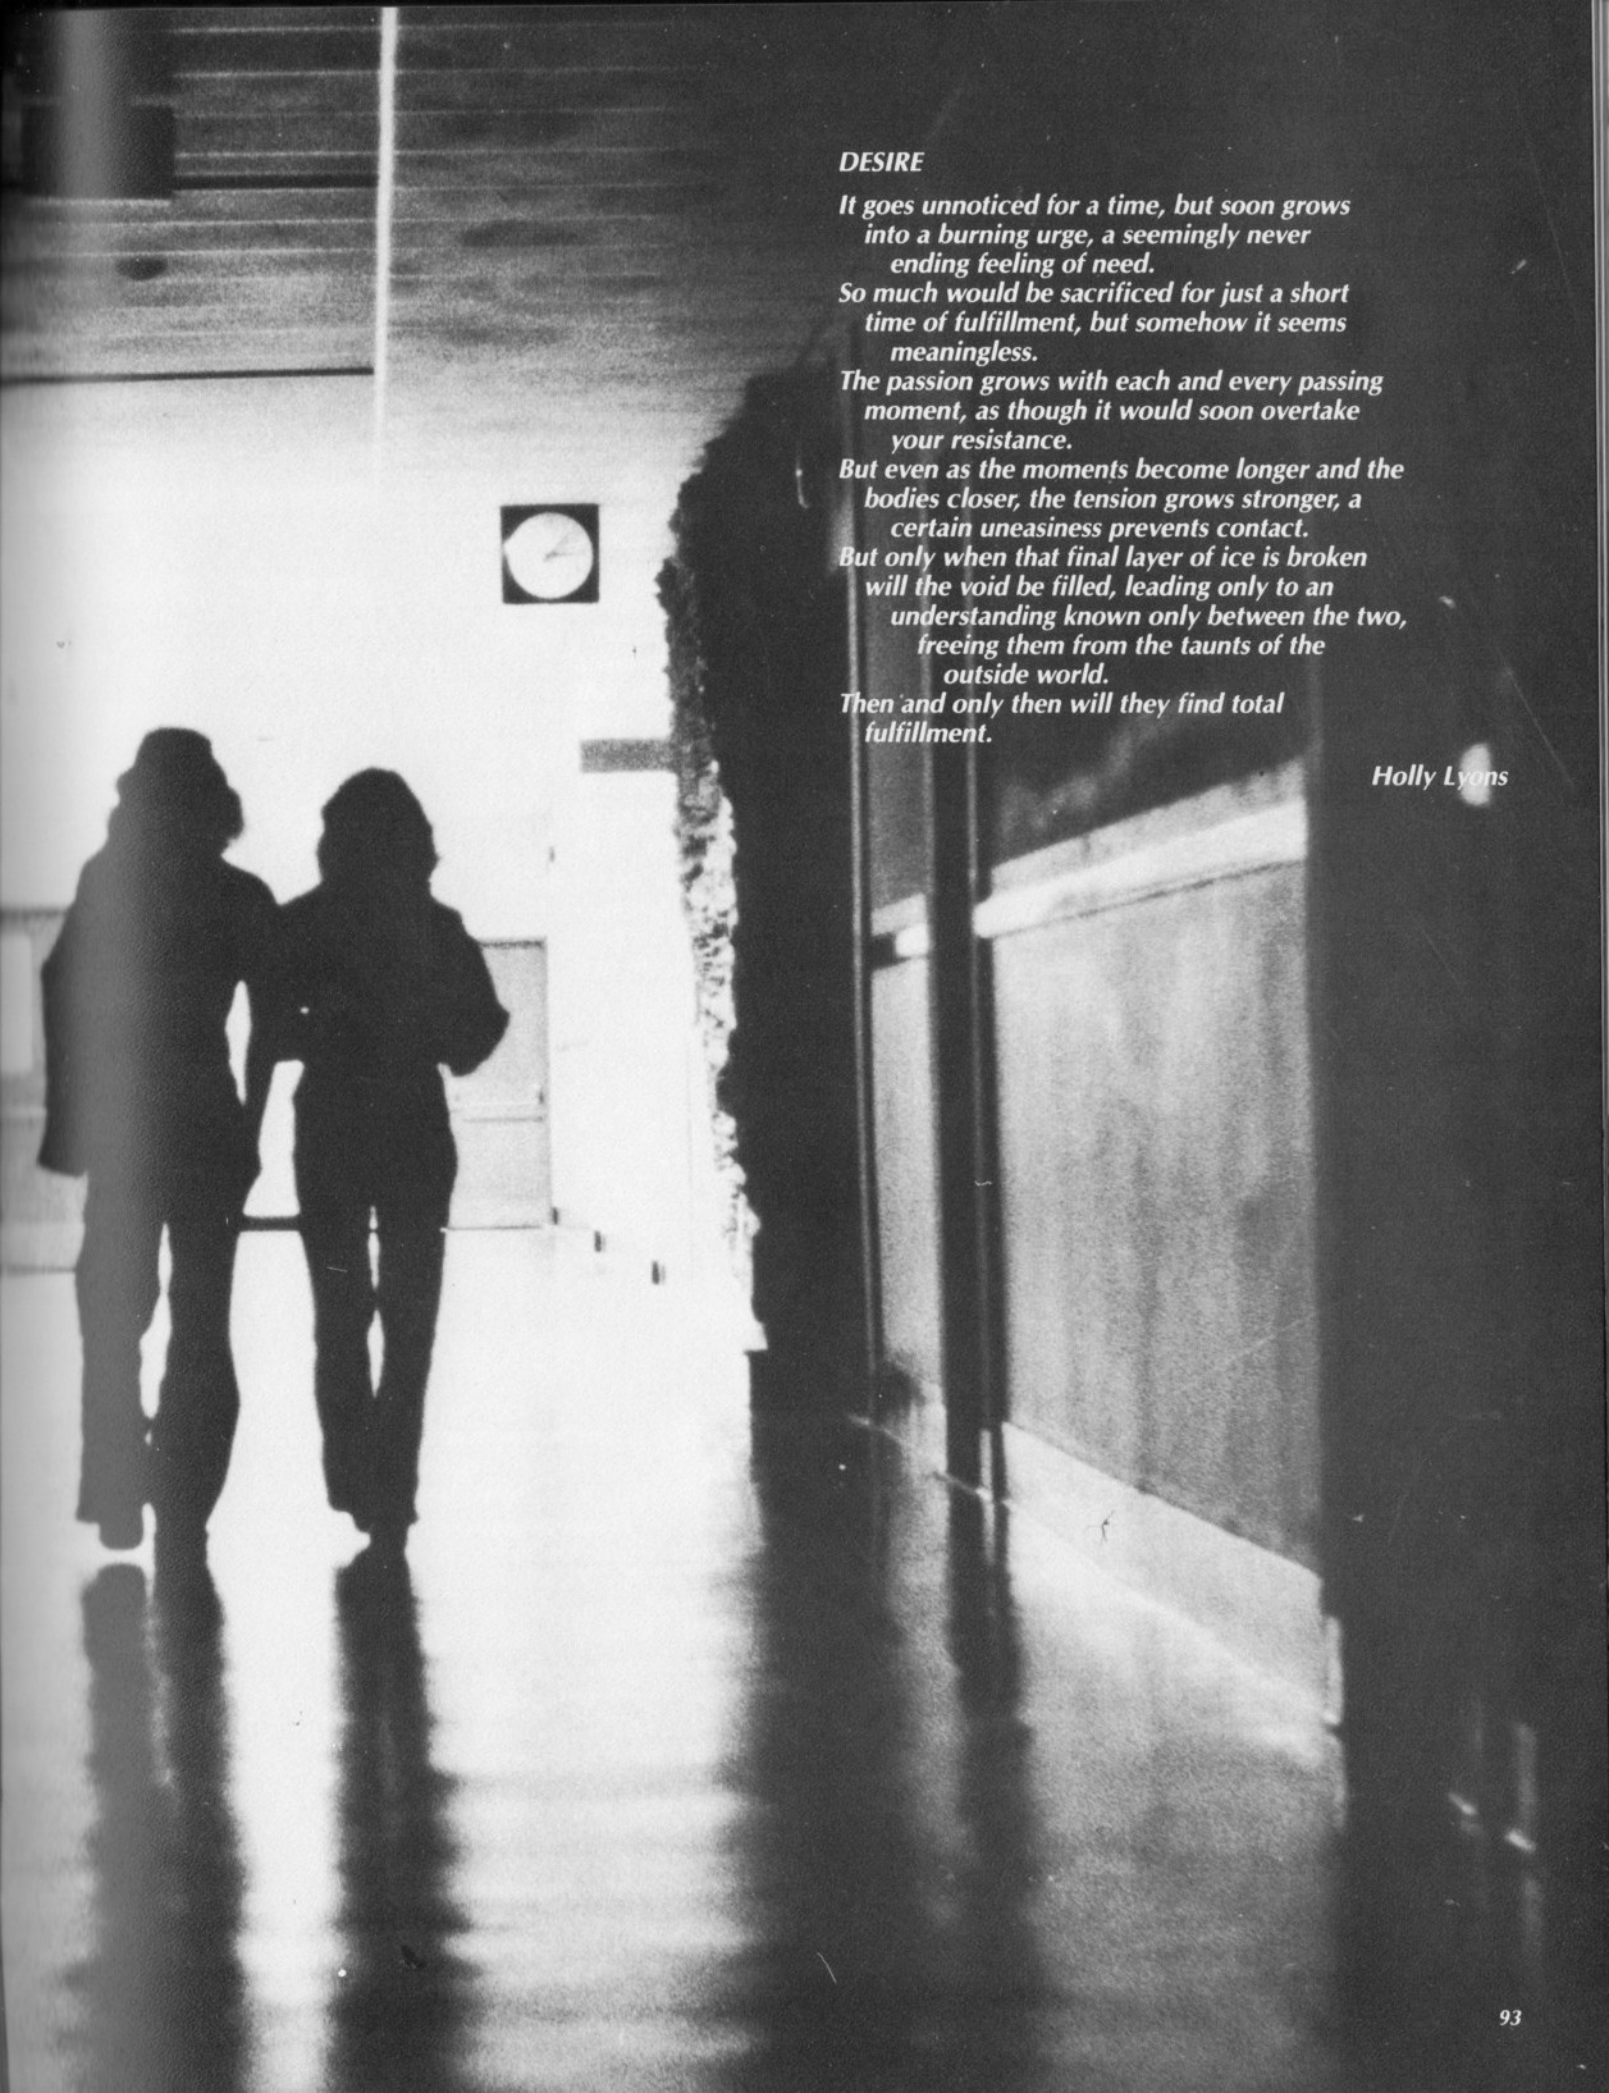
And hope to see you again someday.

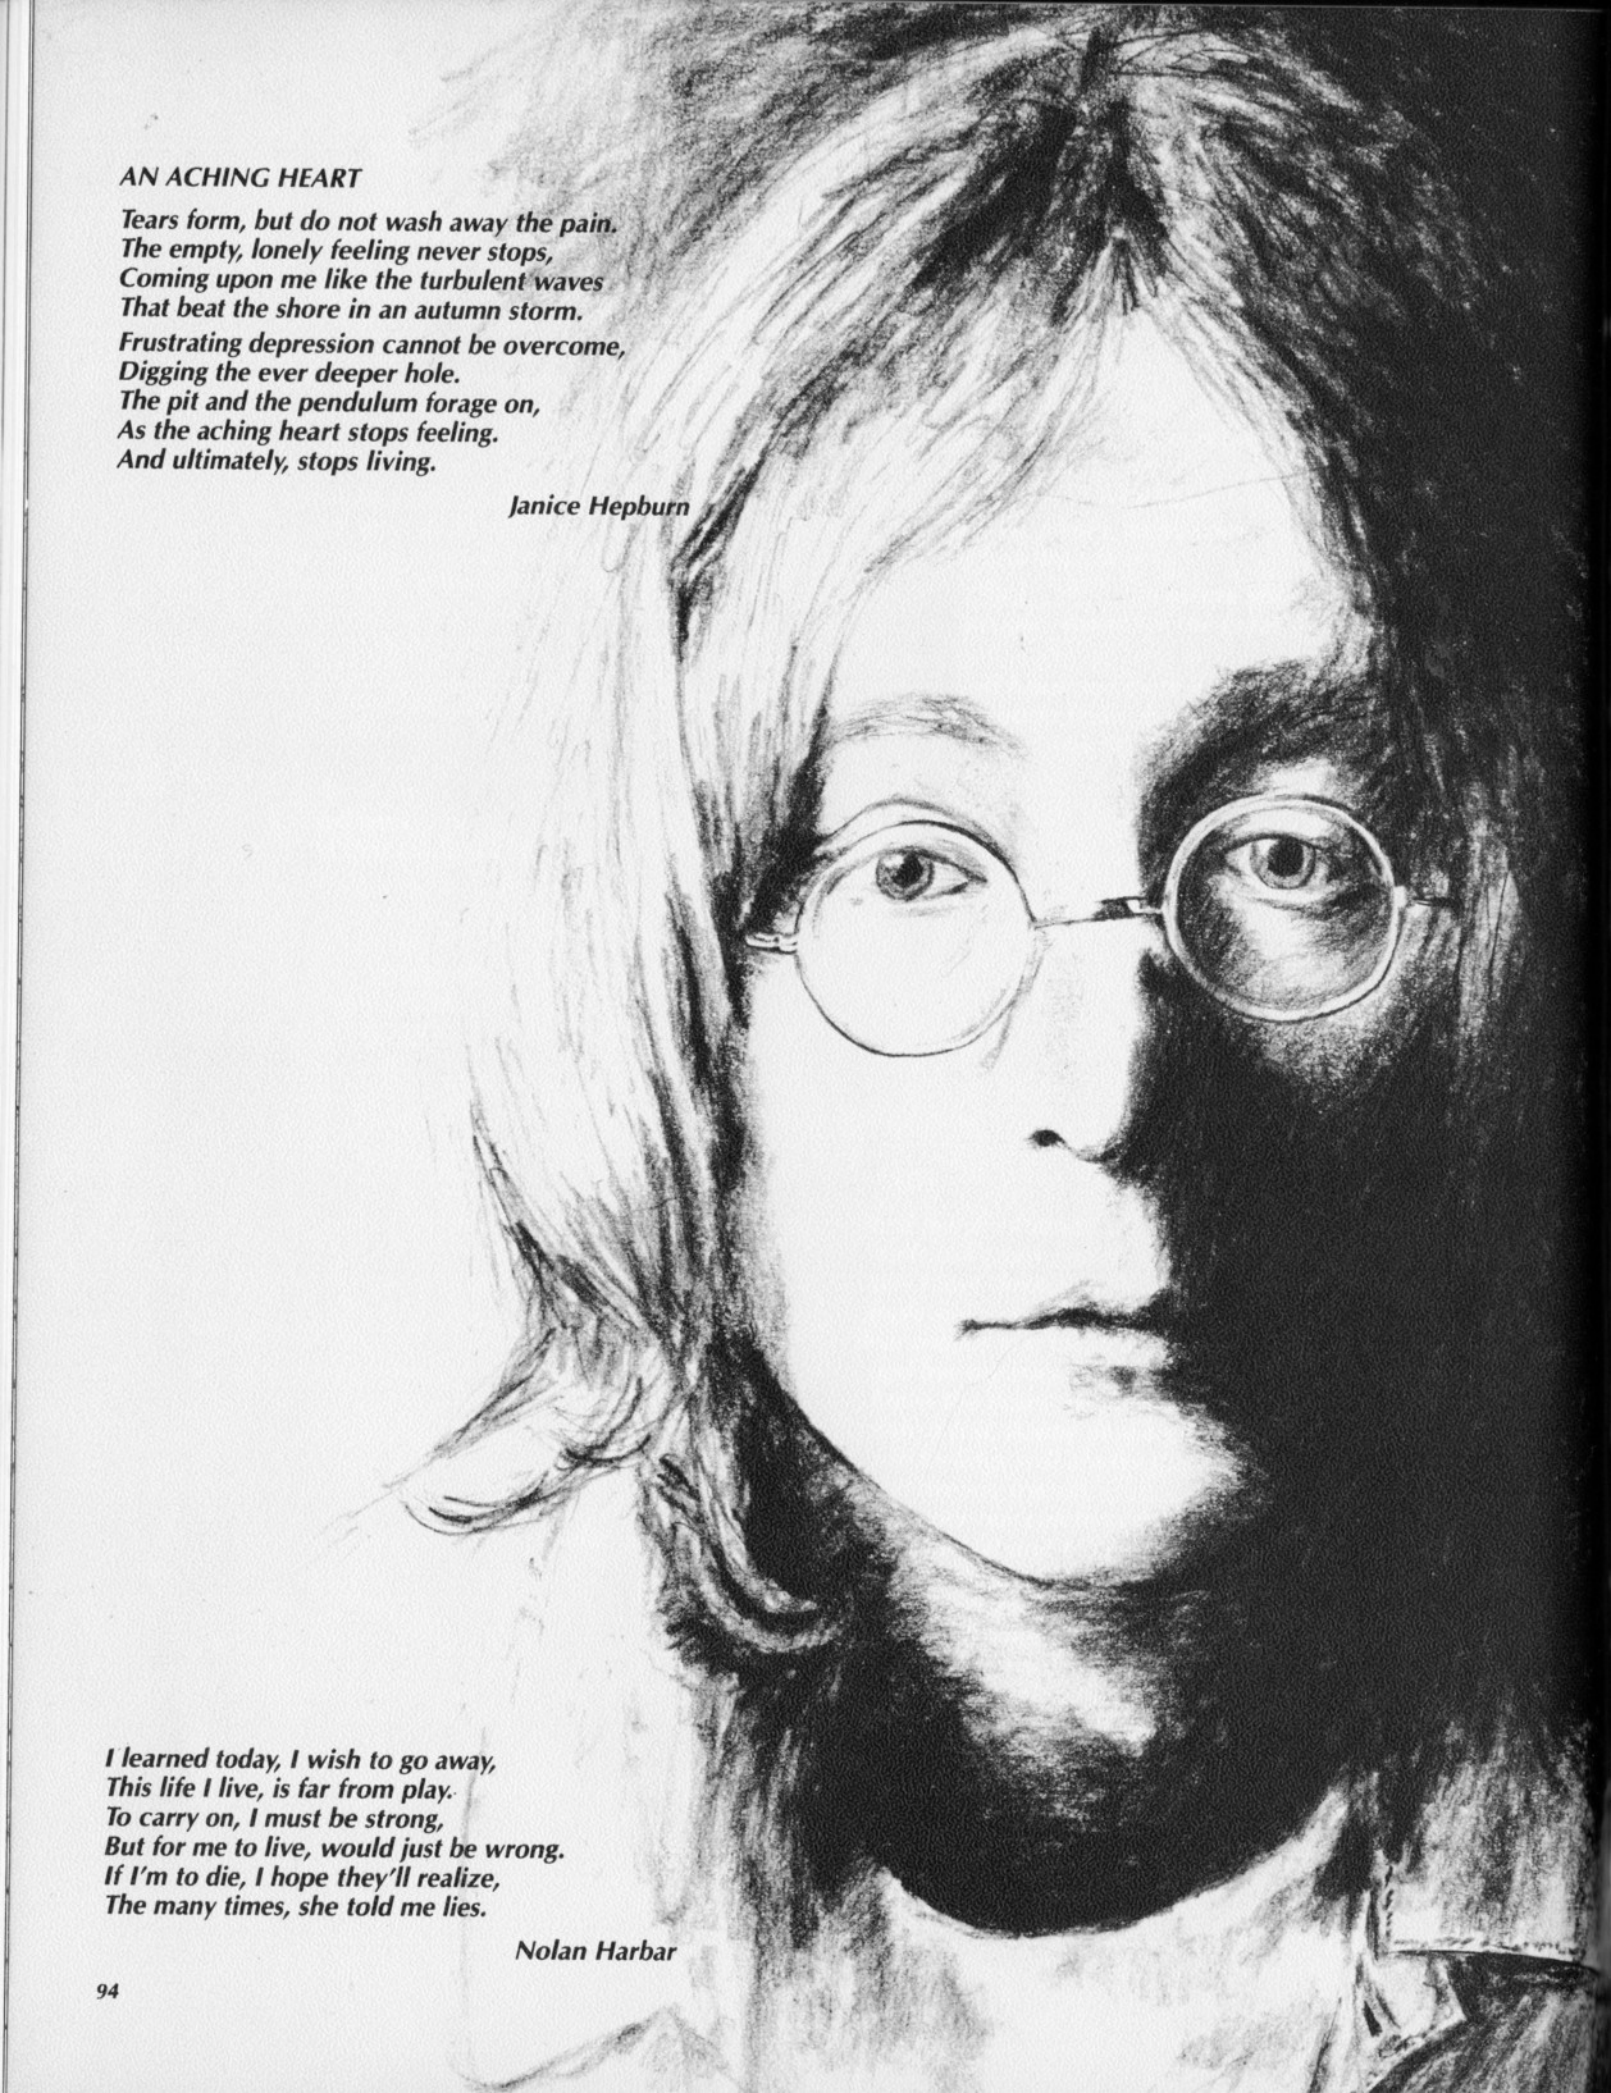
Louise Thomson



DESIRE

It goes unnoticed for a time, but soon grows into a burning urge, a seemingly never ending feeling of need.
So much would be sacrificed for just a short time of fulfillment, but somehow it seems meaningless.
The passion grows with each and every passing moment, as though it would soon overtake your resistance.
But even as the moments become longer and the bodies closer, the tension grows stronger, a certain uneasiness prevents contact.
But only when that final layer of ice is broken will the void be filled, leading only to an understanding known only between the two, freeing them from the taunts of the outside world.
Then and only then will they find total fulfillment.

Holly Lyons



AN ACHING HEART

Tears form, but do not wash away the pain.
The empty, lonely feeling never stops,
Coming upon me like the turbulent waves
That beat the shore in an autumn storm.
Frustrating depression cannot be overcome,
Digging the ever deeper hole.
The pit and the pendulum forage on,
As the aching heart stops feeling.
And ultimately, stops living.

Janice Hepburn

I learned today, I wish to go away,
This life I live, is far from play.
To carry on, I must be strong,
But for me to live, would just be wrong.
If I'm to die, I hope they'll realize,
The many times, she told me lies.

Nolan Harbar

DUST TO DUST

Dust settles upon the memories of an old man obscuring the present, focusing only upon the amorphous lines of ghosts.
hearing only the last refrains of muted lullabies.

Dust settles upon the clock on the wall,
where time has stopped,
hiding warily behind pale shadows of the past,
ticking away like the soundless heartbeat of a corpse.

Dust settles upon the pages of a book,
distorting the words,
weaving whimsical tales of better days,
burying the tainted truths under a tombstone marked with lies.

Dust settles upon the ancient faces, who recall so very well,
a younger world that they had cherished;
that glittering Utopia that they keep hidden behind toothless smiles.

Dust settles upon the tattered dreams, that lie flaccidly among the ruins, desperate to touch a human heart and still prophesying the anachronistic births of a million Messiahs.

Dust settles upon the tired earth,
concealing her age,
under a cracked, flawed mask constructed by Man, and she waits silently for the day when the dust will fall no more.

LIKE PUPPETS

Like puppets dangling limp on strings,
We mope. Going through the motions of life.
In the distance a churchbell rings
In the foreground only war and strife.

Like puppets we masquerade our true selves
Exterior beings strong and cold.
In the distance we hide our feelings on shelves.
In the foreground we are forceful and bold.

Like puppets our lives are manipulated,
Moving, performing against our will
In the distance a command is stipulated
In the foreground we obey and kill.

Like puppets with old broken strings,
We crumple to the ground.
In the distance a dying voice sings
In the foreground a dead puppet-man is found . . . .

Vic High clinches playoff

By Max Low

Sounds close, but it wasn't really.

Spurred on by about 1,000 rowdy fans at Centennial Stadium, Victoria High Tyees downed Spectrum 5-3 Saturday to win the Colonist Cup and add the playoff title to the Greater Victoria High School Soccer League crown the team won earlier.

Although the result was only a two-goal margin, the excitement generated in the only other Spectrum-Vic High meeting this season — a 1-1 tie — just wasn't there after the first 30 minutes.

That opening half-hour produced some even, if tentative, soccer with both teams getting — and missing — a couple of scoring opportunities.

And then came that incredible seven-minute burst that brought three Vic High goals. It was a sharp, sudden onslaught from which Spectrum never fully recovered.

It all started right on the 30-minute mark when striker Ian McDougal's shot was punched clear by Spectrum goalkeeper Mike Ramsay. McDougal got to the loose ball but as he was about to pass to Dallas Moen, a defender took Moen's feet from under him. Moen made no mistake with the penalty kick to score the first of his three goals.

Four minutes later, Randy Bell — who with Paul Askew and Adam Keith caused Spectrum a lot of problems and were the defensive stars of the game — made an electrifying 45-yard run up the wing and centred the ball beautifully for McDougal to head past Ramsay into the net.

And at the 37-minute mark, Moen broke through and scored on a long pass by Keith to make it 3-0 at half time.

Still reeling from those three quick goals, Spectrum made a few misjudgments on defence and 10 minutes into the second half Moen nipped through, collected a pass from right-winger Clark Austin and rammed it into the net for his third tally. At 75 minutes the pair reversed this with Moen setting up Austin for a goal.

With only 15 minutes left in the game, Vic High led 5-0 and it certainly looked all over for Spectrum.

But the loser didn't give up and within a minute of the fifth Vic High goal, Derick Gelaude put a nice pass through for Ray Hamilton to score Spectrum's first.

For the remaining time, Vic High coaches Dave Unwin and Peter Denby made a few substitutions, including bringing off goalkeeper Steve Dietrich who had looked very safe, and Spectrum finished with a bang, scoring two late goals and making the playoff final seem a relatively close affair.

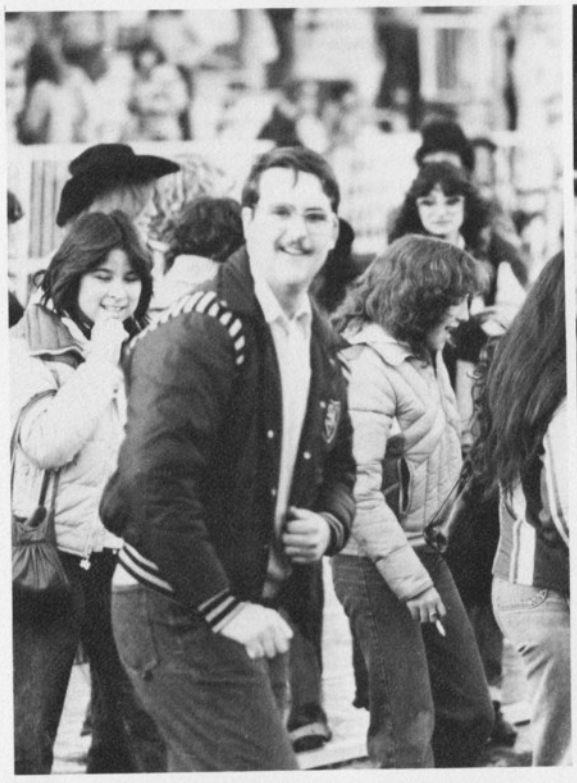
Hamilton got one on a penalty shot and then Bill Bedwell headed in a classic goal on a cross from winger Roddy Pratt.

But it wasn't close at all and the Spectrum players left the field knowing where they lost the game — in that crucial seven-minute span in the first half.

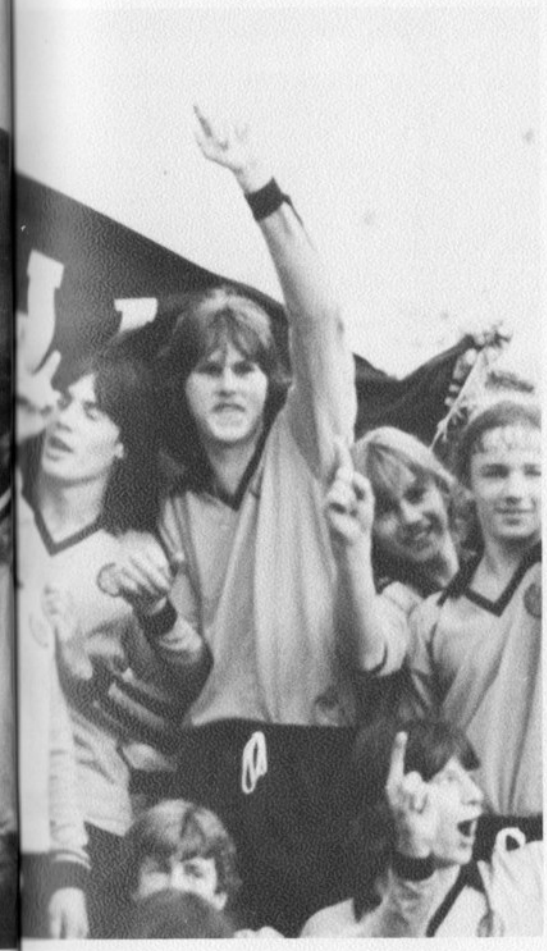
"We beat them in the second half," Spectrum coach Jim McConnan said with a smile as he left the field, ". . . but we just couldn't beat them in the first half."

One consolation for Spectrum, forced to finish second in both the league and playoffs, is that the school still earns a berth, along with Vic High, in the B.C. high school soccer championships in Vancouver Nov. 20-22.

Reigning TYEES win again.



Spectators making spectacles of themselves.



Remembering all the good times, quiet and loud.

I've never seen so much school spirit in my life. The crowd just comes alive and never dies. They certainly must play an important part in the success of the Tyees. The team once again won the Colonist Cup, and went on to the Finals, where they were, unfortunately, defeated.

Fancy footwork.

Statue of Victory.

Another one bites the dust.

Tyees soccer does it again!

The Tyee's had an excellent season. They won the League Championships with a record of 19 wins and 1 tie. Way to go guys! They played an excellent game which resulted in the winning of the Colonist Cup! Vic High was really on the ball, but aren't we always!? Tyees placed 5th in the B.C. Tournament Finals. They lost one game to a Vancouver team which knocked them out of the B.C. Championships.

We would like to congratulate the Tyees for a spectacular performance during their soccer season.

They are as follows:

Front Row: (L-R) Rick Roodbol, Todd Holt, Jonah Hart, Adam Keith, Ian Klitsie, Albert Pascuzzi, Clark Austin, Warren Gillis.

We won.

Up, up and away.

Getting all TUCKERED out.

Takes two to tango.

Tyees race for the title.

Vic High Cross Country

These 'hot to trot' runners of our Cross Country team, ran very well this year. They placed seventh in the City League. The girls team placed third in the Islands, where the boys placed second. These high placements qualified both the girls and boys teams to the B.C. Championships. In this competition the boys team completed tenth in the province. The girls did very well and finished fifth. Way to go team!!

We would like to congratulate the Cross Country team for a season well run. The team would like to thank Mr. Newell for his fine coaching.

Missing: Sue Miles
John Campbell
Mike Cavin
Dan Salmon.

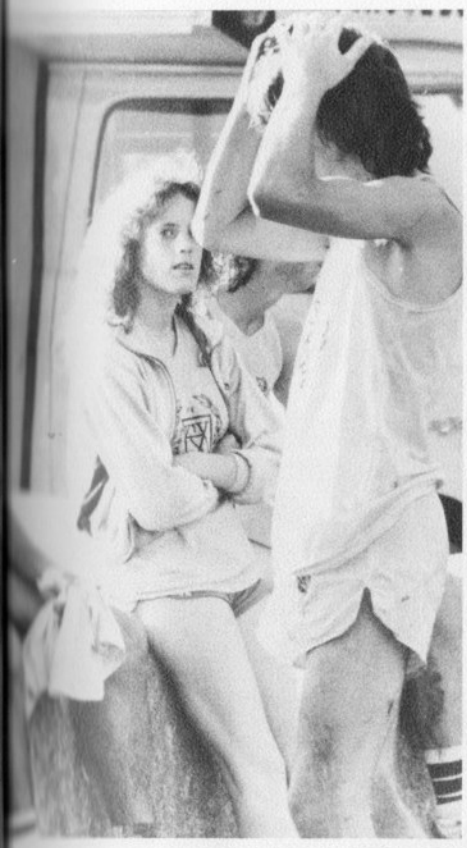
The Lone Runner.

Floorhockey



"I love a man that sweats."

"We'll learn this dance routine yet."

The floorhockey team was new to Vic High this year. After a late start, they caught on quite well. A number of students met on Tuesday's after school to slash each other with their sticks! Hopefully next year the team will be bigger and a little earlier in starting. The team would like to thank Mr. Hutcheson for being the sponsor and referee.

Team member's are as follows:

Tikis Second in City League

The Tikis bumped their way to an outstanding second in the City League and then volleyed their way to a fourth place tie in the Island Finals. These athletes went undefeated in the Dunsmuir Tournament. They proved their best when they beat the League champs Mt. Doug, by one game! The team would like to extend their special thanks to Mrs. Egan, for her time and excellent coaching.

Touch Volleyball.

Tsasquatches Third in City League

The Tsasquatches were Vic High's Boys' Volleyball team. They were a bunch of super jocks, winning 11 games and losing 6.

(super!) They placed a respectable third in the City League. Travelling to Nanaimo for the Island playoffs, they placed a satisfying fourth. But that's not all they did when they were in Nanaimo — they tried to tip Mr. Blasner's van over for one thing. They also ripped down volleyball nets and broke flourescent lights. (accidentally of course) All in all the Tsasquatches had a rewarding year where sportmanship and fun were their main goals. The team would like to thank Mr. Blasner for his time and fine coaching.

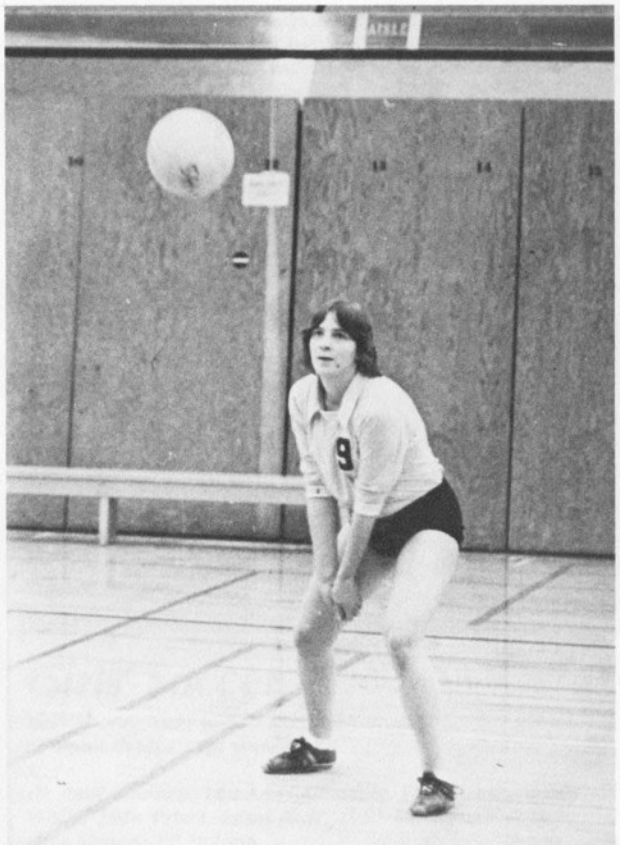
Two arms are better than one.



Just a BUMP on a log.

Vic High Rugby

At the time of printing Vic High's Rugby Team was still playing. At that time they had won three games out of seven. Good luck guys! The team would like to thank Mr. Briggs and "Mother" for their time, effort, and fine coaching.

Members are as follows:
Back Row: (L-R) Mr. Briggs (coach), Jim Reid (manager), Terry Siklenka (asst. coach), Shawn Dheensaw, Andy Hughes, Dick deGoede, Mohammed Elewonibi, Mike Bendall, Jerry Dardengo, Don Cole, John Hanson, Cal Olsson, Mother Hubbard (asst. coach). Front Row: (L-R) Tom Raptis, Jim Burck, Cliff Langerak, Nandlall Gurprasad, Wayne Christiaens, George McGregor, Lyle Nesbitt (captain), Sean Ritchie, Ross Smith, Dave Pollock. Missing: Curtis Hrappstead, Greg Blundell.

$1.49 day at Sears?

Electrifying.

Girls' Soccer

At the time of printing the girl's soccer team was in the midst of their League games. Therefore we can't really say much about them except good luck!

Team members are as follows:

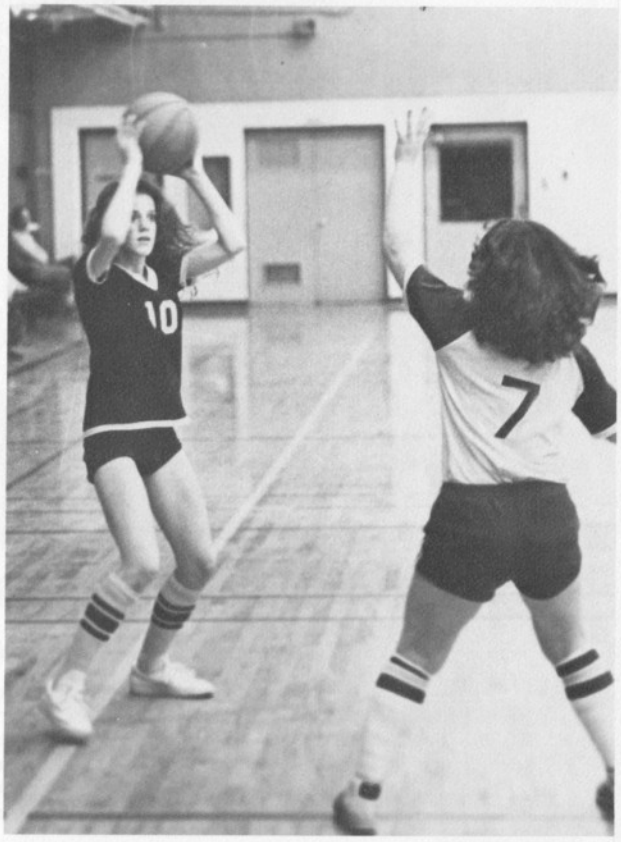
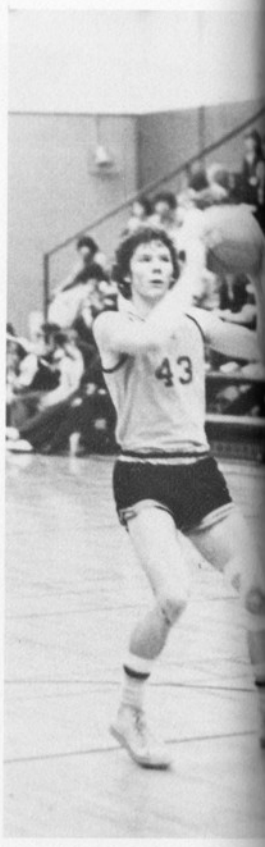
Tigers, Third in City League

This rough n' tough, go get'em team was the smallest in the League with only seven players. The team showed their determination and persistence by placing third in the City League and retained a 5-5 record. In tournament play they captured first's in the Spectrum Tournament, and Reynolds Tournament. Congratulations to Roberta Bennett, Sylvia Butler, and Sue Miles for winning All-Star trophies. They wound up their season with a trip to the Island Finals in which they placed sixth and Andrea Skinner was named to the second All-Star team. The team would like to thank Miss Hanslip for her time and terrific coaching.

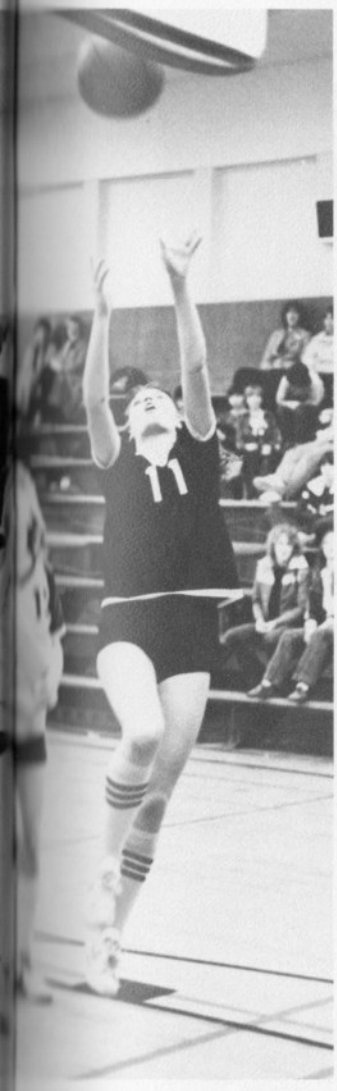
Back Row: (L-R) Jessie McDougall (manager), Cindy White, Sue Miles, Roberta Bennett, Carolyn Taylor, Andrea Skinner, Miss Hanslip. Front Row: (L-R) Sylvia Butler, Jill Hobson.





"Think fast!"

Totems, Third in Island Finals



Hop, skip and a jump.

The Totems had a slow start but made a great come back, with an overall score of 21 wins and 12 losses. They had a very impressive tournament record and placed third in the Island Finals but unfortunately in attempting to qualify for the B.C. Championships they were defeated by Argyle Highlanders. They did however put up a great fight!

Congratulations to first year players: Jason Leung, Tony Tucker, Carl Gregoire, Jay Gould, Milojko Mustafovic.

We would also like to congratulate our senior players for another fine season. They are as follows: Ryan Campbell (captain and League All-Star scoring leader), Kerry Coates (playoff scoring leader), Ray Greenwood ("Mr. Hustle"), Mike Cavin (Most Inspirational), Paul Russell (Totem All-Star).

The team would like to thank Mr. Valdal for his time and effort in coaching.

"Where did it go?"

Badminton

The Badminton Club experienced a very successful season, beginning in October with some thirty active members. Of these ten members, five boys and five girls represented the school as the Vic High Thunderbirds "A" team, and an additional five boys joined with five girls from St. Margarets-Vic High Thunderbirds "B" team. The "A" team had a most successful season, losing only one league match to Mt. Doug. In the semi-finals of the playoffs to decide Victoria's representation at the B.C. High Schools' Badminton Championships, held at Centennial Secondary, Coquitlam, B.C., on March 20, 21, 1981, the Thunderbirds "A" team downed St. Michael's University School, which placed third in league play, 13-9, and Mt. Doug ousted Lambrick Park 19-3. In the finals, the Thunderbirds team played with considerable determination and skill to defeat Mt. Doug 14-8. They ranked sixth out of eleven teams competing in the B.C.'s. "A" Team boys were: Trevor Strandlund, Greg Reynolds, Jason Leung, Ray Greenwood, Joe Sanka, and Al Lalani. "A" Team girls were: Gina Henley, Jill Hobson, Maureen Wong, Joy Cumberbatch, Sally Wong, Paula Chan, and Wendy Chow.

Club members who made a significant contribution at the "B" level were: Diane Kohl, Shirley Mew, Karen Pheiffer, Angela Chin, Jane Liu, Geoff Neilson, Queintin Tang, Everett Hudlin, Jeff Haisell, Tim Côté, George Moniz, John Visy, James Leckenby and Dave Randhawa.

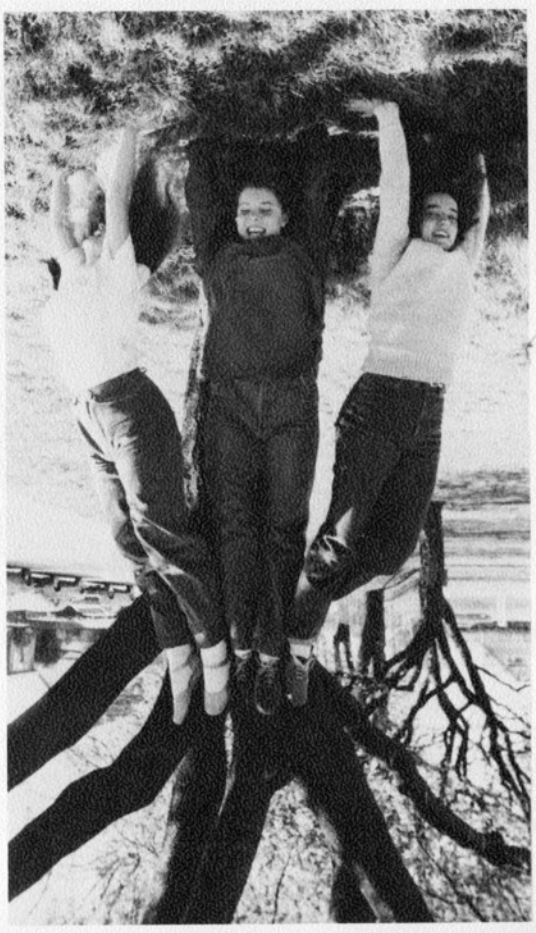
Noon Hour Basketball

This activity was formed for those who wanted to play basketball for fun. Games were played in Inter-murals for non-team players. The Totems school team refereed and kept score at the games. There were four teams involved in the noon hour basketball. One of these was the teachers team, who won the championships.

The teachers team consisted of: Mr. Briggs, Mr. Newell, Mr. Brice, Mr. Valdal, Mr. Denby, Mr. Lowther. Other members were: Peter Bourne, Jay Gould, Silas Coon, Ian Klitsie, Steve Gill, Mike O'Brien, Karl Gregoie, Mike Terbasket, Dick DeGoede, Balraj Pallan, Mike Cavin, Randy Bell, Ray Greenwood, Adam Keith, Ted Irvine, Albert Pascuzzi, Damon Jones, Larry Richards, Rick Roodbol, Dave Marshall, Peter Price, Mike Lee and Milojko Mustafovic.

Teachers versus Students.



Gymnastics

This activity started in February. Practises took place on Fridays after school. The active members were small in number but very enthusiastic. Some members worked with people from Central on Mondays and Wednesdays. Terry Mack and Gina Henley took part in the Victoria Senior Girls Gymnastics Meet, hosted by Parkland Secondary and held at Lambrick on March 6. Gina and Terry both placed first in competitions. Members were: Terry Mack, Gwynne Roseborough, Albert Pascuzzi, and Gina Henley.

"HELP! I'm falling."

Outdoor's Club

The Outdoor's Club was involved in many aspects of outdoor skills. Canoeing, camping, orienteering, and cave exploring were but a few. Trips were planned every second month and several activities took place including canoe practice and canoe rescue. Club meetings were held every Tuesday at lunch hour. This year's trips were to Horn Lake, Long Beach, Nitinat, and Fairey Lake. Thanks to good planning and fine weather this year was a great success. Picture below: David Kennedy, Mike Bendall, Dale Drover, Greg Tannock, Stuart Arnold, Mrs. O'Reilly, Miss Guilmette, Mr. Neale, Connie King, Gail Mecredy, Ellen Mahan, Mr. Sedgwick, Pam LaVigne, Amelita Mandap, John Hanson, Mr. Somers.

Roughing it.

Tahsies Swim Team

This year's team, though small in number, swam in the Greater Victoria High School Championships, the Island Zone Eliminations, the Victoria Invitational Novice Championships, and the B.C. High School Swim Championships which were held this year at the Crystal Pool. The outstanding swimmers were the Boys "A" Team, consisting of Wayne Kelly, Bill Winrum, Raynor Peterson, and Ewan Macaulay, who between them won fifteen events.

Bowling Club

There were more than than forty members in the Inter School Bowling league, and the Vic High contingent was the largest of any school. The league bowled every Monday from 4 to 6 p.m. from October to May. Average and top scores were compiled and the season ended with a banquet and awards dinner in May. Most of the Vic High bowlers competed in the Dogwood and Policemans' Bowling Tournaments. These were held locally and featured bowlers from throughout the province. The bowlers from left to right are: Mr. McIntyre — sponsor, Russell Yan, Barry Chan, Mike Jacobs, Perry Cosgrove, Troy Hubin, Scott Teeple, Sherwin Lui.

The Sky (Special Kiwanis Youth) Club

As in previous years, a small but faithful band of Vic High students have worked for the shut-ins and handicapped. This year the group has visited the residents of Glengarry nursing home. They have been helped by the sponsors Mr. Owen and Mr. McHugh. At Hallowe'en, the members, with the help of others, brought some fun into the lives of the children of the Jubilee Hospital. The pictured members include Gina Henley, Terry Mack, Mrs. Clarke, and Vicki Kellett.

Body Builders

Christians Club

Throughout the year the Christians Club met to provide a meeting place for students who wished to meet and talk with others who shared the same faith. The club was an interdenominational one and all interested students were welcome to attend.

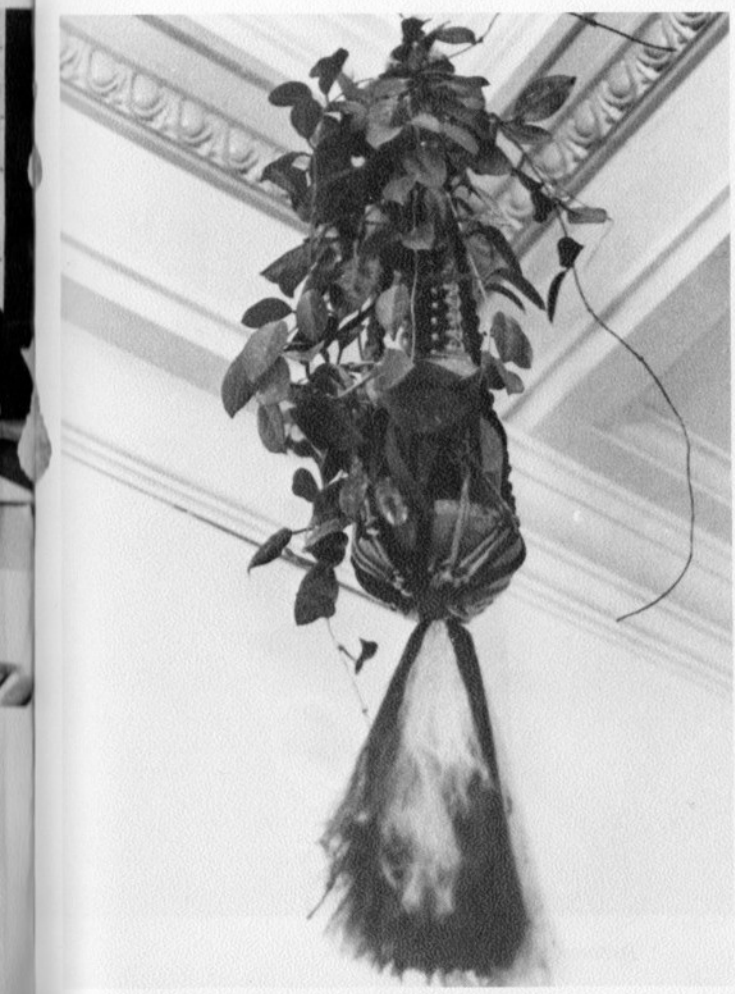
Mr. Kent and Mr. Ashwell sponsored the club, assisted by Mrs. Clarke. A great deal of assistance was given by Mr. Rob Stewart of the Interschool Christian Fellowship. This organization provided for communication and guidance between the many clubs at different schools within the Victoria district.

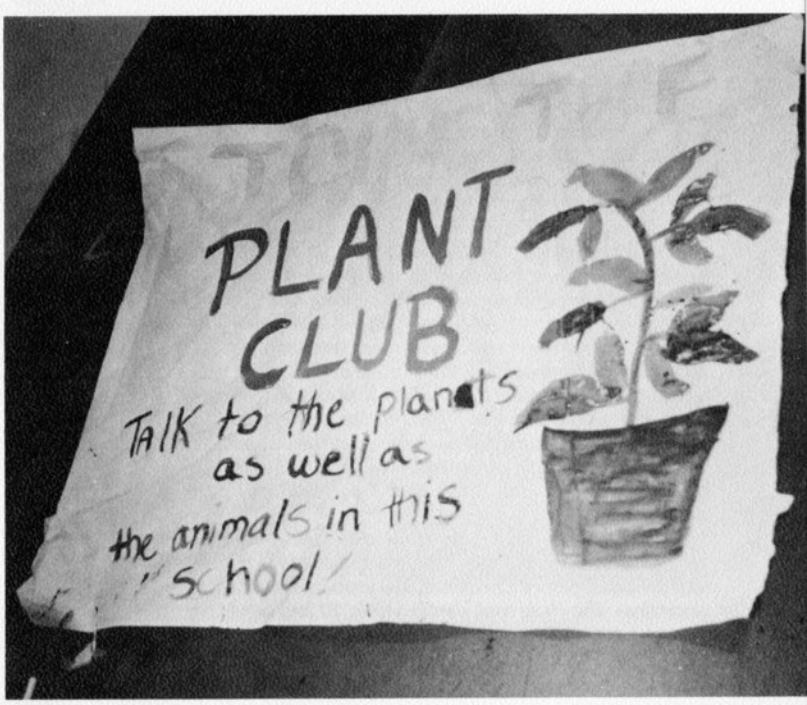
The clubs activities centered on discussion and Bible study. A district wide trip was planned on the Robertson II sailing vessel.

The purpose of Body Building was to help make the members fit and to stay in shape. There were quite a few bodies that showed up to weight lift, but not too many showed up for the picture.
From left to right are: Merry Ellen Howard, Mike Whitehorn, Karen Goldsmith, Paul Curtis, and Mike O'Brien.

French Club

The French Club spent quiet times sitting in room 305, soaking up French culture, looking at slides, and eating. The sponsor of this club was Miss Law.
Club members are: Sharlene Hughes, Lisa Mountain, Susan Mulholland, Suzanne Côté and Paola Perusi.





Plant Club

As part of improvements to the school, this club sponsored by Mr. Fell acquired and maintained several plants throughout the school. Most of the members were Cabinet Ministers; the most notable being Royce Kletke.

Band and Choir raise money, (for next year's trip)

All for one and one for all.

The Band this year has increased its members from thirty to fifty. Along with the increase in size there has been a great development in the musicality of the band and they have worked on a great deal of challenging literature. Concerts over the year included the Christmas concert, mid winter concert (in which elementary band students were involved) and went on a recruiting tour at the end of the year. Jeff Haisell represented the Vic High Band at U.B.C. in an all province band during the B.C. Music Educators Association Conference. Rob Basi, Paula Chan, Jeff Haisell, Carol Jones, and Shelley Smith represented Vic High in the Music 81 All Schools Band. The major undertaking for the music department worked with the Drama department on the Wizard of Oz.

The Chorus has fifty members this year and they were very fortunate in having Geof Jay as their accompianist. In addition to performing at the school concerts as a group, some members including Dorothy Macdonald, Teresa Moody, and Katarina Klapcic did fine solo work.

Some members of the choir and a small instrumental ensemble from the band entertained at four private hospitals before Christmas. The musicians had a great time. The choir took part in Music '81 and were part of a 200 voice group.

Forum — Vic High's Newspaper

The newspaper club met on Mondays. The group was more concerned with the experience of writing and publishing rather than being enslaved by publishing deadlines. This was all managed under the editorship of David Hume, who invented the concept of seasonal publications. The newspaper went on sale for 10 cents, four times a year. Members were: David Hume, David Braun, Sue Moslin, Darko Blazek, Mrs. Clarke, Jim Dow, Randy Smith, Elizabeth Syring, Arnold Chan, Heidi Lambeth, Lisa Thomlinson.

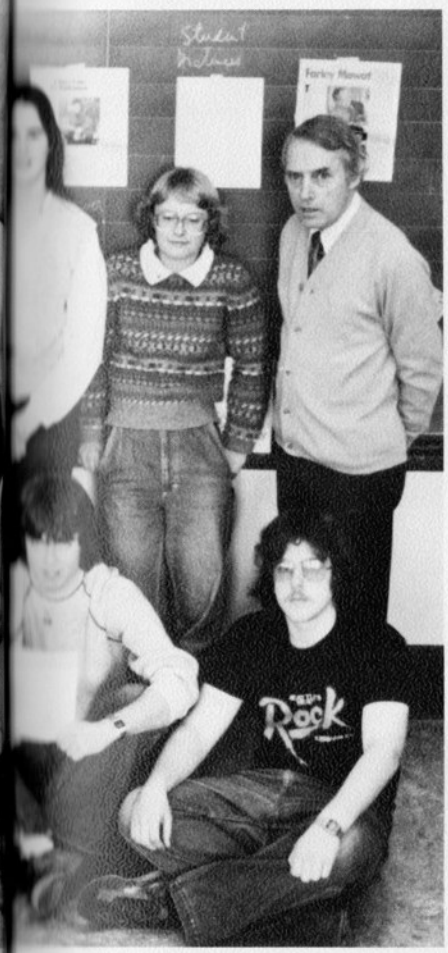
Vic High Media

Vic High Media, formally the A.V. Club, have changed from just using the audiovisual equipment to serve the teachers. They now tape school events using portable cameras with complex equipment. This club has turned out very well since being introduced for the first time. Congratulations!
The members were Ken Hovgaard (president), Norman White, Dale Drover, Jamie Leckenby, Glenn Hovgaard, Scott Rimquist, and Jonah Hart.

"Switch to Camera 2."

T-Jazz — Noon Hour Listeners

The T-Jazz club was an informal club for people to come and listen to music and enjoy each others company.
Members are: Robin Carlye, Suzanne Côté, Mr. Owen, Susan Mulholland. Back Row: Pam Merner, Mohammed Elewonibi, Elisabeth Mountain.



All Tempa-Cheer.

Nothing could stop them,
There were screams from that room,
Fourth floors headed for doom.
But in rain, sleet, or hail
Those six girls could wail.
And we won in the end,
(Though we deafened some friends.)
So adieu old Vic Hi,
Keep those girls jumping high,
We'll be back next year,
To see how you cheer.

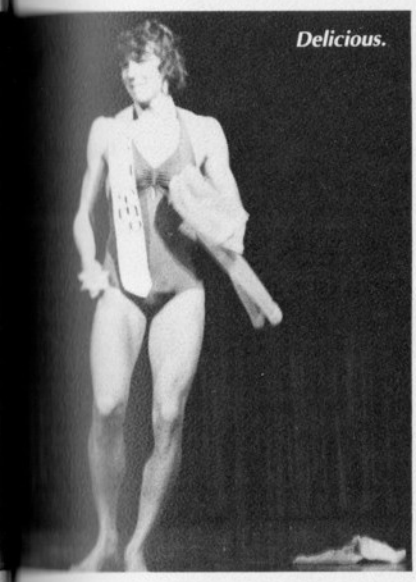
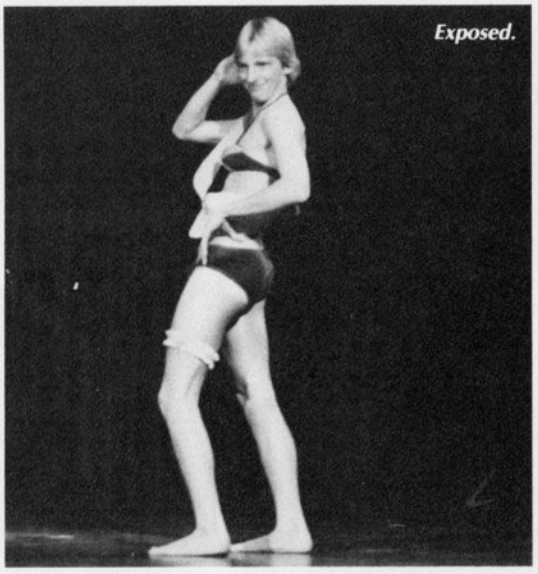
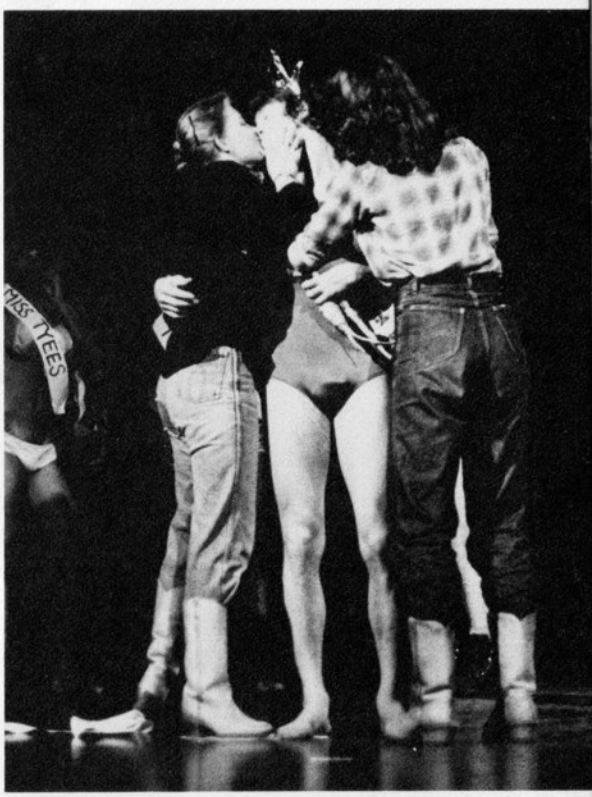
Another ordinary morning? Not when the Miss Camosun show is on. The Camosun players, made up of the 1981 Yearbook class, won back our yearbook, and seven bathing suit clad "beauties" strutted their "stuff" in front of an astonished audience.







The winner takes it all.

Cast members for "The Camosun Cowboy" were from the 1981 Yearbook class.
Miss Camosun contestants were: Mark Alexander, Brian Bissett, Ryan Campbell, Shawn Dheensaw, Donnie Marshall, Lyle Nesbitt, and James Reid, with Ryan being the victor.

The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man and the Moon Marigolds

"The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man and the Moon Marigolds" was presented to us by an all girl cast. Margo Noble, Laura Marwick, Lisette Henrich, Susie Major, and Faye McArdle did an excellent job of recreating the T.V. movie. The girls' performances blended together extremely well and made this play one of the best of the year. Even though there were no male cast members, the guys kept themselves busy by working backstage. The drama department also put on other plays this year, one of which was "A Marriage Proposal," which was entered in competition.

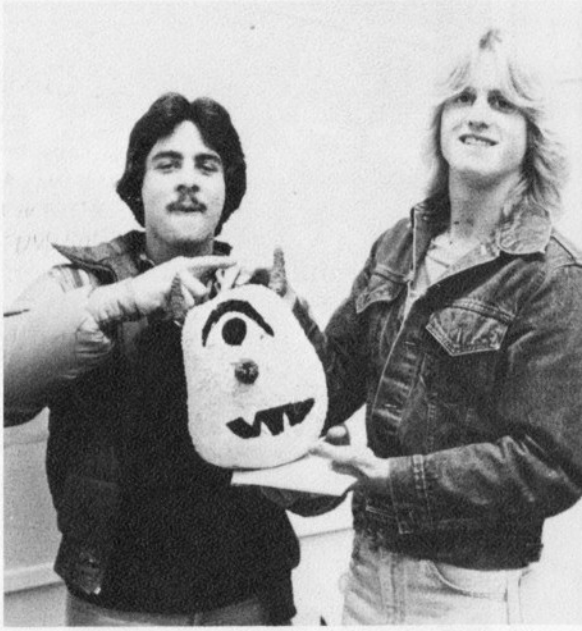
Vic High Student Body.



Whatta HEAD!

IN SPIRIT of the Christmas season of giving, Vic High school students have organized several fund-raising efforts, including a nickel drive, concerts and a lottery for a gingerbread house. Proceeds were used to buy 22 food hampers worth $50 each for worthy senior citizens in the Fernwood area. Sorting goodies for distribution Monday are (rear, from left) Susan Cote, teacher Merla Law, and Arnold Chan; front, Sharlene Hughes and Sue Moslin.

It's not nice to point.

"Boxing anyone?"

Christmas is a time for fun, music, and giving. This year our school arranged 50 hampers for the needy. We had a spirited assembly with a skit put on by Parliament, and everyone sang carols.

Who says talent is scarce? From our student body came singers, dancers and musicians. Along with John Herbert as the Master of Ceremonies, the participants in the show were Teresa Moody, Colin Heath, Laura Marwick, Dorothy Macdonald, Karen Goldsmith, Julian May, and Paul Goodman. Other assemblies brought us the University of Portland Band and Choir who put on a great show. More than enough happened on the 1980-81 stage. We had a leg auction (it was mooned!), and a May Queen competition with Lorraine Comeau emerging victorious.

Editors' message

During the past school year we have endured the faults and mishaps of last year's renovations. With the many false alarms and excessive doors the strength of the student body has shown tremendous patience and school spirit. We have tried to capture the good as well as the bad moments and also give justice to the Vic High yearbook reputation. We hope we have been successful by showing the many angles of this Vic High school year.

We would like to extend our appreciation to our fellow Camosun staff as well as the Photography Club for their tremendous output. A special thank you goes to Mr. Chan for the amount of time and effort he put in supervising this class.

We hope you'll enjoy this book.

P.S. Throughout this book you may find a few mistakes. Since people are always looking for faults, we left a few for you to find.

As time slips by, take but a moment to reminisce about the things that made the minutes slip into hours, and hours into days.

Each year has been fun, and filled with good and bad times, with old friends, new friends, and new experiences. Reflections of the past have always brought back fond memories, which will be cherished always. I have been through a lot here at Vic High, and have seen things I have liked and things I didn't like. But even as I look back on all the things I have done and seen, I can't help thinking how much I will miss all my friends. I hope I can still keep in touch with them in the future.

FOWL Play?

As the year draws to a close, we look back on all the fun times which were had. I will never forget my years here at Vic High, with all my friends, classmates, and teachers. The time spent here has certainly been filled with a great variety of good and bad times, with renovations, fire alarms, and the like. But even though things seemed to be going wrong all the time, there was always something good to take away from the bad. The same thing goes for leaving here. In some ways I look forward to leaving, but in others I don't want to let go of this part of my life.

Another false alarm.

"Will you marry me?"

"Wait 'til the honeymoon!"
